140-Ton Saturn Soars Spaceward After Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—America's Saturn 5 super-rocket scored a resounding success on its maiden test flight today, orbiting a record 140-ton space vehicle and shooting the unmanned Apollo 4 moonship deep into space.

The historic flight gave this nation's man-in-space program a much-needed shot in the arm and revived hopes that U.S. astronauts can still land on the moon in this decade.

With a thundering burst of power, the most powerful rocket ever assembled blasted away from its launch pad at exactly 7 a. m., EST today after a perfect countdown—something that few people believed possible for such a complex machine.

The three stages of the monster Saturn 5 ignited with drill-like precision during an 11-minute boost phase and shoved the massive payload, including the still-attached third stage, into orbit 115 miles high.

Three hours later, after two orbits of the globe, the hydrogen-powered third stage re-started its engine on ground command and propelled the 64,000-pound Apollo 4 vehicle outward toward a high point of 114,000 miles.

The reignition of the third stage gave flight controllers an anxious moment. A vent valve refused to respond to commands to close, until the last moment when it finally closed.

The spacecraft separated from the stage and a motor on board fired for 15 seconds to provide final power to reach the planned altitude. Had it burned a few seconds longer, Apollo 4 could have gone to the moon, but that was not planned for today's flight because of the need to test the heat shield on re-entry.

After reaching the 114,000-mile altitude, the spacecraft was to plunge back through the atmosphere at nearly 25,000 miles an hour—the speed at which astronauts will return from the moon. The fiery dive would determine how well the heat shield survives re-entry temperatures expected to reach 4,500 degrees.

Apollo 4 was to parachute to a landing in a rough Pacific Ocean, 622 miles northwest of Hawaii, at 3:41 p. m.

Of today's rocket, only the Apollo spacecraft was to come home to earth. The mammoth first stage fell apart, plunging into the Atlantic, although a chunk eight feet long was sighted in the sea. The second and third stages and the Apollo service module were consigned to destruction in fiery re-entries.

"It's been a flight almost incredibly free of any problems," commented a spokesman at NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., where the mission was being controlled.

An hour after the world's most powerful rocket blazed away from Cape Kennedy, the Apollo program manager, Air Force Maj. Gen. Samuel Phillips told newsmen:

"This mission will do a lot to get the whole Apollo team moving again on a positive course.

It will do a lot for the progress in coming months of the Apollo program.

"Yesterday," Phillips said, "I would have said that I think we have a reasonably good chance of accomplishing a manned lunar landing by the end of 1969. Today, I think that reasonably good chance is maybe a notch above reasonably good."

The Apollo moon program has been lagging since three astronauts died in a spacecraft fire last January, on a pad not far from where the Saturn 5 started its historic flight.

It Was the First Snow of Season—Great to Some, But Others Moan

By JEAN F. DOLAN

While skiers and little boys with sleds rejoiced in Ulster County's first snowfall of the season this morning, sanding crews and motorists bemoaned the weather change.

A number of minor accidents were reported throughout the mid-Hudson area, as light snow melted in the city where snow melted as it hit sidewalks and streets.

In the county, however, both state and county highway crews were a work sanding critical areas. State trucks were called out about 9:15 a. m. In the mountain sections, sanders getting in practice sessions for the winter season, tractionizing slick roadways so school buses and commuter traffic could get going.

3 Inches in Denning

Town of Denning Supervisor Harold Van Aken reported a three-inch accumulation of snow on Red Hill at 11 a. m. and said snow was still falling. Raymond J. Dunn, Phoenicia, said the ground was covered in that area early this morning and roads were slippery.

The New York State Thruway sanders were out early clearing the superhighway. Mid-morning reports of Thruway conditions indicated clear and dry conditions to New Paltz with snow and ice from here to Geneva where rain took over to the Pennsylvania border.

Claim Reds Suffer 'Severe Setback'

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen battled back today against new attacks from tough North Vietnamese regulars entrenched in the central highlands near Dak To. Gen. William C. Westmoreland said seven days of fighting in the area near Dak To has resulted in a "severe setback" for the Communists.

209 Communists Dead

Initial field reports said American soldiers killed three more Communist troops in a two and a half hour skirmish today, while one more U.S. soldier was killed. This raised total casualties for the week in the area to 209 Communists and 45 Americans killed and 130 Americans wounded, the U.S. Command said.

Westmoreland flew to Dak To for a first-hand survey and on his return told newsmen in Saigon: "I believe the Communist forces have suffered a severe setback in their plans for operating in the Dak To area. The recent contact is a North Vietnamese attempt to recoup valuable propaganda lost during the recent Republic of Vietnam elections and National Day."

Other officers believed the upsurge of activity and the determined Communist resistance in the central highlands could be the prelude to a new Communist offensive there now that the monsoons have moved north.

The air war against North Vietnam cost the United States three Air Force planes and two F4 Phantom fighters Wednesday, the U.S. Command announced, including an F4 Phantom downed by a Communist MIG21's air-to-air missile in a dogfight west of Hanoi.

This brought total losses in the North Tuesday and Wednesday to five planes and five fighters and raised to 732 the total number of American combat planes officially reported lost in the northern aerial war.

The U.S. Command reported an increase in U.S. and enemy troops killed in Vietnam last week while South Vietnamese casualties were less than the week before. It said 178 Americans were killed and 793 wounded in the seven day period ending Saturday, while 1,894 enemy were killed.

South Vietnamese casualties last week were 160 killed, 533 wounded and 60 missing, the government said. The week before 166 Americans, 1,628 enemy and 220 South Vietnamese were reported killed.

Repel 3-Prong Attack

In fighting Wednesday night near Dak To, two companies from the U.S. 4th Infantry Division stood off a three-pronged ground, mortar and rocket attack and drove the Communists off with the aid of a massive bombardment by artillery, tactical fighter-bombers and giant B52s, headquarters reported.

Officers said they counted 102 North Vietnamese dead on the battlefield, while American casualties were six dead and 15 wounded.

"There are more North Vietnamese bodies in the area," a spokesman said, "but we had to stop our sweep because of the new attack."

The Communists opened up again with mortar and small arms fire on U.S. troops who pushed forward today from night defensive positions while the big B52s attacked to the west to block the enemy's escape routes.

American intelligence reports indicate that as many as five or six North Vietnamese regiments are strung out in the region, possibly poised for a new attempt to drive across the center of South Vietnam. U.S. infantrymen have been sweeping the area to break up any developing offensive now that the monsoon rains have moved north.

Less than 100 miles south of Dak To, the North Vietnamese mortared an artillery support base and command post of another 4th Division unit, killing one American and wounding 11, 21 miles north of Ban Me Thuot. And 24 hours earlier Communist gunners mortared the Ban Me Thuot airfield, causing light damage to the aircraft on the field, the American command said.

Council Trying Anew

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council is making a new attempt to break the Middle East deadlock despite signs of hardening positions by both Israel and Egypt.

Officers said they counted 102 North Vietnamese dead on the battlefield, while American casualties were six dead and 15 wounded.

Egypt requested a meeting of the 15-nation council to deal with Israel's refusal to withdraw from territory it seized during the June war. A government spokesman told a news conference in Cairo there could be no move toward a settlement until Jewish forces pull back.

In New York, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told newsmen Egypt's demand that Israel withdraw without a peace treaty defining frontiers "is so irrational that it is amazing to find it proposed."

Eban said that, because of its provisions for withdrawal, an Indian resolution aimed at promoting a settlement was unacceptable. He criticized a rival U.S. draft, contending it did not give enough stress to Israel's insistence on direct negotiations with the Arab states.

The Israeli Foreign Minister also found fault with a Japanese working paper circulating among council members. He said that, like the Indian resolution, it prejudices Israel's position on withdrawal.

Eban concentrated his fire on the proposal submitted by India, Mali and Nigeria. He charged that it had been drawn up "in close consultation at every point" with Egypt, but without consultation with Israel.

Eban stressed that there must be no return to armistice boundaries that existed before the June war. He said they must be "superseded by an agreed and secure permanent frontier."

The U.S. draft seeks "withdrawal of armed forces from occupied territory" but does not spell out which armed forces nor specify that all seized Arab land should be evacuated.

Eban insisted anew that direct talks with the Arabs was the only road to peace.

"It is for the sovereign governments of the area and not anyone else to determine by negotiation the situation to succeed the cease-fire," he declared.

The Security Council on Wednesday discussed the invasion of the Congo by white mercenaries last week, and Jean Umba Di Lutete, Congolese vice minister of foreign affairs, asked the body to impose sanctions on Portugal, saying that the invading force came from Portuguese Angola.

Portugal's Francisco Bonifacio de Miranda replied: "We have never allowed bases in our territory nor consented that our territory be used in any way for attacks against the Congo."

White House Knew in Advance

Hershey Would Revoke College Deferments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft chief Lewis B. Hershey says the White House knew in advance of his order that local draft boards revoke deferments of college students who won't carry their draft cards or who interfere with campus military recruiting.

"The answer is easily 'yes,'"

Lt. Gen. Hershey told newsmen Wednesday when asked if he had conferred with the White House before issuing the order.

"It's hard not to confer with the White House," the Selective Service director added. Hershey is directly responsible to President Johnson and reports directly rather than through intermediaries.

Hershey said the Oct. 26 order, issued five days after a mass protest at the Pentagon, wouldn't apply to students peacefully protesting the draft or the Vietnam war but only to those who violate a law enacted earlier this year.

The law, spurred in Congress by demonstrations where draft cards were burned, provides maximum penalties of a five-year prison term and $10,000 fine for persons who illegally interfere with the draft law or regulations issued under it.

Hershey said regulations allow deferred registrants without their draft cards to be reclassified as available for service, with their names advanced to the top of the draft call list.

He ordered draft boards to heed the regulations, saying "those who violate the act should be denied deferment in the national interest."

Warning Sounded Against OEO Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights leaders say Congress will be inviting a national disaster if it does not continue the anti-poverty program with adequate funding.

The warning came as the House began consideration Wednesday of amendments to a bill that would authorize the Office of Economic Opportunity to carry on the program for two more years.

A group of religious leaders also endorsed the bill, calling for its passage on moral grounds.

With many members planning an early departure from the Capitol to attend Veterans Day ceremonies, no key votes are expected before next week.

A joint statement by the civil rights leaders said Congress made a commitment to help the poor when it passed the Economic Opportunity Act in 1964. "We give solemn warning now that to break the national promise of three years ago would be to invite national disaster," they said.

Among those signing the statement were A. Philip Randolph, Whitney Young Jr., Roy Wilkins and Clarence Mitchell, heads of individual organizations who have banded together.

Mones Top Vote-Getter Of City Legislators

Incomplete and unofficial results of the Tuesday election in voting for legislators in the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Districts which encompasses the City of Kingston, show the political setup with six Republicans and two Democrats.

The new Ulster County Legislature, which replaces the old Board of Supervisors system, will comprise 28 Republicans and five Democrats, according to the unofficial figures presently available.

Tallies 6,281

The city results show that Melvin Mones (R-Cons.) topped the city legislators with an unofficial vote of 6,281, with Democrat-Liberal William F. Edelmuth second with 6,016 votes.

Unofficial results for the other six legislators in the City of Kingston shows: Clarence Raehle (R) in third spot with 6,012 votes; Addison Jones (R) fourth with 5,929; Wendell Scherer (R) fifth with 5,909; John C. Sangaline (R-Cons.) sixth with 5,766; Orrie R. Riehl (D-L) seventh with 5,420.

Phinney Leads

Available incomplete results list 5,339 votes for Robert F. Phinney (R-Cons.) and 5,336 for Joseph J. Turck (R), a difference of three votes with some absentee ballots not reported, it was said.

Final official results of the election will not be available until the County Board of Elections meets for the canvass of the vote.

The Day After: Both Parties Claim Comfort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans both claim comfort in the outcome of Tuesday's off-year elections—balloting which provided answers but also posed new questions about the mood of the electorate one year before the contest for the White House.

Chief among the questions was the 1968 potency of the so-called white backlash vote, defeated by tiny margins—with the election of Negro mayors in Cleveland and in Gary, Ind.

Bailey's Comments

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said those victories for Negro Democrats, coupled with Boston's rejection of the controversial Louise Day Hicks, "put the so-called white backlash in its place."

That place did not appear an insignificant one—particularly with the approach of statewide elections in which big-city pluralities often are the decisive factor.

Another item for the political strategists: The potential impact next year of the war in Vietnam, San Francisco voters rejected a proposal urging a cease-fire and U.S. withdrawal and President Johnson's Democratic supporters called it evidence of growing support for his policy.

Republicans, on the other hand, raised the war issue in Kentucky and New Jersey and scored big victories.

Republican Sens. Thurston B. Morton and John Sherman Cooper said opposition to Johnson's stand contributed to the election of Louie B. Nunn as Kentucky's first GOP governor in two decades. New Jersey Republicans, who won control of the state legislature, said the same thing.

Cleveland's voter registration is Democratic by a 10 to 1 margin. Stokes got virtually all the Cleveland Negro vote and about 20 per cent of the white ballots.

Ray C. Bliss, Republican national chairman, boasted of sharp reductions in Democratic majorities in some big cities, noting that the last GOP nominee in Cleveland got only 17 per cent of the vote. But that party-line analysis ignored the racial factor.

Stokes could become a featured Democratic performer, particularly in Negro areas, during the 1968 election campaign. And Cleveland could be crucial in determining which party wins Ohio's electoral votes.

Victory Challenged

In Gary, Negro Richard G. Hatcher won by 1,389 votes, but his Republican rival, Joseph Radigan, challenged the victory with charges of voting irregularities.

Kevin H. White, Massachusetts secretary of state, was elected mayor of Boston by 102,551 votes to 90,122 for Mrs. Hicks in another close contest marked by racial dispute.

Mrs. Hicks stirred controversy with her total opposition to the transportation of Negro children to white neighborhood

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, in connection with his one-man investigation of the Farm Bureau, has leveled further charges of "wheeling and dealing."

According to the Ellenville Democrat, a 67-year-old woman from Nashville, Ohio, will have to sell her family home unless she is somehow able to recover her life savings of $5,000 which is tied up in stock of the Holmes County Farm Bureau.

Congressman Resnick, who estimates that he has received more than 35 letters containing similar complaints from Ohio alone, is presently checking this complaint in connection with his probe of the Farm Bureau.

He has also asked the Securities and Exchange Commission to investigate widespread "wheeling and dealing" in worthless stocks issued by Farm Bureau cooperatives in at least five mid-western states.

"In this instance, the Holmes County Farm Bureau Cooperative deliberately sold worthless stock to Miss Gladys Reed, and then turned its back. It has made it clear that it feels no responsibility toward her. And this is just one example of the abuses which are practiced by these Farm Bureau Cooperatives."

New York State Lottery's new way to win money.

It's

SUPERPRIZE

The Superprize drawing will be held in March 1968 as a bonus drawing.

Since the first Lottery drawing, 200 extra tickets have been drawn each month for every million tickets sold. This will continue through March. The names of these ticket holders have not been disclosed. From these tickets, and the tickets of the monthly consolation prize winners, the Superprize winners will be drawn.

Each ticket holder has a chance at a Superprize of $250,000. And a raft of $15,000 prizes, $7,500 prizes and $2,500 prizes. And depending on how many more tickets will be sold between now and March the number of prizes will go up.

So, the more tickets you buy the better your chances are of winning. Not only the monthly Lottery but the Superprize too. That's the really nice thing about the Lottery, there's always another chance to win.

Warning Sounded Against OEO Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights leaders say Congress will be inviting a national disaster if it does not continue the antipov- erty program with adequate funding.

The warning came as the House began consideration Wednesday of amendments to a bill that would authorize the Of- fice of Economic Opportunity to carry on the program for two more years.

A group of religious leaders also endorsed the bill, calling for its passage on moral grounds.

With many members planning an early departure from the Capitol to attend Veterans Day ceremonies, no key votes are expected before next week.

A joint statement by the civil rights leaders said Congress made a commitment to help the poor when it passed the Eco- nomic Opportunity Act in 1964. "We give solemn warning now that to break the national prom- ise of three years ago would be to invite national disaster," they said.

Among those signing the statement were A. Philip Ran- dolph, Whitney Young Jr., Roy Wilkins and Clarence Mitchell, heads of individual organiza- tions who have banded together.

Mones Top Vote-Getter Of City Legislators

Incomplete and unofficial re- sults of the Tuesday election in voting for legislators in the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Districts which encompasses the City of Kingston, show the political setup with six Republi- cans and two Democrats.

The new Ulster County Legislature, which replaces the old Board of Supervisors sys- tem, will comprise 28 Republi- cans and five Democrats, ac- cording to the unofficial figures presently available.

Tallies 6,281

The city results show that Melvin Mones (R-Cons.) topped the city legislators with an un- official vote of 6,281, with Democrat-Liberal William F. Edelmuth second with 6,016 votes.

Unofficial results for the other six legislators in the City of Kingston shows: Clarence Raichle (R) in third spot with 6,012 votes; Addison Jones (R) fourth with 5,929; Wendell Scherer (R) fifth with 5,909; John C. Sangaline (R-Cons.) sixth with 5,766; Orrie R. Riehl (D-L) seventh with 5,420.

Phinney Leads

Available incomplete results list 5,339 votes for Robert F. Phinney (R-Cons.) and 5,336 for Joseph J. Turck (R), a dif- ference of three votes with some absentee ballots not re- ported, it was said.

Final official results of the election will not be available until the County Board of Elec- tions meets for the canvass of the vote.

The Day After: Both Parties Claim Comfort

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dem- ocrats and Republicans both claim comfort in the outcome of Tuesday's off-year elections—balloting which provided an- swers but also posed new ques- tions about the mood of the electorate one year before the contest for the White House.

Chief among the questions was the 1968 potency of the so- called white backlash vote, de- feated—but by tiny margins—with the election of Negro may- ors in Cleveland and in Gary, Ind.

Bailey's Comments

Democratic National Chair- man John M. Bailey said those victories for Negro Democrats, coupled with Boston's rejection of the controversial Louise Day Hicks, "put the so-called white backlash in its place."

That place did not appear an insignificant one—particularly with the approach of statewide elections in which big-city plu- ralities often are the decisive factor.

Another item for the political strategists: The potential im- pact next year of the war in Vietnam. San Francisco voters rejected a proposal urging a cease-fire and U.S. withdrawal and President Johnson's Demo- cratic supporters called it evi- dence of growing support for his policy.

Republicans, on the other hand, raised the war issue in Kentucky and New Jersey and scored big victories.

Republican Sens. Thurston B. Morton and John Sherman Cooper said opposition to John- son's stand contributed to the election of Louie B. Nunn as Kentucky's first GOP governor in two decades. New Jersey Re- publicans, who won control of the state legislature, said the same thing.

Negro Democrat Carl B. Stokes was elected mayor of Cleveland with 129,829 votes to 127,328 for his white, Republican opponent, Seth C. Taft.

Cleveland's voter registration is Democratic by a 10 to 1 mar- gin. Stokes got virtually all the Cleveland Negro vote and about 20 per cent of the white ballots.

Ray C. Bliss, Republican na- tional chairman, boasted of sharp reductions in Democratic majorities in some big cities, noting that the last GOP nom- inee in Cleveland got only 17 per cent of the vote. But that party-line analysis ignored the racial factor.

Stokes could become a fea- tured Democratic performer, particularly in Negro areas, during the 1968 election cam- paign. And Cleveland could be crucial in determining which party wins Ohio's electoral votes.

Victory Challenged

In Gary, Negro Richard G. Hatcher won by 1,389 votes, but his Republican rival, Joseph Radigan, challenged the victory with charges of voting irregu- larities.

Kevin H. White, Massachu- setts secretary of state, was elected mayor of Boston by 102,551 votes to 90,122 for Mrs. Hicks in another close contest marked by racial dispute.

Mrs. Hicks stirred controver- sy with her total opposition to the transportation of Negro chil- dren to white neighborhood

Congressman Joseph Y. Res- nick, in connection with his one- man investigation of the Farm Bureau, has leveled further charges of "wheeling and deal- ing."

According to the Ellenville Democrat, a 67-year-old woman from Nashville, Ohio, will have to sell her family home unless she is somehow able to recover her life savings of $5,000 which is tied up in stock of the Holmes County Farm Bu- reau.

Congressman Resnick, who estimates that he has received more than 35 letters containing similar complaints from Ohio alone, is presently checking this complaint in connection with his probe of the Farm Bureau. He has also asked the Secu- rities and Exchange Commission to investigate widespread "wheeling and dealing" in worthless stocks issued by Farm Bureau cooperatives in at least five mid-western states.

Congressman Resnick said, "In this instance, the Holmes County Farm Bureau Coopera- tive deliberately sold worthless stock to Miss Gladys Reed, and then turned its back. It has made it clear that it feels no responsibility toward her. And this is just one example of the abuses which are practiced by these Farm Bureau Coopera- tives."

The Cost-Conscious Ended Vote Blocs

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Tra-day's election in New York Legislature's leaders prepared to try to rescue some of the wreckage left in the wake of defeat of the proposed new constitution, other observers sought reasons for its defeat.

No Party-Line Vote

Since the remodeled charter was smashed by a more than a 2-to-1 margin, it was apparent the source told The Associated Press Thursday, that there was no party-line vote cast on the issue.

The document generally was supported by Democrats, who outnumbered Republicans, and yet it was beaten—in nearly complete returns—3,364,630 to 1,309,897.

Lows, upper 20s and 30s. Partly cloudy Friday. Highs in the 40s. Winds south to southwest winds, increasing, 15 to 30, today and early tonight, becoming westerly and diminishing late tonight and Friday. Outlook for Saturday: Fair or partly cloudy and little temperature change.

Nor did the anticipated Cath-Gov. Rockefeller, who spawned the vote emerge to support the plan and campaigned hard for its approval.

Two amendments to the present constitution were defeated, one by a rather narrow margin, the other by a lopsided, nearly 3-to-1 tide.

An amendment that would have permitted the Job Development Authority to increase its borrowing power from $50 million to $200 million had enjoyed support from most public and private groups in the state. It was rejected, 2,251,222 to 1,984,589.

A badly trounced loser was the amendment that would have permitted the state to build a ski center in the Hoffman Mountain area west of Schroon Lake. It was rejected, 2,949,902 to 1,114,039.

The victory for the $2.5-billion bond program also represented a major personal triumph for Assemblyman Willis H.

Stephens, once chairman of the former Joint Legislative Committee on Winter Tourist Business, said the ski-center defeat represented voter rejection of the state entering a "money losing proposition against private enterprise."

Stephens, a member of the Assembly since 1952, said he believed the proposed constitution was rejected because it was "thrown at the people in one package" and "there were too many bad features" to enlist positive support.

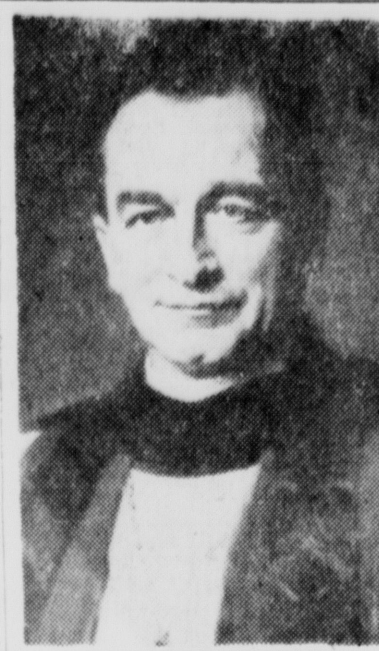

The Brewster Republican held that many persons felt the proposed document would require a major tax increase and therefore voted against it, although "they would have liked to support some of the items."

Rockefeller and the Legislature's leaders, apparently with that thought in mind, indicated Wednesday they would seek to gain repeal of the Blaine Amendment, which would require action by two separately elected Legislatures and approval of the voters.

Defeat of the proposed charter was seen in most circles as a setback to Assembly Speaker Anthony Travia, who, as president of the recently concluded State Constitutional Convention, risked his prestige in the Democratic party to present the document in a single package.

It also reflected, sources said, on Democratic U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Democratic State Chairman John Burns, both supporters of the new constitution.

Gov. Rockefeller had said he would vote for the constitution, thus splitting with most other Republican leaders. Rockefeller said, however, that this was a personal choice. He did not actively campaign for the new document.

BISHOP DONEGAN

Will Celebrate Eucharist at Holy Cross

On Sunday, Nov. 12, at 4 p.m., at the Church of the Holy Cross, Pine Grove Avenue, the Bishop of New York, the Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, DD, STD, will celebrate the Eucharist according to the Revised Liturgy approved for trial use by the General Convention of the Episcopal Church in September.

After Mass, the Rev. Powell Mills Dawley, STD, PhD, DD, will report on convention, to which he was a delegate. Dr. Dawley is sub-dean and professor of ecclesiastical history at General Theological Seminary, New York City.

The service will be an official gathering of clergy and people from all Episcopal parishes of the Convocation of the Hudson, one of seven in the Diocese of New York. Hudson Convocation lies on the Hudson from West Point to Saugerties, and west from the River to Monticello. The Rev. David L. Bronson is rector of the Church of the Holy Cross and dean of the convocation.

An invitation is extended to people from all denominations interested in liturgical renewal.

To Tour Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson plans a multistop tour of the nation this weekend visiting military bases in observance of Veterans Day.

It will be the President's first multipoint trip since he campaigned for Democratic congressional candidates in October 1966.

George Christian, White House press secretary, indicated Johnson would visit troops at Army, Air Force and Navy installations and may also stop at Marine and Coast Guard bases.

The Cost-Conscious Ended Vote Blocs

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Tra-day's election in New York State, a veteran political figure, said today that cost-conscious voters in Tuesday's election ended the vote blocs.

Legislature's leaders prepared to try to rescue some of the wreckage left in the wake of the proposed new constitution, other observers sought reasons for its defeat.

No Party-Line Vote

Since the remodeled charter was smashed by a more than a 2-to-1 margin, it was apparent, the source told The Associated Press Thursday, that there was no party-line vote cast on the issue.

The document generally was supported by Democrats, who outnumbered Republicans, and yet it was beaten—in nearly complete returns—3,364,630 to 1,309,897.

Nor did the anticipated Catholic vote emerge to support the proposed constitution. Many Catholic officials were in favor of the new charter because it would have repealed the Blaine Amendment ban on state aid to parochial schools.

On the traditional basis of 40 per cent of New York's electorate being of the Roman Catholic faith, the new charter stood to obtain 1.8 million votes from Catholics alone—if all had voted for approval.

On the transportation bond issue, approved by nearly a million votes, the negative votes represented, the source said, a less than expected distrust in upstate areas of state spending policies.

The victory for the $2.5-billion bond program also represented a major personal triumph for

Gov. Rockefeller, who spawned the plan and campaigned hard for its approval.

Two amendments to the present constitution were defeated, one by a rather narrow margin, the other by a lopsided, nearly 3-to-1 tide.

An amendment that would have permitted the Job Development Authority to increase its borrowing power from $50 million to $200 million had enjoyed support from most public and private groups in the state. It was rejected, 2,251,222 to 1,984,589.

A badly trounced loser was the amendment that would have permitted the state to build a ski center in the Hoffman Mountain area west of Schroom Lake. It was rejected, 2,949,902 to 1,114,059.

Assemblyman Willis H.

Stephens, once chairman of the former Joint Legislative Committee on Winter Tourist Business, said the ski-center defeat represented voter rejection of the state entering a "money losing proposition against private enterprise."

Stephens, a member of the Assembly since 1952, said he believed the proposed constitution was rejected because it was "thrown at the people in one package" and "there were too many bad features" to enlist positive support.

Mental Hygiene Office Acquires Hospital Site

NEW YORK (AP) — Title to the former Sunmount veterans hospital at Tupper Lake, has been acquired by the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene, Bernice L. Bernstein, regional director of the U.S. Department of Health Education and Welfare, announced Wednesday.

Under an interim permit, the mental hygiene department has been operating the 506-bed hospital as a school and medical facility for the retarded, for the past two years.

The department also has applied to HEW for a three-year, $123,000 grant "to provide special services that will increase the social adequacy of a selected group of adult patients," Mrs. Bernstein said.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 9, 1967

The Election

Ulster County is still Republican and the City of Kingston remains in the Democratic column.

The four Republican candidates, Judge Raymond J. Mino, District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca, County Treasurer Fred H. DuBois and Coroner Arthur C. Chipp were all re-elected. The Republicans also gained a large majority—28 to 5—in the new board of county legislators.

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan and his administration received an enthusiastic endorsement. His reelection by a large plurality is termed a personal tribute to him. Swept into office with him were T. Robert Gallo for the alderman-at-large post. The Democrats also continue to control the Common Council by an 8 to 5 majority.

We offer our congratulations to the winners and trust they will interpret the results in Tuesday's balloting as a signal to move ahead with the greatest possible speed toward the development of Ulster County and the City of Kingston.

No New Charter

As was generally predicted, the people of the State of New York went to the polls Tuesday and turned down the proposed new streamlined, 23,000-word constitution. The margin of defeat here was 5 to 1 and 3 to 1 statewide. The new charter was doomed because of the decision that the entire 15-article document must be approved or rejected as a single package despite several issues of a controversial nature.

Of the controversial issues, the emotion-charged issue of separation of church and state in the proposed removal of a ban on "direct or indirect use of public funds for private, sectarian schools" was declared to be the key whether the state would have a new charter.

Other dispositive proposals were:

Gives power to the state to float bond issues up to 12 per cent of state revenues, without the requirement of a voter referendum on each issue.

Transfers welfare and court expenses from city to state.

Places state aid to schools based on registration and not on attendance.

Provides for a five-man committee to reapportion political districts.

The attempt to replace the present 47,000-word charter, which was adopted in 1894, met a similar fate to two other proposed constitutions in 1915 and 1938. Both times voters rejected the work of the delegates.

It probably will be 30 years before another convention will be called.

The good solid reforms and other desirable features don't necessarily have to be lost because of the charter revision. There is an alternative piecemeal method of amending the Constitution. Proposals can be passed by the 1968 Legislature, receive second legislative endorsement in 1969 and then submitted to the voters. There have been 93 Amendments to the Constitution.

It is hoped that this mandate from the electorate will convince the lawmakers that the people will not surrender their right to voice their opinion on vital issues.

Legislative Showdown

The legislative leadership's aim to smoke out the Administration on an adjournment date for the first session of the 90th Congress succeeded at least in securing a list of priorities from the President. He named 20 measures he is eager to see passed before the session ends, but that is too long a list to put through by the leadership's tentative adjournment date of Nov. 18. A compromise to hold Congress through the month may be reached.

However, there is a danger that if Congress is kept at work beyond Thanksgiving, the enmity engendered, especially in the House, will react to the President's disadvantage and he might lose some legislation that might be passed after Congress reassembles in the next year. Among these is almost assuredly the proposed surtax bill. Its chances for this session are nil since it is still locked up in the Ways and Means Committee.

The top priorities other than the surtax are bills for control of crime in the streets, Social Security increases, postal rate and civil service wage increases, civil rights and foreign aid. These might have some chance if the President did not push for his whole priority list of 20 bills.

The legislative leaders, Speaker John McCormack and Senator Mike Mansfield, promised they would do their best for the President's list. In this instance, their best is not good enough, as the first session of the 90th Congress has shown. They'd better go home, test the public pulse, and come back next year for the assault. They may learn that people like the inaction of Congress just as it is.

"Anybody Going My Way?"

David Lawrence Says

Won't Pass Judgment On Viet Operations

WASHINGTON — Two members of the Supreme Court of the United States—Justices Stewart and Douglas—dissented this week when six other justices refused to grant a review in a test suit brought by three soldiers who were drafted into the army in 1965 and ordered to Vietnam. Justice Marshall took no part in the case.

Justices Stewart and Douglas said that, while they didn't want to intimate what their conclusions would be if the case were given a hearing, they felt that the high court should first decide whether it had the power to rule on the issues. If a majority concluded that it was within the court's authority to go into the matter, there would then be an examination of some of the "large and deeply troubling questions" which exist in the case. These involve a controversy over whether the conflict in Southeast Asia is a "war" within the meaning of the Constitution and whether these soldiers could be legally ordered to go to Vietnam. Justice Douglas said:

"A host of problems is raised. Does the President's authority to repel invasions and quiet insurrections, his powers in foreign relations and his duty to execute faithfully the laws of the United States, including its treaties, justify what has been threatened of petitioners? What is the relevancy of the Gulf of Tonkin resolution and the yearly appropriations in support of the Vietnam effort?"

Mr. Douglas pointed out that the Southeast Asia Treaty, the Kellogg-Briand Treaty and articles in the U.N. Charter "deal with various aspects of wars of aggression." He asked this question: "Do any of them embrace hostilities in Vietnam, or give rights to individuals affected to complain, or in other respects give rise to justiciable controversies?"

The provision in the Constitution which gives Congress the power "to declare war" doesn't say just when war has to be formally proclaimed. What is most pertinent, however, is that the Constitution separately provides that the President of the United States is Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces. As such, he is authorized to engage in military operations to insure the security of this country. Again and again in past history, Presidents have found that there was not time to ask for a declaration of any kind by Congress. They had to act immediately in order to prevent catastrophes.

Thus, the strategy of the United States today is based primarily upon the potential use of our manpower and military resources as a "deterrent." At any moment—without even consulting Congress—the President may have to order a nuclear attack in retaliation for such an onslaught by the enemy. He certainly need not wait hours or days for Congress to adopt a resolution embodying a "declaration of war."

Even more significant is the long list of precedents over the last 150 years

wherein the Chief Executive has ordered troops of the United States into foreign lands to protect the lives and property of American citizens. U. S. troops or naval forces have been sent into ports in every continent of the world, and sometimes they have remained on duty for many months. In most instances, no congressional resolutions were passed. Congress, of course, could have refused to authorize the continued use of the troops or the expenditure of public funds for such purposes.

What is known as the "Tonkin Gulf" resolution—adopted overwhelmingly by both houses of Congress in August 1964—authorized "the President, as commander-in-chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression" in southeast Asia. It may be argued that this referred only to a particular threat arising in this area. But since Congress has not limited the scope of the resolution or subsequently modified it, the President has every right to assume that the resolution has the broadest meaning when it authorizes military action to defend a country that has been promised American protection by the Southeast Asia Treaty.

The fact that the majority of the Supreme Court of the United States decided not to pass judgment on the legality or illegality of American military operations in Vietnam is in itself an indication that no persuasive legal points have been cited to alter the present situation.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Saigon, Vietnam — Basics, the major said. You can't understand this war without a scorecard. He was a listener and a whisperer, rather than a talker. He had a strong hammered-down body with a head full of skin and he stirred his tea slowly, as though reading his own fortune. First of all, he said, there is no war. Nobody has declared war on anybody.

It looks like a war. It sounds like one. It even feels like one when a bullet whines through the foliage toward your hat. But it isn't a war. It all began, he said, on March 13, 1959, when Ho Chi Minh, in Hanoi, said that the time had come to "liberate the south," and called upon his North Vietnamese to "struggle heroically and perseveringly to smash the southern regime."

The South Vietnamese government, after the Geneva agreement of 1954, asked for help. The United Nations was bound to assist anyone who was wantonly attacked and invaded. The major sipped the tea and grimaced. He began to tick statistics off his stubby fingers. North Vietnam has 18,000,000 people and a lot of industry. South Vietnam has 17,000,000 people and is one vast rice paddy.

In 1960, Ho organized something in the south called The National Liberation Front. This organization functioned in small cells, and their task was to assassinate government officials, beat up village leaders, and cripple the social and economic life of Saigon. The South faced collapse. It had neither the will, the energy nor the lo-

The call for help, the major said, was answered by the United States, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and, eventually, by Thailand. Other nations offered economic aid, but no troops. The U. S., in time, became the big helper.

The major asked a waiter if he could try a little brandy to soften the tea. There was a little book filled with figures, and he flipped the pages as though hunting the phone number of a forgotten girl friend. The Americans, he said, now have about 500,000 men here. Of these, about 30,000 are combat troops. The rest are working behind the lines.

The South Vietnamese, called "Arvin," for Army of Vietnam, have 639,000 men under arms. They do not draft boys until age 20, and a young man can be excused from service for educational reasons, health reasons, or because his parents know the military officials. But he still outnumbered the Americans and, if he deserts and is caught, he is shot at once.

It is astonishing, the major said, hanging his sniffling mustache over the brandy, that the total forces fighting for the South are 1,200,000 men. On the other hand, he has only 330,000 men. He has three divisions, totalling 33,000 regulars, facing the South across the demilitarized zone. There are 277,000 Viet Cong in of all places, South Vietnam. In addition, Ho also has 20,000 army regulars hidden in the South.

This, the major whispered, leads to enormous Oriental embarrassments. Ho controls all of North Vietnam. He also controls 40 per cent of South Vietnam. Thus, the new South Vietnamese government can administer only 60 per cent of its own territory.

I opened my mouth. "Then the Cong is everywhere down here," I said. The major favored me with a cold glance. "That's what the Americans people do not understand," he said. "We have the manpower; we have the weapons; we have the bombs, but we are fighting shadows in the trees. Don't believe those statistics about 500 Cong being killed in an ambush. We're doing well if we can find 30 in one place."

Ho, he said, is losing the war. But he doesn't need much to keep in the field. Two soldiers at Hanoi are given the parts of a small mortar, and two rounds of ammunition. They get a rice ration and they start down the jungle trails — one of many—and these two lonely men may spend five or six months walking with their burden through Cambodia when they get far enough south, they will walk a trail back into Vietnam, select a hidden spot, assemble the mortar in the dark, fire their two rounds into a village or a city, and try to get away before they are hunted and slain.

It's a lousy life, but the Cong are tough soldiers. They can take South Vietnam overnight if the Americans will go home. They just hit and run, hit and run. Ho can keep sending his little cadres down the trails for years to come. As Lyndon burns, Ho hums . . .

Drew Pearson Says Gov. Ronald Reagan's 'Liar' Charge Has Backfired

WASHINGTON — Four times in a 20-minute press conference, Gov. Ronald Reagan last week called Drew Pearson a liar. It was one of the veteran actor's most persuasive performances; his voice expressed a controlled outrage, and his schooled features alternated between pained earnestness and seething indignation as he stood in the familiar spotlight before the grinding cameras. Once he pounded the table angrily for effect.

The point of Reagan's performance was that Pearson had lied about the dismissal of the sex deviates from the Sacramento staff. Reagan described the Pearson column as "scurrilous" and "ridiculous." When reporters pressed for the truth about his investigation of homosexuals in his official family, the governor snapped: "I just don't know what you are talking about, really."

Facts have now filtered out, flatly disputing Reagan. Such respected newspapers as the New York Times and Boston Globe, after careful investigation, have concluded that Pearson was right and Reagan wrong. Charged the Globe: "To put it as politely as possible for the readers of a family newspaper, Ronald Reagan is not to be believed."

Our able rivals, columnists Rowland Evans and Robert Novak, also declared that Reagan was "telling considerably less than the truth." They quoted a prominent California Republican, following Reagan's press conference performance, as snorting: "Mr. Integrity just went down the drain."

Reagan's denial is backfiring with such force that it is beginning to look as if he may join the long list of politicians who have been discredited, defeated, censured or in some cases even jailed for Pearson charges which they claimed were lies. Again and again, the politicians have turned out to be the liars. The California governor is simply the latest who has wound up wearing the liar label that he tried to pin on Pearson.

Wide Credibility Gap
As a Presidential prospect who has complained about the credibility gap in Washington, Reagan must stand scrutiny as to his own credibility. He has been caught in lies in the past, but the public has always ignored them. There is something about his wholesome face and boyish good looks that inspires trust.

Hearst's veteran political reporter, Marianne Means, was told by Mississippi's Gov. Paul Johnson earlier this year that he had advised Reagan in a private conversation not to run for the Presidential nomination in the South. Reagan at a luncheon of United Press International editors not only called the story a "lie" but declared scornfully: "Furthermore, I have never met Governor Johnson. She must have been talking to the hippies at Haight-Ashbury."

Syd Kossen, political writer for the San Francisco Examiner, told this column that he had heard Reagan tell a lumbermen's convention at San Francisco's St. Francis Hotel: "If you have seen one redwood, you have seen them all." Other reporters were also present, said Kossen.

This irreverence toward California's stately redwoods backfired. Reagan not only denied he had made the statement but the reporters had heard with their own ears, but he took the trouble of playing a tape of his speech for the reporters. The tape, which omitted the controversial statement, obviously had been altered.

Trained reporters, however, seldom make mistakes. And they do not lie. Reagan had made the statement.

New York columnist and TV impresario Ed Sullivan, writing in the Ladies Home Journal, has also told of mailing a registered letter to Reagan which he blandly denied receiving. Later, Sullivan was startled to read in Hedges Hopper's column: "Ronald Reagan and I had a great laugh at that letter from that New York columnist."

What Will Happen Inside Russia in Next 50 Years?

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's been like watching a Russian bear eat an electric light bulb.

Surprise, convulsions, indigestion, internal bleeding, thrashing around half out of mind and digestion restored have all been part of the process since the Bolsheviks took over the Russian revolution 50 years ago today.

Surprise — The Bolsheviks were caught flatfooted, unprepared for the takeover when the revolution began. They got themselves together, grabbed their chance, and communism has been in charge since.

Conclusion — The beginning with the other factions which were split and indecisive; civil war; and economic collapse.

Indigestion—Lenin and his Bolsheviks started out as the apostles of Karl Marx. But they twisted Marxism to suit their needs. And Lenin even partly restored capitalism for a while.

Internal bleeding—From the beginning there was a blood bath. It became a hemorrhage in the 1930s with Stalin's purges and executions, his device for eliminating rivals, real or imaginary.

Half out of mind—Stalin was a mental case, one of the most vicious in history, who reigned through terror for 29 years from the time Lenin died in 1924 until his own death in 1953.

Power His Language

But while terror was his weapon, power was his language. Under him a primitive nation became a world power, with all that meant. For only a brief moment the United States had a nuclear monopoly. Stalin quickly broke it. Digestion restored — With Stalin's death, some sanity was restored, restrictions were eased, and the Soviet Union began to look a little more like a civilized society, starting with Nikita Khrushchev, later dumped, in the 1950s.

After all this agony the most obvious question, one which must fill every other nation with apprehension, is: What will happen inside the Soviet Union and what will it do in these next 50 years?

No one in his right mind will try to predict it. Through their whole history the Russian people have known nothing but submission to autocracies, some more fierce and bloody than others.

At the moment power is divided among the leaders but nevertheless centered in them. Internal struggles for power among them could resurrect

Reagan repeated his denial in a letter to Sullivan, dated July 8, 1966. As for the Hedges Hopper item, he said: "I have just never been a reader of the Hollywood columns."

Sullivan could swallow Reagan's story of the unreceived letter, but he added with disbelief: "This statement that a Hollywood actor never read the Hollywood columns is incredible."

Press Spokesman's Lie

Reagan's wholesome face and persuasive manner apparently have been concealing a character that is less than trustworthy. He not only lied about the homosexuals on his staff, but he made a liar out of his press secretary, Lyn Nofziger. When asked whether Nofziger had discussed the homosexual case with reporters, the governor's conference cruise, Reagan snapped: "I am prepared to say that nothing like that ever happened."

Then he turned to his press secretary and asked: "Want to confirm it, Lyn?"

"Confirmed," said Nofziger grimly.

The New York Times has now published the names of six reporters who heard Nofziger discuss the homosexual case: Paul Hope of the Washington Star, David Broder of the Washington Post, Karl Fleming of Newsweek, Carl Greenberg of the Los Angeles Times, Jack McDowell of the San Francisco Examiner and Bill Ames of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The same Nofziger, in an attempt to discredit Marianne Means' story, discourteously called her a "liar" and demanded that she be fired. Reagan also indicated in his Sacramento press conference that he had an agreement with California publishers to suppress the story.

The question now buzzing in political circles is—why? It would have been far less damaging for him to admit the facts and point out that he had fired the homosexuals. Why did he try to cover up? The question will be asked by the politicians for many months to come.

The people are asserting themselves a little more, although feebly. Bit by bit they may get more of the freedom they want. Eventually, if the Soviet Union follows the road of the great revolutions of modern times, there will be democracy.

Fear Nuclear War

The most civilizing and restraining force in Soviet history in recent times is fear—fear of nuclear war with the United States which reciprocates the same fear.

In time the Soviet Union may surpass the United States as the world's No. 1 industrial power—it's No. 2 now—with increasing prosperity for its people. But the Soviet Union has also suffered a shattering defeat. For most of the past 50 years it not only dominated world communism but the world's thinking about it.

That's gone. Gigantic Red China is its rival and apparently its enemy and is fast on its way to becoming a great nuclear power. When that happens the future of the Soviet and of mankind may depend on the answer to this question:

Will it manage to team up with the Red Chinese against the rest of the world, or out of fear of China, will it cozy up to the United States and the West in search of allies against Red China?

School Transportation Costs
Editor, The Freeman

It was very disturbing to learn that the School Board found it necessary to increase the budgeted expenditures for transportation costs by $32,595. To fully understand this adjustment, let's look at what has happened to transportation costs in the last year.

For the 1966-67 fiscal year transportation costs were budgeted at $404,575. According to a press release by school officials, certain changes in school starting times for the current term would enable the school to obtain better utilization of the school buses and would result in a reduction in transportation costs of approximately $50,000. It stands to follow, therefore, that if this system was followed in the 1966-67 year, the transportation costs would have been $354,575.

The amount originally budgeted for transportation expenses for the 1967-68 year was $488,085, which was approximately 37 per cent higher than the adjusted figure for the preceding year.

Now, the transportation

costs for 1967-68 have evidently risen to $520,680 or almost 50 per cent higher than the adjusted figure a year ago.

At the budget hearing last June, neither the school officials present nor any member of the Board was able to give a satisfactory explanation for the 37 per cent increase in transportation costs. Evidently, they still have a lack of knowledge of transportation costs as noted by the statement in the Freeman on November 4th that "Board members were disturbed about the apparent miscalculation." The time for the Board to investigate the transportation costs was prior to the passage of the budget—not now!

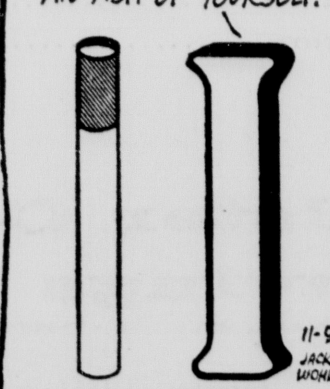

The whole transportation expense muddle is merely an other example of the School Board's lack of proper communication with the taxpayer public. When, oh when, are they going to take up their confidence and give us the information to which we are entitled?

Yours truly,

He asked this question: "Do any of them embrace hostilities in Vietnam, or give rights to individuals affected to complain, or in other respects give rise to justiciable controversy?"

The provision in the Constitution which gives Congress the power "to declare war" doesn't say just when war has to be formally proclaimed. What is most pertinent, however, is that the Constitution separately provides that the President of the United States is Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces. As such, he is authorized to engage in military operations to insure the security of this country. Again and again in past history, Presidents have found that there was not time to ask for a declaration of any kind by Congress. They had to act immediately in order to prevent catastrophes.

Thus, the strategy of the United States today is based primarily upon the potential use of our manpower and military resources as a "deterrent." At any moment—without even consulting Congress—the President may have to order a nuclear attack in retaliation for such an onslaught by the enemy. He certainly need not wait hours or days for Congress to adopt a resolution embodying a "declaration of war."

Even more significant is the long list of precedents over the last 150 years

wherein the Chief Executive has ordered troops of the United States into foreign lands to protect the lives and property of American citizens. U. S. troops or naval forces have been sent into ports in every continent of the world, and sometimes they have remained on duty for many months. In most instances, no congressional resolutions were passed. Congress, of course, could have refused to authorize the continued use of the troops or the expenditure of public funds for such purposes.

What is known as the "Tonkin Gulf" resolution—adopted overwhelmingly by both houses of Congress in August 1964—authorized "the President, as commander-in-chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression" in southeast Asia. It may be argued that this referred only to a particular threat arising in this area. But since Congress has not limited the scope of the resolution or subsequently modified it, the President has every right to assume that the resolution has the broadest meaning when it authorizes military action to defend a country that has been promised American protection by the Southeast Asia Treaty.

The fact that the majority of the Supreme Court of the United States decided not to pass judgment on the legality or illegality of American military operations in Vietnam is in itself an indication that no persuasive legal points have been cited to alter the present situation.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Saigon, Vietnam — Basics, the major said. You can't understand this war without a scorecard. He was a listener and a whisperer, rather than a talker. He had a strong hammered-down body with a head full of skin and he stirred his tea slowly, as though reading his own fortune. First of all, he said, there is no war. Nobody has declared war on anybody.

It looks like a war. It sounds like one. It even feels like one when a bullet whines through the foliage toward your head. But it isn't a war. It all began, he said, on March 13, 1959, when Ho Chi Minh, in Hanoi, said that the time had come to "liberate the south," and called upon his North Vietnamese to "struggle heroically and perseveringly to smash the southern regime."

The South Vietnamese government, after the Geneva agreement of 1954, asked for help. The United Nations was bound to assist anyone who was wantonly attacked and invaded. The major sipped the tea and grimaced. He began to tick statistics off his stubby fingers. North Vietnam has 18,000,000 people and a lot of industry. South Vietnam has 17,000,000 people and is one vast rice paddy.

In 1960, Ho organized something in the south called The National Liberation Front. This organization functioned in small cells, and their task was to assassinate government officials, beathead village leaders, and cripple the social and economic life of Saigon. The South faced collapse. It had neither the will, the energy nor the logistical intelligence to fight a shadow it could not see.

The call for help, the major said, was answered by the United States, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and, eventually, by Thailand. Other nations offered economic aid, but no troops. The U.S., in time, became the big helper.

The major asked a waiter if he could try a little brandy to soften the tea. There was a little book filled with figures, and he flipped the pages as though hunting the phone number of a forgotten girl friend. The Americans, he said, now have about 500,000 men here. Of these, about 50,000 are combat troops. The rest are working behind the lines.

The South Vietnamese, called "Arvin," for Army of Vietnam, have 639,000 men under arms. They do not draft boys until age 20, and a young man can be excused from service for educational reasons, health reasons, or because his parents know the right officials. But he still outnumbered the Americans and, if he deserts and is caught, he is shot at once. It is astonishing, the major said, hanging his sniffling mustache over the brandy, that the total forces fighting for the South are 1,200,000 men. On the other hand, he has only 330,000 men. He has three divisions, totalling 33,000 regulars, facing the South across the demilitarized zone. There are 277,000 Viet Cong in, of all places, South Vietnam. In addition, Ho also has 20,000 army regulars hidden in the South.

This, the major whispered, leads to enormous Oriental

I opened my mouth. "Then the Cong is everywhere down here," I said. The major favored me with a cold glance. "That's what the American people do not understand," he said. "We have the manpower; we have the weapons; we have the bombs, but we are fighting shadows in the trees. Don't believe those statistics about 500 Cong being killed in an ambush. We're doing well if we can find 30 in one place."

Ho, he said, is losing the war. But he doesn't need much to keep in the field. Two soldiers at Hanoi are given the parts of a small mortar, and two rounds of ammunition. They get a rice ration and they start down the jungle trails—one of many—and these two lonely men may spend five or six months walking with their burden through Cambodia when they get far enough south, they will walk a trail back into Vietnam, select a hidden spot, assemble the mortar in the dark, fire their two rounds into a village or a city, and try to get away before they are hunted and slain.

It's a lousy life, but the Cong are tough soldiers. They can take South Vietnam overnight if the Americans will go home. They just hit and run, hit and run. Ho can keep sending his little cadres down the trails for years to come. As Lyndon

WASHINGTON — Four times in a 20-minute press conference, Gov. Ronald Reagan last week called Drew Pearson a liar. It was one of the veteran actor's most persuasive performances; his voice expressed a controlled outrage, and his schooled features alternated between pained earnestness and seething indignation as he stood in the familiar spotlight before the grinding cameras. Once he pounded the table angrily for effect.

The point of Reagan's performance was that Pearson had lied about the dismissal of two sex deviates from the Sacramento staff. Reagan described the Pearson column as "scurrilous" and "ridiculous." When reporters pressed for the truth about his investigation of homosexuals in his official family, the governor snapped: "I just don't know what you are talking about, really."

Facts have now filtered out, flatly disputing Reagan. Such respected newspapers as the New York Times and Boston Globe, after careful investigation, have concluded that Pearson was right and Reagan wrong. Charged the Globe: "To put it as politely as possible for the readers of a family newspaper, Ronald Reagan is not to be believed."

Our able rivals, columnists Rowland Evans and Robert Novak, also declared that Reagan was "telling considerably less than the truth." They quoted a prominent California Republican, following Reagan's press conference performance, as snorting: "Mr. Integrity just went down the drain."

Reagan's denial is backfiring with such force that it is beginning to look as if he may join the long list of politicians who have been discredited, defeated, censured or in some cases even jailed over Pearson charges which they claimed were lies. Again and again, the politicians have turned out to be the liars. The California governor is simply the latest who has wound up wearing the liar label that he tried to pin on Pearson.

Wide Credibility Gap
As a Presidential prospect who has complained about

the credibility gap in Washington, Reagan must stand scrutiny as to his own credibility. He has been caught in lies in the past, but the public has always ignored them. There is something about his wholesome face and boyish good looks that inspires trust.

Hearst's veteran political reporter, Marianne Means, was told by Mississippi's Gov. Paul Johnson earlier this year that he had advised Reagan in a private conversation not to run for the Presidential nomination in the South. Reagan at a luncheon of United Press International editors not only called the story a "lie" but declared scornfully: "Furthermore, I have never met Governor Johnson. She must have been talking to the hippies at Haight-Ashbury."

Syd Kossen, political writer for the San Francisco Examiner, told this column that he had heard Reagan tell a lumbermen's convention at San Francisco's St. Francis Hotel: "If you have seen one redwood, you have seen them all." Other reporters were also present, said Kossen.

This irreverence toward California's stately redwoods backfired. Reagan not only denied he had made the statement but the reporters had heard with their own ears, but he took the trouble of playing a tape of his speech for the reporters. The tape, which omitted the controversial statement, obviously had been altered.

Trained reporters, however, seldom make mistakes. And they do not lie. Reagan had made the statement.

New York columnist and TV impresario Ed Sullivan, writing in the Ladies' Home Journal, has also told of mailing a registered letter to Reagan which he blandly denied receiving. Later, Sullivan was startled to read in Hedda Hopper's column: "Ronald Reagan and I had a great laugh at that letter from that New York columnist."

What Will Happen Inside Russia in Next 50 Years?

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's been like watching a Russian bear eat an electric light bulb. Surprise, convulsions, indigestion, internal bleeding, thrashing around half out of mind and digestion restored have all been part of the process since the Bolsheviks took over the Russian revolution 50 years ago today.

Surprise — The Bolsheviks were caught flatfooted, unprepared for the takeover when the revolution began. They got themselves together, grabbed their chance, and communism has been in charge since.

Convulsion — The beginning was dreadful: The struggle with the other factions which were split and indecisive; civil war; and economic collapse.

Indigestion—Lenin and his Bolsheviks started out as the apostles of Karl Marx. But they twisted Marxism to suit their needs. And Lenin even partly restored capitalism for a while.

Half out of mind—Stalin was a mental case, one of the most vicious in history, who reigned through terror for 29 years from the time Lenin died in 1924 until his own death in 1953.

Power His Language
But while terror was his language, under him a primitive nation became a world power, with all that meant. For only a brief moment the United States had a nuclear monopoly. Stalin quickly broke it. Digestion restored — With Stalin's death, some sanity was restored, and the Soviet Union began to look a little more like a civilized society, starting with Nikita Khrushchev, later dumped, in the 1950s.

After all this agony the most obvious question, one which must fill every other nation with apprehension, is: What will happen inside the Soviet Union and what will it do in these next 50 years?

No one in his right mind will try to predict it. Through their history the Russian people have known nothing but submission to autocracies, some more fierce and bloody than others.

At the moment power is divided among the leaders but nevertheless centered in them. Internal struggles for power among them could resurrect

the nightmares of the past 50 years.

The people are asserting themselves a little more, although feebly. Bit by bit they may get more of the freedom they want. Eventually, if the Soviet Union follows the road of the great revolutions of modern times, there will be democracy.

Fear Nuclear War
The most civilizing and restraining force in Soviet history in recent times is fear—fear of nuclear war with the United States which reciprocates the same fear.

In time the Soviet Union may surpass the United States as the world's No. 1 industrial power—it's No. 2 now—with increasing prosperity for its people. But the Soviet Union has also suffered a shattering defeat. For most of the past 50 years it not only dominated world communism but the world's thinking about it.

That's gone. Gigantic Red China is its rival and apparently its enemy and is fast on its way to becoming a great nuclear power. When that happens the future of the Soviet and of mankind may depend on the answer to this question:

Will it manage to team up with the Red Chinese against the rest of the world, or out of fear of China, will it cozy up to the United States and the West in search of allies against Red China?

School Transportation Costs
Editor, The Freeman

It was very disturbing to learn that the School Board found it necessary to increase the budgeted expenditures for transportation costs by $32,595. To fully understand this adjustment, let's look at what has happened to transportation costs in the last year.

For the 1966-67 fiscal year transportation costs were budgeted at $404,575. According to a press release by school officials, certain changes in school starting times for the current term would enable the school to obtain better utilization of the school buses and would result in a reduction in transportation costs of approximately $50,000. It stands to follow, therefore, that if this system was followed in the 1966-67 year, the transportation costs would have been $354,575.

The amount originally budgeted for transportation expenses for the 1967-68 year was $488,085, which was approximately 37 per cent higher than the adjusted figure for the preceding year.

Now, the transportation

At the budget hearing last June, neither the school officials, present nor any member of the Board was able to give a satisfactory explanation for the 37 per cent increase in transportation costs. Evidently, they still have a lack of knowledge of transportation costs as noted by the statement in the Freeman on November 4th that "Board members were disturbed about the apparent miscalculation." The time for the Board to investigate the transportation costs was prior to the passage of the budget—not now!

The whole transportation expense muddle is merely another example of the School Board's lack of proper communication with the taxpayer public. When, oh when, are they going to take us into their confidence and give us the information to which we are entitled?

Yours truly,

The Beat At City Hall

By HUGH REYNOLDS

"Thank God it's over," Mayor Garraghan expressed the sentiments of a lot of Kingston residents when he made that remark about the elections at Bob Gallo's victory party Tuesday night.

Gallo's modest home on Andrew Street was never meant to hold the hundreds or more happy Democrats. They had plenty to be happy about. Garraghan had come in with a better than 2,600 plurality over Jack Bechtold and T. Robert had a nice 800-vote margin. The council will remain 8-5 in the Dems favor but several familiar faces will be missing.

Emilio Primo will be gone. The victor in that Fourth Ward race was Frank Jablonski who couldn't even vote when Primo was elected in 1965. Jablonski is only 22 but had enough political savvy to defeat the popular Primo. It's nice to see young people in government. Too bad it was at Primo's expense. Maybe he took the kid a little too lightly.

Democrats will have to find other names for their Republican opponents during Common Council caucuses. There'll be a lady present: Florence Ludlow, who downed George Margolis in the First Ward. George was used to cliff hanger campaigns. He was elected by only one vote in '65.

George had the refreshing ability to laugh at himself when the occasion warranted. When we first started covering Common Council meetings we noticed Margolis usually said "aye" on most votes. We asked him why.

George explained that as alderman from the first ward he voted first. "I'm a leader of men," George said. "When I vote 'aye' the rest of them usually do too."

It took us a few meetings council's business was routine and we were out of town.

Frank Koenig's banging gavel will be gone along with the frowns toward the press section. Frank took it pretty easy on the newsmen. He must have been as bored as we at some of those meetings.

Jim Howard will be gone too. Jim wasn't much for speeches but when he did take the floor everyone listened, carefully.

Perhaps the most popular member of the council, Ray

Armater, called it quits. Ray was the kind of politician newsmen pray for. Ask him a straight question, you got a straight answer.

This new council should be an interesting one. For one thing, they'll only serve for one year due to reapportionment and this could be either very good or very bad for the city. It'll take the new members a little while to get their feet wet, say a few meetings, and before they know it, they'll be up for election again.

Election chances for some of the present aldermen, especially Democrats, may be slim under reapportionment. Only two Democrats were elected running at large in the city for county legislators. It could be similar for aldermanic candidates running in strange sections of the city due to reapportionment.

While on the subject of moving, the following rumor is hereby squelched: William (Pucker) Davis, 13th Ward alderman, is NOT moving to California. Pucker says he likes it right here in Kingston. Besides, he wasn't too crazy about surfing after a recent trip to the Golden West.

A word for the vanquished. Although John Bechtold put up a fierce fight against Garraghan he took the loss like a gentleman.

The terming of Bechtold as a "sacrificial lamb" in some quarters was unfair to John who worked hard during the campaign. If past history of mayoral elections in Kingston is any indication, just about anybody that the Republicans put up would have lost to Garraghan.

Not that Garraghan is unbeatable, but past races have shown that most mayors who serve more than two terms have a tough fight their first time out, romp home their second term and have to fight for their lives the third time around.

You can bet there will be a host of solid Republican candidates seeking Garraghan's seat in city hall in '69.

Viet War Is Opening Door For Pet Ideas of Radicals

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — If the war in Vietnam ended tomorrow, it evidently would be a keen disappointment to many American radicals who today are assailing it fanatically.

Radicals in attendance at the New Politics conference in Chicago two months ago told this reporter they saw the war as the greatest opportunity in many years to advance materially the radical social causes they and others espouse.

Their basic point is simple: They believe that this war, as no other in recent history, has stirred such controversy that it has loosened the fabric of American society, has made assault upon established government authority respectable, and thus has opened the door to radical change on many fronts.

Talking of this in Chicago, one radical saw the discontent over the war as the most golden moment since the Great Depression of the 1930s fanned the flames of radicalism in a then bewildered nation.

Radicals who hold to this view plainly welcome the turmoil of demonstrations and the torrent of criticisms which have plagued the Johnson administration since our heavy military entry into Vietnam. They are usually in the vanguard of such stirrings as the sometimes violent "confrontation" at the Pentagon Oct. 21.

Were the war to end suddenly, its loosening effect upon U. S. society would be lost to ambitious radicals who recognize that they seldom make such headway except in times of great national stress. They might then try to throw greater weight into the urban racial struggle—which is tearing the American fabric in other ways.

U. S. Radicals Are Wary
Here the more thoughtful U. S. radicals are wary, however, since the New Politicians conference showed them dramatically that black power radicals are willing to allow white participation in their undertakings only on black extremists' terms.

The white radicals who today privately welcome the ripping effect of the Vietnam war have another deep concern.

They concede that they are glad to have the chance to "use" the war discontent of millions of ordinary, non-radical Americans to further their own drastic antiestablishment objectives. But they worry that they themselves may be used by dedicated anti-American Communist elements in both the antiwar and black power groups.

servers, fearing to be charged with resurrecting the wild-swinging anticommunism of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, go very light in applying the Red label to anything done these days in the name of the New Left. The cliché of the day is that New Leftists regard old-style communism as "square" and could not care less.

But one influential radical who attended the Chicago meeting on New Politics said privately it would be a serious mistake to underestimate the labors of dedicated Com-

This man, himself stoutly anti-Vietnam war and anti-racial discrimination, sees many of his radical fellows serving as dupes for anti-American Reds who work cleverly and persistently in the emotional chaos engendered by these controversial issues.

The "innocent" radicals, then, warmly hail the opportunity for massive change they think Vietnam and the racial struggle have brought. To the great American middle, their goals seem wildly unrealistic. But, in a curious way, they are pro-American. Many extremists, black, Red, or both, strike them as just the opposite.

Sterley, Gorman Give Views

Election Appraised

Democratic County leader Dr. Gerald P. Gorman said that he was "bitterly disappointed" with the results of Tuesday's election and John B. Sterley, GOP County chairman, declared that he was "very gratified" by the results.

Gorman said that the "resounding" Democratic defeat appeared to prevail throughout the state and that the Republicans had made "sizeable gains."

The county's top politicians diffused over the reasons for the stunning Republican victory in Ulster County, with Republican Sterley claiming that, "I believe that our candidates were representative of the citizens at large and capable of performing the duties of the office which they sought."

Dr. Gorman, on the other hand, felt that public identification of the Democrats with the defeated State Constitution and disenchantment with the national administration were powerful factors contributing to the Democratic defeat in Ulster County.

Sterley stated that Republican candidates "conducted a campaign in keeping with dignity," and he added, "I certainly am pleased and I want to thank all the party workers and all others who contributed to our great success."

Gorman said that he "did expect (John J.) Schick and (David M.) Bernovitz to get more votes" than they did, and he added that he believed the Democratic county judge and district attorney candidates "could possibly win."

The Democratic leader said that the defeat "was a setback in the two party system" and that there would be a "continuation of the same system" with a lack of "checks and balances."

Cites Corning Plan

Gorman claimed that he believed in the so-called Corning plan, allegedly offered by the Democratic Mayor of Albany Erastus Corning, which would have put the proposed State Constitution on the ballot in the spring, after the proper voter education program had been waged.

He claimed that the "high rankers" in the Democratic Party did not want it that way and it was subsequently offered as a "package plan" during the important county elections.

Gorman did say, however, that "most state constitutions were offered to the voters as package plans, as was the Federal Constitution."

The Kingston surgeon declared that he was "more than satisfied" with the results in the City of Kingston, where "unity and harmony" was present and the Democrats put on a "cohesive, good fight."

Sterley said that he did not believe "that the overwhelming defeat of the Constitution had any bearing on the results in Ulster County" but that he was "unable to venture a guess" as to the effects of the Vietnam War or the "declining popularity of the federal administration."

Letter Writing to Service Men in 1917 Develops Into Published News Column

CENTRAL CITY, Ky. (AP) — Four wars ago, "Mrs. H." had an idea how to make combat more bearable to the servicemen of Muhlenberg County.

She'd write to them. All of them.

It was 1917 and Mrs. Agnes Harralson was a young postmistress in a small western Kentucky coaltown named Graham, knowing too well who went letterless "over there."

Legendary Now

Fifty years later, the

71-year-old Mrs. H.'s unflagging correspondence is legendary among generations of soldiers in her county.

What's now a full-page, unpaid column—"The Service Star"—in The Central City Times-Argus began with an air-mailed round-robin letter to World War I and an answer:

"Miss A. I'd like to see the old Kaiser sweeping the streets of one of these little French towns and after every step, someone prodding him with a sharp bayonet. I can't think of any punishment horrible enough for the old bird." R. W. Walker; Tours, France, 1917.

World War II found her, a Sunday school teacher then, mimeographing the first Star which 500 servicemen from the county were to receive once a month.

"Lt. Mickey Edwards was wounded seriously during the push on Rome, Shrapnel. Both legs. He writes us he 'zigged' when he should have zagged." Star, July, 1944.

Korea erupted and Mrs. H.

was approached by Larry and Amos Stone who couldn't forget their well worn Stars of the last war. Now newspaper publishers, they offered her the page whenever she was ready.

Peaked at 500

Again, her mailing list peaked at another 500 soldiers.

"Miss A. Got the Star yesterday though our mail plane was shot down. The mail and parts of the Star were burned, but I read all I could." M. W. Whitmer aboard the USS Alvin C. Cockrell, December, 1950.

Then, Vietnam,

"Mrs. H., 12 of my friends just died. I can't write this to my mother and have her worry, but I had to tell somebody."

Mrs. H.'s doctor-husband died in 1951, leaving her with one son, John, now employed as a telephone manager in Louisville.

Every Sunday night, Mrs. H. sits down at her typewriter. And every Thursday she collects 136 papers, ripping out her column and mailing it once again with stamps paid for by local civic groups.

14 Persons Die as Train Hits Buffalo Herd

SALERNO, Italy (AP) — The two trains ran off the tracks. Milan-to-Palermo express tore through a wandering herd of buffalo and then into a derailed darkness just before dawn.

commuter train today and at least 14 passengers were killed and about 70 injured.

It was the third and worst fatal train crash in Italy in little more than two weeks and came just four days after 51 persons were killed when a train jumped its tracks in London.

Fifteen of the 31 cars in the Mutilated carcasses of the buffalo herd — approximately 50 head — stained a half-mile stretch of rails along Italy's southwest coast 36 miles south of Naples.

The buffalo were of a domesticated type found mostly in Italy and Hungary, raised mainly was work animals.

Drunk Driving Charge Against Corning Dropped

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A Republican judge today dismissed a charge lodged by State Police that Albany's Democratic mayor, Erastus Corning, was driving while intoxicated the night of Oct. 28.

Justice of the Peace Harry J. D'Agostino in suburban Colonie agreed with defense counsel that a blood test indicated lack of sufficient alcohol to sustain the charge. The trooper who made the arrest voiced no objection.

D'Agostino said he always dismissed such a charge if a blood test did not support it.

"Mr. Corning certainly is entitled to be treated like any other individual," the judge added.

The 58-year-old mayor was arrested by Trooper A.F. Cray, who said he found Corning seated behind the wheel of a halted automobile on the pavement of the Albany-Shaker Road.

A State Police laboratory report said a blood test given at Memorial Hospital showed eight hundredths of one per cent alcohol concentration in the blood stream. Under the law, there must be at least .10 per cent to establish impairment and .15 for intoxication.

Letter Writing to Service Men in 1917 Develops Into Published News Column

CENTRAL CITY, Ky. (AP) — Four wars ago, "Mrs. H." had an idea how to make combat more bearable to the servicemen of Muhlenberg County.

She'd write to them. All of them.

Legendary Now
Fifty years later, the

71-year-old Mrs. H.'s unflagging correspondence is legendary among generations of soldiers in her county.

What's now a full-page, unpaid column—"The Service Star"—in The Central City Times-Argus began with an air-mailed round-robin letter to World War I and an answer:

"Miss A. I'd like to see the old Kaiser sweeping the streets of one of these little French towns and after every step, someone prodding him with a sharp bayonet. I can't think of any punishment horrible enough for the old bird." R. W. Walker, Tours, France, 1917.

World War II found her, a Sunday school teacher then, mimeographing the first Star which 500 servicemen from the county were to receive once a month.

"Lt. Mickey Edwards was wounded seriously during the push on Rome. Shrapnel. Both legs. He writes us he 'zigged' when he should have zagged."

Star, July, 1944.

Korea erupted and Mrs. H.

was approached by Larry and Amos Stone who couldn't forget their well-worn Stars of the last war. Now newspaper publishers, they offered her the page whenever she was ready.

Peaked at 500
Again, her mailing list peaked at another 500 soldiers.

"Miss A. Got the Star yesterday though our mail plane was shot down. The mail and parts of the Star were burned, but I read all I could." M. W. Whitmer aboard the USS Alvin C. Cockrell, December, 1950.

Then, Vietnam.

"Mrs. H., 12 of my friends just died. I can't write this to my mother and have her worry. But I had to tell somebody."

Mrs. H.'s doctor-husband died in 1951, leaving her with one son, John, now employed as a telephone manager in Louisville.

Every Sunday night, Mrs. H. sits down at her typewriter. And every Thursday she collects 136 papers, ripping out her column and mailing it once again with stamps paid for by local civic groups.

BRIEFING — Richard Helms (right) director of the Central Intelligence Agency, briefed Congressional atomic energy experts Wednesday on Soviet missile strength, and the CIA testimony was described as "sobering." Helms is greeted by Chairman Henry Jackson (D-Wash.), as he arrived to testify at closed session of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Olive GOPers Win 7 of 8 Contests

Town of Olive voters Tuesday went to the polls in a moderate heavy turnout and elected a majority of Republican candidates despite a Democrat Conservative coalition.

Returns are as follows:

Town Clerk — Republican Oliver Crawford 845; Democrat Conservative Nancy Patterson 466.
Collector — Republican Gladys Van De Mark 496; Democrat Conservative Margaret Kunkle 863.
Supt. of Highways — Republican Marcel Maier 775; Democrat Conservative Howard Trowbridge 574.
Long Term Assessor — Republican James Clemmens 693; Democrat — Conservative Henry Rank 588.
Short Term Assessor — Republican James Quick 746; Democrat Conservative Robert Johansen 599.
Justice of the Peace — Republican Frank Carle 829; Democrat Conservative Donald Warren 462.
Town Councilman — Republican Everett Cook 710; Democrat Conservative Carl Olsen 633.

14 Persons Die as Train Hits Buffalo Herd

SALERNO, Italy (AP) — The Milan-to-Palermo express tore through a wandering herd of bank and into a field in the darkness just before dawn. Some of them tumbling down a hill and then into a derailed commuter train today and at least 14 passengers were killed and about 70 injured. Mutilated carcasses of the buffalo herd—approximately 50 head — stained a half-mile stretch of rails along Italy's tal train crash in Italy in little more than two weeks and came just four days after 51 persons were killed when a train jumped its tracks in London. The buffalo were of a domesticated type found mostly in Italy, and the train raised Fifteen of the 31 cars in the mainly was work animals.

Drunk Driving Charge Against Corning Dropped

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A Republican judge today dismissed a charge lodged by State Police that Albany's Democratic mayor, Erastus Corning, was driving while intoxicated the night of Oct. 28.

Justice of the Peace Harry J. D'Agostino in suburban Colonie agreed with defense counsel that a blood test indicated lack of sufficient alcohol to sustain the charge. The trooper who made the arrest voiced no objection.

D'Agostino said he always dismissed such a charge if a blood test did not support it.

"Mr. Corning certainly is entitled to be treated like any other individual," the judge added.
The 58-year-old mayor was arrested by Trooper A.F. Cray, who said he found Corning seated behind the wheel of a halted automobile on the pavement of the Albany Shaker Road.
A State Police laboratory report said a blood test given at Memorial Hospital showed eight hundredths of one per cent alcohol concentration in the blood stream. Under the law, there must be at least .10 per cent to establish impairment and .15 for intoxication.

St. Peter's Observing School Week

This year, St. Peter's School, Adams Street, is again observing National Catholic Education Week in conjunction with American Education Week, Nov. 5 through Nov. 12.

On Monday night, Nov. 6, and Tuesday night, Nov. 7, interested parents met with the teachers of their children to discuss progress in class work and new ideas of education.

Conferences such as these always prove valuable as a clearing house for problems and misunderstandings which might arise between teacher and student during the school year. In the past, parents have been invited to observe during school hours which also proves stimulating.

Four Incumbents Win in Wawarsing

Four out of five incumbents for town offices in Wawarsing were successful Tuesday in their bids for reelection. One Democrat Supervisor George Barthel failed to retain his seat and at the same time lost his race for county legislator as well.

He was opposed on the town level by Republican Frank W. Harkin who received 2,350 votes to Barthel's 1,982.

Incumbent Democrat Kenneth Mitchell, retained his post as town clerk defeating Republican candidate Dorothy F. Chase, 2,261 to 2,130.

Another incumbent, Harry Decker, Democrat superintendent of highways was successful over his opponent, 2,247 to 2,120.

Justice of the Peace Republican Herbert Poppel will serve another full term after gaining a 2,158 vote plurality over his Democrat opponent Saul Altholz. The tally shows a 3,275 votes for Poppel and 1,117 for Altholz.

W. LeLoise Craft, GOP councilman, was victorious in gaining reelection over his Democrat opponent Vincent P. Stanger with a vote of 2,605 to 1,754. The other council seat, not sought by an incumbent, went to Republican Jerome Z. Elkin who won over Sol Jargowsky, 2,513 to 1,736.

All elections figures, received from the town clerk, are unofficial.

Shawangunk GOPers Easy Poll Victors

Republicans tallied an easy victory Tuesday among Town of Shawangunk voters.

Supt. of Highways—Republican Henry Marl, 1,125; Democrat - Conservative Vincent Edmunds 891.

Long Term Assessor — Republican Adrian Decker 1,468; Democrat John Chernowski 528.

Justice of the Peace—Republican Oscar Smith 1,498; Democrat John Chernowski Jr. 519.

Town Councilman—Republican Lester Mack 1,370; Democrat Edward Buton 556; Conservative Peter Shipley 107.

Republicans Retain Seats in Denning

All incumbent Republicans in the Town of Denning were successful in retaining their seats during Tuesday's election.

Supervisor Harold Van Aken who ran on both the GOP and Democrat tickets received 127 Republican votes and 33 from Democrats for a total of 160, according to an unofficial tabulation of the election office.

Republican clerk, Lottie Buntin, who was unopposed, received 149 votes.

Susie Depew, like Van Aken ran on a dual ticket and received 129 votes from the Republicans and 40 from Democrats.

Incumbent superintendent of highways, Republican Benjamin Conklin received 99 votes to his Democrat opponent, Raymond M. Cole Jr.'s 75.

Assessor Harold Dymond, running on both tickets received a total of 163 votes. Unopposed Assessor William Rolfs, gleaned 124 Republican votes.

Justice of the Peace, Harry Bailey received 119 GOP votes opposed to Democrat John V. Higgins, 46.

A councilman's seat was won by Warren Cole with 128 votes on Row A and Richard Dickerman another Republican who defeated his Democrat opponent, C. R. Van Aken Jr., 110-56.

Cardinal Leger Resigns, Going To Lepor Work

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Paul Emile Cardinal Leger, one of the leading progressives in the Roman Catholic hierarchy, has resigned as archbishop of Montreal to do missionary work among lepers in foreign lands and Pope Paul VI has accepted his resignation.

The announcement by the Vatican today caused some surprise in church circles, since Cardinal Leger at 63 is 12 years below the retirement age for diocesan prelates and his post is an important one.

But Cardinal Leger for a long time has been urging the pontiff to release him from his post. It was believed the Pope's decision was delayed until after the bishops' synod last month.

Another North American cardinal, Archbishop Richard Cushing of Boston, has also long desired to leave his post to do missionary work in Latin America. But Cardinal Cushing is 72 and in frail health, and the Pope has not given his approval.

The Vatican also announced that the Pope's doctors are still giving him antibiotics to combat the slight fever he has been running for three days.

TRADING STAMPS...

When you receive trading stamps from a merchant, you're benefiting from an old American tradition...that of merchants rewarding customers for their patronage.

It's an American way of doing business that began in Sudbury, Vermont, in 1793, when a merchant issued tokens which his customers could redeem for gifts. Through the years this custom flourished and took many forms, such as coupons, soap wrappers, cigar bands...all redeemable for gifts.

More than 70 years ago trading stamps appeared on the American scene...still another version of the original 1793 "tokens for gifts."

Trading stamps are an extra you don't pay extra for. Other traditionally American versions of the same idea are the free road map at the service station, the after-dinner mints at a restaurant, the double-header at the ballpark, and the free snacks on a plane.

Like these other "extras," Blue Stamps are on the merchant...not you. They're his way of saying, "Thank you for your patronage" in the traditional American way.

TRADING STAMPS...

When you receive trading stamps from a merchant, you're benefiting from an old American tradition...that of merchants rewarding customers for their patronage.

It's an American way of doing business that began in Sudbury, Vermont, in 1793, when a merchant issued tokens which his customers could redeem for gifts. Through the years this custom flourished and took many forms, such as coupons, soap wrappers, cigar bands...all redeemable for gifts.

More than 70 years ago trading stamps appeared on the American scene...still another version of the original 1793 "tokens for gifts."

Trading stamps are an extra you don't pay extra for. Other traditionally American versions of the same idea are the free road map at the service station, the after-dinner mints at a restaurant, the double-header at the ballpark, and the free snacks on a plane.

Like these other "extras," Blue Stamps are on the merchant...not you. They're his way of saying, "Thank you for your patronage" in the traditional American way.

Cleveland Mayor-elect Picks New Police Chief

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Mayor-elect Carl B. Stokes picked Police Inspector Michael Blackwell Wednesday night to be his chief of police. Stokes had said during his campaign that if elected he would replace Chief Richard Wagner. Leaders in the Negro community have been critical of what they call poor police-community relations. Stokes, Cleveland's first Negro mayor, said that he and Blackwell agreed with the "basic recommendations" of a controversial Little Hoover Commission reported calling for more uniformed policemen on the streets and increased community relations efforts by the department. The 64-year-old Blackwell has the reputation of being a tough, racket-busting policeman. For the past 10 years he has been in charge of the basic patrol. Stokes called him "the man with the image, record and performance to meet the needs of fighting crime in the streets of Cleveland." Wagner, 54, who was appointed to the job by outgoing mayor Ralph S. Locher four years ago, had said before Tuesday's election that he would resign, whoever won. Blackwell was Stokes' third appointment. Shortly after he was announced as winner of the election he named attorney Joseph F. McManamon, a friend and former police sergeant, as safety director. James S. Carnes, a former assistant police prosecutor, was picked by Stokes as chief police prosecutor. All three appointees are white. Meanwhile, Republican Seth Taft has indicated that even though he congratulated Stokes Wednesday morning on his election he may still ask for a recount. A statement from Taft headquarters Wednesday night said the GOP candidate would wait to see the official results of Tuesday's election before deciding whether to ask for a recount. Stokes' margin of victory according to unofficial returns from the Board of Elections was a mere 2,501 votes out of a total vote of 257,157. He received 129,829 votes to 127,328 for Taft.

Synagogue News

Ahavath Israel

Congregation Ahavath Israel is a Conservative Congregation, affiliated with the United Synagogue of America, and Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman, the spiritual leader, is a member of the Rabbinical Assembly, the Conservative Rabbis' organization. Religious services are held every Friday 8 p. m., every Saturday 9:30 a. m. and at sundown, every Sunday 10 a. m., and weekdays 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. Junior Congregation conducts services in the children's chapel for children of all ages, every Saturday 11 a. m. At the Friday evening services the names of the Yahrzeiten to be observed during the week are mentioned and the Kaddish Prayer is read. This Friday evening Rabbi Schechtman will continue his sermons on the Aspects of Judaism, and speak about the uniqueness of Judaism, and the different characteristics of its religious ideals as compared to other faiths. The liturgy will be chanted by Cantor L. Larry Jacobs. The Oneg Shabbath that follows the services will be hosted by Mrs. Gert Tucker, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Esther Schwadron and Mrs. Muriel Weinstein. Saturday morning Rabbi Schechtman will officiate as chaplain of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, and deliver the address at the Veterans Day celebration at City Hall. The USY, the youth organization of the congregation, will meet on Sunday at 10 a. m. for religious services, followed by breakfast, and a meeting, followed by a social at 2 p. m. The Book Review Club met last Sunday evening, and selected as the book to be reviewed at its next meeting, which will be held on Dec. 17, Shoenfeld's The Passover Plot. The next adult education classes in Hebrew and Jewish ethics will meet on Tuesday, Nov. 21. The USY Sabbath Eve home observance and repast is being postponed to Friday evening, Nov. 17, at 5:30 p. m. As Jewish Chaplain of the Hudson River State Hospital, Rabbi Schechtman will be attending the Mental Hospital Chaplain's Convention, Tuesday and Wednesday at Grossinger's Hotel. The Talmud Torah of Kingston will meet at its regular schedule during the week at the school building of Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue.

Cleveland Mayor-elect Picks New Police Chief

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Mayor-elect Carl B. Stokes picked Police Inspector Michael Blackwell Wednesday night to be his chief of police. Stokes had said during his campaign that if elected he would replace Chief Richard Wagner. Leaders in the Negro community have been critical of what they call poor police-community relations. Stokes, Cleveland's first Negro mayor, said that he and Blackwell agreed with the "basic recommendations" of a controversial Little Hoover Commission reported calling for more uniformed policemen on the streets and increased community relations efforts by the department. The 64-year-old Blackwell has the reputation of being a tough, racket-busting policeman. For the past 10 years he has been in charge of the basic patrol. Stokes called him "the man with the image, record and performance to meet the needs of fighting crime in the streets of Cleveland." Wagner, 54, who was appointed to the job by outgoing Mayor Ralph S. Locher four years ago, had said before Tuesday's election that he would resign, whoever won. Blackwell was Stokes' third appointment. Shortly after he was announced as winner of the election he named attorney Joseph F. McManamon, a friend and former police sergeant, as safety director. James S. Carnes, a former assistant police prosecutor, was picked by Stokes as chief police prosecutor. All three appointees are white. Meanwhile, Republican Seth Taft has indicated that even though he congratulated Stokes Wednesday morning on his election he may still ask for a recount. A statement from Taft headquarters Wednesday night said the GOP candidate would wait to see the official results of Tuesday's election before deciding whether to ask for a recount. Stokes' margin of victory according to unofficial returns from the Board of Elections was a mere 2,501 votes out of a total vote of 257,157. He received 129,829 votes to 127,328 for Taft.

Ahavath Israel

Congregation Ahavath Israel is a Conservative Congregation, affiliated with the United Synagogue of America, and Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman, the spiritual leader, is a member of the Rabbinical Assembly, the Conservative Rabbis, organization. Religious services are held every Friday 8 p. m., every Saturday 9:30 a. m. and at sundown, every Sunday 10 a. m., and weekdays 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. Junior Congregation conducts services in the children's chapel for children of all ages, every Saturday 11 a. m. At the Friday evening services the names of the Yahrzeitim to be observed during the week are mentioned and the Kaddish Prayer is read.

This Friday evening Rabbi Schechtman will continue his sermons on the Aspects of Judaism, and speak about the uniqueness of Judaism, and the different characteristics of its religious ideals as compared to other faiths. The liturgy will be chanted by Cantor L. Larry Jacobs. The Oneg Shabbath that follows the services will be hosted by Mrs. Gert Tucker, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Esther Schwadron and Mrs. Muriel Weinstein.

Saturday morning Rabbi Schechtman will officiate as chaplain of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, and deliver the address at the Veterans Day celebration at City Hall.

The USY, the youth organization of the congregation, will meet on Sunday at 10 a. m. for religious services, followed by breakfast, and a meeting, followed by a social at 2 p. m.

The Book Review Club met last Sunday evening, and selected as the book to be reviewed at its next meeting, which will be held on Dec. 17, Shoenfeld's The Passover Plot.

The next adult education classes in Hebrew and Jewish ethics will meet on Tuesday, Nov. 21. The USY Sabbath Eve home observance and repast is being postponed to Friday evening, Nov. 17, at 5:30 p. m.

As Jewish Chaplain of the Hudson River State Hospital, Rabbi Schechtman will be attending the Mental Hospital Chaplain's Convention, Tuesday and Wednesday at Grossinger's Hotel.

The Talmud Torah of Kingston will meet at its regular schedule during the week at the school building of Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue.

RV Schedules Parent-Teacher Conferences

The afternoon of November 14, which has been set aside in the Rondout Valley Central School District for parent-teacher conferences, will see a different time schedule followed at Rondout Valley High School. Students will be released at 12 noon and no lunch will be served on that day. In the morning, the order of class periods will be A, B, C, D, and L.

Parents desiring to confer with teachers should make appointments according to the procedure outlined at the November 6th Open House and in a flyer sent home with students. Counselors will also be contacting parents for this purpose. Conference appointments may be made for the other four afternoons of the Nov. 13-17 week as well, until 3:30 p.m.

District elementary schools will follow the same release and lunch schedule observed on other half days. Dismissal time will be 1:15 p.m. and lunch will be served on the regular basis.

New Night Club Slates Opening

A new entertainment center, Walnut Grove, will open this weekend at Field Court, across from the Community Theater in Kingston.

According to Michael Spada, proprietor, adult entertainment will be offered nightly. Accommodations up to 600 are offered for weddings, banquets and all parties.

"We are now taking reservations for Christmas parties," Spada said.

Found Guilty In Shooting Death of Wife

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — William E. Myers, 39, of suburban North Chili, was found guilty of first degree manslaughter Wednesday in the fatal shooting of his wife Jan. 21, 1966.

Judge George D. Ogden of Monroe County Court set sentencing for Nov. 27 following the jury's verdict after more than five hours' deliberation.

Myers, accused in the pistol slaying of Ann M. Myers, 31, here, was charged originally with first degree murder. The charge was reduced to first degree manslaughter.

Police said Myers told them he was about to retire on the night of the shooting and took his licensed .32-caliber pistol from a shoulder holster. He said his wife sat up in bed and jarred his arm, causing the pistol to discharge.

Mrs. Kennedy Rests, Passes Up the Sights

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy passed up the sights of Bangkok today.

Mrs. Kennedy's host Wednesday night, Thai Premier Thanom Kittikachorn, was told she had an upset stomach and hastily added American-style food as an alternative to the spicy Thai curries.

But Charles Bartlett, the Washington newsman who is a member of Mrs. Kennedy's party, said today she is not ill. "She's just tired from all the travel. We really worked touring those temples at Angkor," he said.

The party spent a week in Cambodia, including three days climbing around the ruined temples of the ancient Khmer city of Angkor.

The former U.S. first lady was to have visited Thailand's National Museum today to view priceless collections of Buddha heads, sculpture and woodcarving 1,000 years old.

When the visit was canceled, Bartlett explained: "Mrs. Kennedy wants to rest up for the dinner tonight at the royal palace."

At the premier's dinner Mrs. Kennedy watched classical Thai dancing and "really enjoyed herself," Bartlett said.

One member of Mrs. Kennedy's party, Lord Harlech, the former British ambassador to Washington, left Wednesday night for London. The rest of the group, including Bartlett, his wife and Michael Forrestal, the son of the first U.S. secretary of defense, are to leave Friday night for the United States.

Sell Down to the Sleeping Point

Q—Upon advice from my broker I put all my eggs in one basket—and haven't slept too well since. I bought 500 shares of Spartans Industries at an average price of 30. He says that the stock will go much higher—at this point I wish I had his confidence. I would greatly appreciate any advice you can give me.—R. C.

A—The elder J. P. Morgan was once approached by a friend who said he couldn't sleep because of his large stock holdings. "What shall I do?" he asked. "Sell down to the sleeping point," replied Morgan. I believe you should ignore your broker's advice and sell down to your sleeping point, perhaps the 100-share level. I like Spartans as a speculation on able chairman Bassine's ability to improve margins, but there is nothing in this or any other situation that warrants violating a basic rule of investment which is diversification. There is nothing theoretical about this principle. It simply recognizes the fact that all stocks fluctuate and contain an element of risk—and that this risk should be spread over a number of issues, so that trouble for one situation can't ruin you. I suggest that you sell 400 shares of Spartans and invest the proceeds in such issues as Marshall Field, RCA, Plough and Becton and Dickinson—all sound and potentially profitable.

Q—Did I see in your column that certain Treasury notes selling at a discount could be used to pay federal income taxes?—C. N.

A—I'm sorry to say that you are wrong. I said that certain Treasury bonds could be tendered at par in payment of federal estate taxes, if actually owned by the decedent at time of death. There are 22 such issues outstanding and I would select for this purpose the bond which sells at the greatest discount. These currently are the 3 1/2% of 1968, selling at around 76.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

Dutchess Woman Dies, Hurt in N.H. Crash

NEW LONDON, N.H. (AP)—Marcia Green, 24, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y., an English teacher at Colby Junior College here, died Wednesday as a result of injuries sustained in an auto crash, police reported.

Police said the teacher died at a New London Hospital. She had been injured in a two-car crash on Route 11 in Wilmet late Saturday. Her death brought the state's highway fatality toll for the year to 136.

She was a passenger in an auto operated by Thomas Busio, 24, of Feeding Hills, Mass., police said. The car tried to make a left turn and was struck in the rear by an auto operated by Thomas Broughton, 21, of Penacook, police said.

The Busio car was knocked off the road and came to rest on its side, police said.

Incumbents Prevail In 19 of 22 Races

The voters of the Towns of Plattkill, Lloyd, and Marbletown appear to have great faith in their incumbent office holders because of the 22 town posts open 19 of the candidates were reelected.

Plattkill
In Plattkill the entire slate of Republican incumbents were returned to office by substantial margins.

Supervisor George Sisto Jr. received 1,091 votes to Democrat Joseph O. Hasbrouck's 577. Town Clerk Edith C. Wager won out over Democrat Carmen L. Perez 1,086 to 474.

Mrs. Wager led the ticket in this race.
Collector Adelaide Martino beat out challenger Marie C. Rametta 1,078 to 463. Superintendent of Highways Lester A. Wager Sr. edged out Salvatore Apuzzo 960 to 612. Four-year Assessor Russell Minard got 978 votes to Peter Scagnelli's 598, and two-year Assessor Frank Piniro got 1,003 votes to Robert Eichler's 553.

Frank E. Borean was reelected to a full term as justice of the peace with 1,068 votes to Edward Porcelli's tally of 504. Salvatore Dolcemercato received 960 votes on the GOP ticket to Democrat Robert A. Napoli's 598.

There were no splinter party endorsements in the race.

Lloyd
Five Democratic incumbents won in Lloyd, along with one political newcomer, and the Republican Justice of the Peace was reelected also.

Supervisor Thomas J. Shay Jr. mustered 1,459 votes to Edward J. Gona's 937. Town Clerk Vincent J. Gaffney ran unopposed and received 2,404 votes with Democratic, Republican, and Liberal backing.

Peter Anella was reelected as superintendent of highways with 1,422 votes to George Real-muto's 982, and Cos A. Trapani was reelected four-year assessor with 1,500 votes to Robert D. Casper's 899. William E. Knapp became the two-year assessor again with a combined 1,292 votes to Arthur R. J. Walkley's 924 votes.

Linn Baker, the incumbent justice of the peace, was the single Republican to win, and he was reelected to the post with 1,315 votes to Joseph G. Paver's 1,091. Albert Lester ran unopposed for the post of town councilman and got 1,388 votes.

All the Democrats had Liberal endorsements.

Marbletown was the only race in the county where the voters were offered only one slate of candidates—all Republicans.

Supervisor Roy J. Webber got 1,153 votes, Town Clerk Lillian K. Quick received 1,176, and Superintendent of Highways Jesse Williams got 1,121 votes.

Four-year Assessor position went to newcomer Benjamin Van Wagnen. He got 1,142 votes. Incumbent James J. Chick, two-year assessor, received 1,089 tally, and Justice of the Peace Edmund Ruffner got 1,113 votes.

Ronald C. Roosa became the new town councilman with 1,139 votes.

There were no splinter endorsements.

NEW YORK (AP)—A groping stock market put on a mixed showing early Thursday. Trading was active.

A few more stock fell than rose. Spotty strength among blue chips, however, brought a slight gain to the Dow Jones industrial average.

Some of the glamor stocks, upset in late Wednesday's retreat from a big morning rally, made gains.

E. G. & G. spurted 1 1/2 and Polaroid recouped 3 points or so.

Mrs. Henry Named To Staff of UCCC

Mrs. Jean Elwyn Henry, Kingston, has been appointed to the staff at Ulster County Community College to handle institutional research and federal legislation.

Mrs. Henry, who will work closely with President George B. Erbsstein, will have special concern in accreditation, State University master planning and college development.

Mrs. Henry is the daughter of the late George H. Elwyn, a prominent Woodstock businessman and Mrs. Hazel Elwyn, now of Kingston.

She was valedictorian of her class at Kingston High School and was graduated summa cum laude from Smith College with a B.A. degree in History. She received her M.A. degree from major in Public Law and Government.

Mrs. Henry has a varied background. She has been associated with the Council on Foreign Relations, the League of Nations, the Council of Social Agencies, and Fairleigh Dickinson University. In her most recent position, she served as administrative assistant to the Director of Development at Drew University in Madison, N. J.

John (Jocko) Moffitt of Box 351, Old Wagon Road, Woodstock, was convicted Wednesday night after trial before Justice of the Peace Calvin Cady, Town of Saugerties, of charges of criminal nuisance, a violation of the new penal law.

Moffitt received a 30-day suspended jail sentence and was placed on probation for three years.

The charge stemmed from a disturbance marked by loud Bongo music and noise during a Labor Day weekend affair on the Speis Farm on Glasco Turnpike, Town of Saugerties.

Moffitt was arrested by Sheriff William B. Martin on Sept. 6. Witnesses, for the prosecution included Sheriff Martin, County Investigator Harold T. Bowers, Deputy Sheriff Michael Gioronda, Mrs. Joseph Mizerek, Frank Liebel, Joseph Mizerek, Robert Marex, Joseph Piccarillo, Marion Piccarillo, and Alex Oceana.

Numerous complaints were made to the sheriff's office by residents in the vicinity of the Sound Off party. Francis Vogt, assistant district attorney, appeared for the prosecution at last night's trial. Moffitt was represented by Attorney Daniel Lamb.

Drunk Driving Charged Against Saugerties Man

Thomas Schultz, a 24-year old Saugerties man, arrested Wednesday and charged with driving while intoxicated, is slated to be arraigned in City Court Friday, police said.

Schultz was taken into custody after striking two parked autos with his vehicle, was released from county jail today on $100 bail. He is also accused of being an unlicensed driver.

Police said Schultz smashed two cars parked along Andrew Street yesterday around 5:30 p. m. Prior to his arrest police received complaints that a man operating a car with license plates matching Schultz's vehicle was traveling about town attempting to pick-up girls, police records indicate.

However, police said there was no evidence that Schultz was the man described in police records.

According to officials, the cars were hit when the defendant allegedly smashed an auto registered to John C. Smith of 59 Andrew Street. Police stated the Smith auto rolled into a utility pole, rolled off and rammed a vehicle owned by Joseph F. Schrowang of 3 Andrew Street.

Schultz was confined in the Ulster County jail during the night, police concluded.

Bank of England Interest Rate Now at 6 1/2 Pct.

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England raised its interest rate a further half per cent today to 6 1/2 per cent.

A Bank of England statement said:

"Since the bank rate was raised to 6 per cent on Oct. 19, there have developed further pressures towards higher short term interest rates in other international markets.

"These pressures have had their effect on sterling on the exchange markets. A further rise in the bank rate to 6 1/2 per cent has therefore become necessary.

The increase was not unexpected. Britain's trade figures for October—to be announced next Tuesday—are likely to be disappointing because of the London and Liverpool dock strikes.

Financial experts said the government was anxious to avoid giving an impression of panic by increasing the interest rate soon after issuing disappointing trade figures.

It was the second time within a month that Britain's prime interest rate had been raised. On Oct. 19, the rate was increased from 5 1/2 to 6 per cent.

The Bank of England rate governs all the country's interest rates.

Earlier in the year the rate had been cut on three occasions by one-half per cent each time, bringing it down from the so-called crisis level of 7 per cent.

Chlorine Gas Leak Downtown

Chlorine gas, a deadly product used in purifying water, escaping from a hose leak at the Sewage Treatment Plant on E. Strand Street, was brought under control this morning by Kingston firemen.

Despatched to the scene were a fire truck and engine, firemen said. The alarm was sounded at approximately 10:35 a. m.

A spokesman for the Dept. of Public Works said a line presumably broke emitting the deadly poison. At last report huge fans were being used to clear the station house, the spokesman noted.

Ulster Planners Meet 14th

The Town of Ulster Planning Board is rescheduling its regular monthly meeting from Monday, Nov. 13 to Tuesday, Nov. 14. The reason for the change is due to the fact that the Town Board has scheduled a public hearing on the proposed Ulster Sewer District for Monday night at Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

Chairman Edward J. Devine said that important issues are due to be discussed at the planning board meeting and since the proposed sewer district is an important issue also he rescheduled the planning board meeting for one day.

The planning board will review in detail the revised map the town received on the proposed realignment of Route 9W. Both the town and the planning board have spent considerable time with the state on this major arterial route and Chairman Devine said that it has been worth every minute of it as the new map points out that the town has won this very important issue. The state has shifted the road as suggested by the town.

The planning board also will meet at the Grange Hall at 7:30 p. m.

Sullivan Water Grant

Governor Rockefeller announced today a Pure Waters program grant of $784,405 for construction of a new sewage treatment facility in the Town of Fallsburgh, Sullivan County.

The town, which is under State Health Department order to construct adequate sewage facilities, plans to build a new treatment plant, pumping station, force main and interceptor at a total estimated cost of $1,329,500.

"This Pure Waters program grant of $784,405," Gov. Rockefeller said, "includes a basic 30 per cent State grant of $398,850 and prefinancing of an additional $385,555 or 29 per cent of the Federal share. Because of the inadequacy of Federal appropriations, the immediate Federal construction grant is only $13,295 or one per cent of the total. A Federal grant application has been forwarded to the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration."

"Fallsburgh is in the drainage basin of the Neversink and Delaware Rivers and the existing facilities were found to be inadequate to meet the effluent date an ultimate summer population of 12,000 by the year 1980. We are pleased to assist this town to meet State requirements for the health of a rapidly expanding population."

Ferroxcube Lists Changes In Two Executive Offices

RONALD T. AVERY

DONALD T. BEST

Promotion of Ronald T. Avery to the position of assistant product manager, recording heads, and appointment of Donald T. Best to the post of chief engineer for magnetic recording has been announced by officials of Ferroxcube Corporation in Saugerties.

James Robinson, director of planning at Ferroxcube, made the announcement of Avery's promotion, and the appointment of Best was made known by Dr. Charles Kriessman, vice president, engineering.

Avery, who came to Ferroxcube in 1966 as an engineer in the recording head department, is a graduate of Rochester Institute of Technology with a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering. He did graduate work at Northeastern University in Boston. Before coming to Ferroxcube, Avery was associated with Honeywell, Inc.

Ferroxcube Corporation manufactures ferrite cores and devices, memory components and systems and recording heads for the computer, aerospace, microwave and electronics industries.

A new ferrite material, with greater temperature stability than previously available materials, developed primarily for use in pulse transformers, has been announced by Jan van der Poel, linear ferrite manager for Ferroxcube. Four small toroid sizes are now available with the new 3B11 ferrite material. Samples of the toroids are available for customer evaluation, with quantity pricing available upon request.

Best, who holds a B.E.E. from Villanova University and an M.S.E.E. from the University of Pennsylvania, joined Ferroxcube earlier this year as Manager of Engineering Activities for Magnetic Recording. Prior to his joining Ferroxcube, Best was associated with UNIVAC, where he was responsible for the development of an experimental magnetic recording system for the U. S. Army.

Author of a number of papers in the area of digital recording and magnetics, Best was associated with the Burroughs Corporation where he was a Project Engineer in charge of magnetic recording research. He also served as a Mathematics Instructor at LaSalle College.

A member of The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers and The Scientific Research Society of America, Best

Hercules Changes

Three changes of assignment within the Advertising Department of Hercules Incorporated have been announced by C. W. Eurenus, director of the department which encompasses both Advertising and Public Relations functions.

William L. Kitchel, formerly manager of advertising, has been named assistant director of the Advertising Department; Richard B. Douglas has been appointed manager of the Public Relations Division; Ashworth Burslem has been named manager of Press Relations.

Pangburn Attends Insurance Session

Kenneth P. Pangburn, secretary and assistant treasurer of the Colonial Cooperated Insurance Company of Kingston, attended the 71st annual convention of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies, of which he is a director, in St. Louis, Missouri.

While at the meeting, Pangburn attended two meetings of the Board of Directors and was appointed to the nominating committee which will recommend new officers of the Association.

In addition to being a director of the National Association, Pangburn is a member of its membership committee and chairman of the management committee. In the latter capacity he is responsible for coordinating a series of articles to the membership in the National Insurance Magazine. A Registered Insurance Consultant in New York state, Pangburn is a member of the Education Committee for the Mutual Insurance Company Management School at Pennsylvania State University. He received his Insurance Institute of America diploma in 1964.

He is a member of Kingston Lodge 10, the Shrine, and Cyprus Temple of Albany in the Masonic order. He is married, has two daughters and resides at 10 Clifton Terrace, Kingston.

Penn-Dixie Firm Purchases Stock

Penn-Dixie Cement Corporation announced today that it has reached an agreement in principle to purchase approximately 900,000 shares of the common stock of Fulton Industries. This represents 43 per cent of the outstanding common stock of Fulton. Further details of the transaction were not disclosed.

Jerome Castle, President of Penn-Dixie, stated: "We are making this investment in Fulton because of our confidence in its future. We consider this investment a significant step forward in furthering our diversification effort and in lessening our dependence upon a single industry."

Penn-Dixie is a leading manufacturer of cement, crushed stone and steel products. Fulton Industries is a diversified manufacturer of industrial textiles, farm machinery and precision castings. Penn-Dixie sales for the 9 month period ending Sept. 30, 1967 were $52,286,572. Net income for that period was $1,877,962. Fulton Industries sales for the 40 week period ending Sept. 2, 1967 were $77,593,054. Net loss for that period was $546,932. The agreement is subject to the approval of the directors of Penn-Dixie.

Ferroxcube Lists Changes In Two Executive Offices

presently holds four patents, with about 25 others either disclosed or applied for.

Best, his wife Maureen, and their four children reside in Kingston.

James Robinson, director of planning at Ferroxcube, made the announcement of Avery's promotion, and the appointment of Best was made known by Dr. Charles Kriessman, vice president, engineering.

Avery, who came to Ferroxcube in 1966 as an engineer in the recording head department, is a graduate of Rochester Institute of Technology with a B.S. in Mechanical Engineering. He did graduate work at Northeastern University in Boston. Before coming to Ferroxcube, Avery was associated with Honeywell, Inc.

Avery resides in Saugerties with his wife and two daughters. Ferroxcube Corporation manufactures ferrite cores and devices, memory components and systems and recording heads for the computer, aerospace, microwave and electronics industries.

A new ferrite material, with greater temperature stability than previously available materials, developed primarily for use in pulse transformers, has been announced by Jan van der Poel, linear ferrite manager for Ferroxcube. Four small toroid sizes are now available with the new 3B11 ferrite material. Samples of the toroids are available for customer evaluation, with quantity pricing available upon request.

Best, who holds a B.E.E. from Villanova University and an M.S.E.E. from the University of Pennsylvania, joined Ferroxcube earlier this year as Manager of Engineering Activities for Magnetic Recording. Prior to his joining Ferroxcube, Best was associated with UNIVAC, where he was responsible for the development of an experimental magnetic recording system for the U. S. Army.

Author of a number of papers in the area of digital recording and magnetics, Best was associated with the Burroughs Corporation where he was a Project Engineer in charge of magnetic recording research. He also served as a Mathematics Instructor at LaSalle College.

A member of The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers and The Scientific Research Society of America, Best

Pangburn Attends Insurance Session

Kenneth P. Pangburn, secretary and assistant treasurer of the Colonial Cooperated Insurance Company of Kingston, attended the 71st annual convention of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies, of which he is a director, in St. Louis, Missouri.

While at the meeting, Pangburn attended two meetings of the Board of Directors and was appointed to the nominating committee which will recommend new officers of the Association.

In addition to being a director of the National Association, Pangburn is a member of its membership committee, and chairman of the management committee. In the latter capacity he is responsible for coordinating a series of articles to the membership in the National Insurance Magazine.

A Registered Insurance Consultant in New York state, Pangburn is a member of the Education Committee for the Mutual Insurance Company Management School at Pennsylvania State University. He received his Insurance Institute of America diploma in 1964.

He is a member of Kingston Lodge 10, the Shrine, and Cyprus Temple of Albany in the Masonic order. He is married, has two daughters and resides at 10 Clifton Terrace, Kingston.

Penn-Dixie Firm Purchases Stock

Penn-Dixie Cement Corporation announced today that it has reached an agreement in its future. We consider this principle to purchase approximately 900,000 shares of the common stock of Fulton Industries. This represents 43 percent of the outstanding common stock of Fulton. Further details of the transaction were not disclosed.

Jerome Castle, President of Penn-Dixie, stated: "We are making this investment in Full-farm machinery and precision castings. Penn-Dixie sales for the 9 month period ending Sept. 30, 1967 were $52,286,572. Net income for that period was $1,877,962. Fulton Industries sales for the 40 week period ending Sept. 2, 1967 were $77,593,054. Net loss for that period was $346,932.

The agreement is subject to the approval of the directors of Penn-Dixie.

Bowman Sweeps Hardenbergh's 97

Must Pay Tax On View From Empire State

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — "The world's most spectacular view" is entertainment so admissions to the observations towers of the Empire State building are subject to the state sales tax, an appeals court has ruled.

The State Supreme Court's Appellate Division, Third Department, advanced that decision Wednesday in answer to a protest by owners of the Empire State that use of the building was educational and therefore not taxable.

In 1966, the owners paid under protest $129,000 for the state's two per cent sales tax on amusement admissions.

The court noted, however, that the owners used advertisements urging people to buy tickets and "thrill to the glittering excitement of New York at night—the world's most spectacular view."

The view is entertaining, the court said, and thus the towers are places of entertainment.

The admissions are exempt from New York City's sales tax.

Only 97 persons cast their ballot in the Town of Hardenbergh Tuesday, giving all 97 votes to Republican incumbent supervisor Bowman Owen who was unopposed in the election. Republicans were equally successful in capturing all other town offices.

Incumbents retaining their posts were: Town Clerk Mill-cent Buerge who was victorious over Alive E. Nichols, 94 to 31; Vivian Armstrong, who was unopposed for collector and received 95 votes and Robert Barnhart, superintendent of highways who defeated Lyman H. Todd, 66 to 61.

Assessor Hugh Barnhart won over his opponent 84-37 and Assessor Evan O. Todd defeated Charles Delameter, 82-40.

New seats as Justice of the Peace and councilman were won by Marks Buerge with 94 votes to his opponent Kenneth Simpson's 27 for the JP post and Larry Baker with 92 to 30 over Joseph Mami for the council seat.

Symbolic Honeymoon
MATSUYAMA, Japan (AP) — It was a symbolic honeymoon for 12 couples—a walk among the scenic beauties of this city on the Inland Sea—but the couples couldn't be there. They had set out to honeymoon in Matsuyama last Nov. 13. Their airliner crashed, killing all 50 persons aboard. Relatives carried black-draped pictures of the couples, taken at their weddings, in the silent procession Wednesday.

Eichler Persists, Wins This Time

What does a man do after he has failed four times to get himself elected to a town office?

For 16 years, George Eichler of Woodstock has sought election as town clerk, Justice of the Peace and twice as councilman on the Democratic ticket. Each time he was beaten resoundingly.

Undaunted and still feeling the people should "Let George do it," Eichler decided to give it a try once again, this time for the post of assessor.

How did he fare in Tuesday's election?

He won — handsomely! beating his opponent, William Kronenberg, 1358 to 1052.

How did he do it? As a Republican!

Vote Recount
A recount of the vote for one of the Republican-won council seats in Saugerties will be undertaken at the Board of Election office this week, according to Frank Costello, Democratic Town Chairman.

Nineteen votes separate Republican George A. Turner from his Democrat opponent, Howard Wittenbecher, as recorded by the town clerk.

Turner gleaned 2,752 votes to Wittenbecher's 2,733. Another trailing Democrat with 2,660 votes, Robert E. Gardner will also be asked if he wishes his votes recounted, Costello said.

Teller Ready
LOUISVILLE (AP) — Some of the customers at Arthur McCarty's bank always put the bite on him, especially at the drive-in window.

On McCarty's instructions, the teller always keeps a box of dog biscuits alongside the window. When a motoring customer drives up, the teller reaches out with a pellet for the pet sitting beside the driver.

Dangerous Job
DENVER (AP) — A process server, Calvin Smith, went to a stockyard auction to serve a complaint and became an unwilling bidder for an Angus calf.

When Smith pointed his finger at the man to whom he wanted to hand the subpoena, the auctioneer called, "I'm bid $400." But Smith didn't have to buy the calf—someone else bid $500.

Testimonial Dinner Plans Complete for Dr. Jacobson

Program arrangements have been announced for the testimonial dinner planned in honor of Dr. Joseph Jacobson.

The dinner will be given by Congregation Agudas Achim, Dr. Jacobson's synagogue, in tribute to his many years of service to the congregation and the community. The event is set for Sunday evening, Nov. 19, at the Granit Hotel, Accord. A cocktail hour is scheduled for 6 p. m., followed by the dinner.

The committee urges early reservations. The dinner is open to the public. All those who would like to attend may contact Mrs. Herman Schneider, Mrs. Milton Paige or Mrs. Morton Levine before Nov. 10.

Manuel Lipton, president of the congregation, will serve as toastmaster. Cantor Herman Slomovits of Agudas Achim will lead the singing of the National Anthem, followed by an invocation by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn of Temple Emanuel.

Brief tributes will be given by Raymond W. Garraghan, mayor of Kingston; Rabbi H. Z. Rapaport of Agudas Achim; George Rusk, president, Kingston Savings Bank; Dr. Fred W. Holcomb Sr., of County Medical Society; Alfred D. Ronder, president, Savings and Loan Association of Kingston; Dr. William C. Willentz, a college roommate of the honored guest; Isaac Jacobson, the surgeon's brother; and David Barnovitz, secretary of the synagogue. Main address will be given by Isidore Bookstein of Albany, retired judge of the State Supreme Court.

Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman of Congregation Ahavath Israel will deliver the benediction.

A program of entertainment and dancing will follow the dinner.

Several hundred are expected to join in this honor to Dr. Jacobson, a committee spokesman noted. Reservations have come from many in the Hudson Valley whose lives have been touched by Dr. Jacobson in his many years of practice as a surgeon. "Our evening is planned solely as a tribute to him," a committee representative said.

Mental Health Film Available

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health, announces that a new film is available in this area for free loan to civic and community groups, and also to schools.

"Post Mortem" is a film which documents the traumatic effects which certain patent drugs can have on a person's safe driving ability. It emphasizes lack of understanding on the part of the public of these readily available drugs and medicines. The importance of reading labels and descriptions is underlined.

The film last ten minutes, is 16 mm. and is in color. Information concerning the film may be obtained by contacting the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, 27 East O'Reilly Street. The office is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The association is a local voluntary organization, and is a member agency of the Community Chest. It seeks to promote positive mental health through a variety of educational services; provide information on mental health services and local treatment facilities, and on careers in the field of mental health. In addition certain volunteer services to parents and families are also provided. Membership is invited.

Several hundred are expected to join in this honor to Dr. Jacobson, a committee spokesman noted. Reservations have come from many in the Hudson Valley whose lives have been touched by Dr. Jacobson in his many years of practice as a surgeon. "Our evening is planned solely as a tribute to him," a committee representative said.

Mental Health Film Available

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health, announces that a new film is available in this area for free loan to civic and community groups, and also to schools.

"Post Mortem" is a film which documents the traumatic effects which certain patent drugs can have on a person's safe driving ability. It emphasizes lack of understanding on the part of the public of these readily available drugs and medicines. The importance of reading labels and descriptions is underlined.

The film last ten minutes, is 16 mm. and is in color. Information concerning the film may be obtained by contacting the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, 27 East O'Reilly Street. The office is open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The association is a local voluntary organization, and is a member agency of the Community Chest. It seeks to promote positive mental health through a variety of educational services; provide information on mental health services and local treatment facilities, and on careers in the field of mental health. In addition certain volunteer services to parents and families are also provided. Membership is invited.

Teller Ready

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Some of the customers at Arthur McCarty's bank always put the bite on him, especially at the drive-in window.

Dangerous Job

DENVER (AP) — A process server, Calvin Smith, went to a stockyard auction to serve a complaint and became an unwilling bidder for an Angus calf.

Student Elections Mirror Excitement of Real Thing

As the whirl of election excitement stills in Ulster County and across the nation, junior high schoolers at Myron J. Michael School take a long look at their student council elections just completed.

With all the fervor of seasoned campaigners, students conducted authentic pre-election activities, registration and election with voting machines.

During the last week in September, after students had an opportunity to become acquainted, each homeroom class elected two students to serve as student council representative and alternate.

During the first week in October, Peter A. Incalcaterra, vice principal of MJM, who serves as faculty adviser to the organization, called a meeting of Student Council to discuss plans for election of officers. The group is asked to select one of three alternatives relative to nominations:

Closed nominations which will limit nominations to those in the organization;

Open nominations which will permit the nomination of any student in the school; or Nomination by petition which will require the student who seeks candidacy to secure a limited number of signatures on a petition.

Closed Nominations

This year the students selected the first alternative—closed nominations—and proceeded to nominate for

Vice president, Elaine Noonan, Joann Potter, and Jackie Steltz;

Secretary, Linda Carpino, Frances Sergio, and Elizabeth Waters;

Treasurer, Donna Gaddis, Sal Greco, Mary Jane Freer, Chris Joyet, and Debbie Whittaker.

The close of nominations "kicked off" a two-week election campaign which included political announcements and speeches, a convention, voter registration and terminated with the actual voting. During the two-week campaign period, candidates were encouraged to display posters, make political announcements on the public address system, and seek the advice of their parents and teachers and the help of their friends in conducting their individual campaigns.

Voter Registration
The third week of October is Voter Registration Week. Candidates for officers to Student Council serve as registrars at tables set up in the lobby of the main entrance to the school.

The purpose of this is twofold: Candidates must give up part of their lunch period to serve as registrars. This teaches them that candidacy requires active participation and a certain amount of sacrifice of ordinary free time. Other students are told that they must register in order to be eligible to vote. Here, too, they must give up a few minutes of one of their lunch periods and go to this specially designated place. This teaches them that voting is a right and privilege and, like any right and privilege, it necessitates a certain amount of initiative, sacrifice and responsibility.

The Convention Assembly is held during the third week of October. The candidates are formally introduced to the student body and each candidate makes a short speech which outlines his "platform" and solicits voter support. "Demonstrations" are encouraged. The Convention Assembly is usually one of the most exciting parts of the entire process. Last year it resulted in an organized "write-in"; this year one student was "drafted" to candidacy by overwhelming popular request.

Election Days

Three days—one day for each grade level—during the fourth week of October are designated Election Days. Students in the Special Class conduct the election under the direction and supervision of their teacher, Richard Davis. Rotating assignments, these students serve as poll-checkers, help with the operation of the voting machine, and serve in a variety of capacities to insure an honest and successful election. Students report to the polling place during their regularly scheduled social studies class under the direction and supervision of their regular social studies teacher.

The results of the election are announced by the vice principal on the morning following the last day of voting. Successful candidates were: Chuck Schoonmaker, president; Jacqueline Steltz, vice president; Elizabeth Waters, secretary, and Sal Greco, treasurer.

Mrs. Mildred DeWitt of Kingston High School, faculty adviser to their student council, makes the voting machine available to students. William E. Powers of the Board of Elections offered advice and assistance in setting up the machines.

Putting their elders to shame 92 per cent of the students registered voted.

Shandaken Contest Marked by Upset

First Democratic tax collector in the Town of Shandaken in many years was elected over the Republican incumbent in Tuesday's election.

Lindsay R. Hoyt defeated Charles H. Griffin, 670 to 627, in the upset.

Ralph Bush was returned as town supervisor with a 674 to 662 over his opponent Nash E. Dunham who ran on the Democratic-Conservative ticket.

Town clerk — Raymond J. Dunn, Republican incumbent 932 over Democrat Allan Hagadorn's 361.

Superintendent of highways — Republican incumbent Claude E. Rowe, 885, over Democrat Clarence Kurtz who polled 422.

Councilman—Marian Umhey, Republican incumbent, 808, to Democrat Mary Whitefield's 444.

Justice of the Peace—Edwin L. France, Republican incumbent, over Democrat Paul E. Herdman, 701 to 581.

Guard Nassau Vote Machines In Close Race

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — After the closest race for county executive in the history of Nassau County, a round-the-clock police guard has been placed on the 1,100 voting machines, vote tabulations and absentee ballots in the Board of Elections offices.

The guard was ordered Wednesday by William D. Meisner, Republican member of the board.

The board is expected to start Friday on the official count of Tuesday's election results.

Final but unofficial figures from the board showed that Eugene H. Nickerson, the Democratic incumbent, was elected to a third term by a plurality of 3,286 out of 542,914 votes cast.

Backers of Sol Wachtler, the Republican candidate, are expected to demand a recount if the official tally still shows Nickerson the winner.

Nickerson, who was backed by the Liberal party as well as the Democrats, was credited with 241,178 votes to 237,892 for Wachtler, town supervisor of North Hempstead.

A. Werner Pleus, the Conservative party candidate, was credited with 58,496 votes and James F. Holwell, candidate of the United for Peace Party, with 5,346.

Wachtler's apparent loss to Nickerson by such a narrow margin was widely attributed to the strong showing by Pleus. The Conservative party has an enrollment of only 4,133 voters in Nassau County.

No Trace Yet Of Girl, 16

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Police say they found no substance to a report that Elizabeth Schoeneck, 16, daughter of Republican State Chairman Charles Schoeneck of Syracuse, was seen Wednesday in an automobile in this city's downtown.

After an extensive investigation, police said they had discovered a trace of the auto or Miss Schoeneck, who disappeared Oct. 31 and was believed to have been headed for the hippie sections of New York City.

Earlier Wednesday, Syracuse police had a report the girl was seen shortly after noon on Erie Boulevard with three other girls in a car bearing Iowa license plates.

A man in Oregon complained about funny noises in his electric organ. It turned out that his musical instrument was picking up short-wave messages and broadcasting them into his living room.

Kingston Town In GOP Column

Final returns in the Town of Kingston, including absentee ballots, indicate a virtual triumph through the entire ticket for the GOP.

Donald E. Patton Jr., Republican candidate for supervisor, scored 191 to his Democrat opponent, William Gertz's 119.

Supt. of Highways—Republican Thomas Malone 161; Democrat Melvin Burton 128.

Assessor—Republican Joseph Carcamo 180; Democrat James Barton 128.

Town Councilman — Republican Karl Schuerzinger 172; Democrat Ray Hulsair 163.

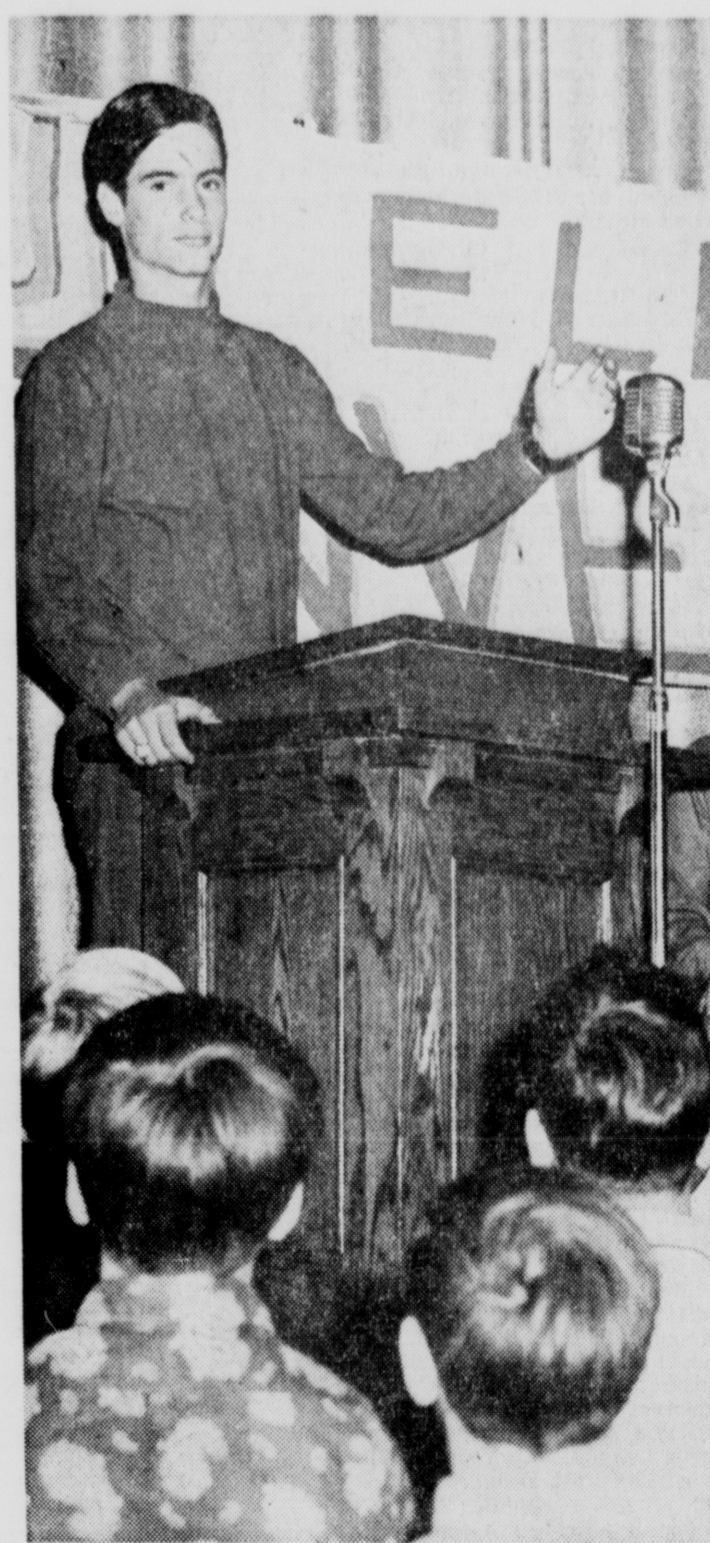

Town Councilman — Republican — Leo Stauble 178; Democrat Joseph Deciano 99.

Polite Robber

BYERS, Tex. (AP) — Three men, described as "about average in height and looks," robbed First National Bank of $35,557 Wednesday.

The bank's secretary, Mrs. Bonnie Ford, was in the bank with three women tellers and a customer.

"Where is the safe, ma'am," she quoted one robber as saying, remarking that he seemed very polite.

Not Impossible

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Johnson's chief economic adviser says it would be difficult but not impossible to get the administration's proposed tax increase through Congress this year.
Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, told a news conference Wednesday that the tax hike was needed to avert potentially serious trouble with respect to prices.
"We certainly haven't given up on it," Ackley declared. "It's critical that it be passed this session."
Ackley spoke to business leaders in a conference called by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Majestic Wins And Loses In Gardiner

George Majestic, Democratic incumbent was returned as Supervisor of the Town of Gardiner although defeated in his bid for the dual post of county legislator.
Gardiner elections were marked by a close race for Justice of the Peace with incumbent Republican Warren J. McDowell winning over Democratic contender Alexander Rooney by a slim six vote margin, according to unofficial totals McDowell polled 527 to Rooney's 521.
Republicans swept most other posts. Unofficial tallies on the election are as follows:

Town clerk—Vivian McCord, Republican - Conservative, 756; Robert G. Gibney, Democrat, 272.
Fashion in Uniform
Uniforms designed for "women in white" are so beguiling that women in other fields are adopting them, too. Modish professional-type uniforms are created for comfort, with lines that do not restrict body movements, whether worn by hospital nurses, beauticians or by other women with active jobs. Threepiece pantsuits, tent dresses and slim culottes are styled along the most fashionable lines and are made of practical machine-washable fabrics.

Tax collector — Gilbert C. Tice, Republican incumbent, 658; Rose M. Hein, Democrat, 277 and Agnes Sullivan, Conservative, 71.
Assessor, four years—John Otis, incumbent Republican, 696 over Samuel J. Bodanza, Democrat 296.
Assessor, two years—Cletus Schiller, Republican, lost 471, to incumbent Democrat, Thomas Murphy's 536.
Councilman—Lewis H. Bevier, Republican, incumbent, 587, James A. Morrissey, Democrat, 335 and Clarence L. Schoonmaker, Conservative, 91.
Lewis R. Denton, incumbent Republican superintendent of highways, who ran unopposed, polled 702 votes.

Loses 19, Wins 1

SNOHOMISH, Wash. (AP) — Payson Peterson, 68, who has lost 19 consecutive times in trying to gain a seat in Congress, is the new mayor of Snohomish.
Peterson won the only office he never worked for. Over the years he would never settle for a lesser office than Congress. Then friends talked him into running this year for mayor. Peterson paid the $12.50 filing fee, but disdained speechmaking and never spent a penny on advertising.
Does he think the technique will work in running again for Congress? He doesn't know, but one thing's sure. He's not through.
"This was just a side issue," he said.

Benefits, Woes of Tocks Island Dam Project Reviewed

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
BUSHKILL, Pa. (AP) — Can Pennsylvania's Poconos survive the flood?

What will happen in New Jersey's neighboring Kittatinny Mountains when the water rises? And will New York's Catskills get some backwash?

Bound to Give
Something's bound to give when the federal government finally builds the huge $350 million Tocks Island Dam in the Delaware River which will create a reservoir-lake 37 miles long from Stroudsburg, Pa., to Port Jervis, N.Y.

And when it's done, hopefully by 1976 if Congress supplies the money, a 48,000-acre park will surround it—called the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area. The project as now envisioned will cover about 600 square miles—65 per cent in New Jersey, the rest in Pennsylvania. It may eventually spill over into New York.

Which raises more questions: Will it make a mess of this beautiful summer-winter vacationland? Are estimates of 16.6 million visitors by 1990 in the biggest national park in Eastern United States truth or fiction? Can planners protect the forests and lakes from urbanization's clutter and keep the quiet villages from turning shady roadsides into a honky-tonk recreational slum?

And, most important, what will the local community costs be—who will pay it? and can the area afford it?

Study Impact
A planning study was made on the park's potential impact on nearly 150 villages and towns in the tri-state area that includes the three mountain ranges. It estimates land and construction for commercial facilities, year-round and vacation houses, the schools, hospitals, water, sewage and industry could total $2 billion by 1985.

The figure makes the residents gasp. Many call it a pipe dream. Others take the prediction very seriously, and are battling for creation of an orderly plan that will be ready for the huge influx of tourists anxious to fish, swim, boat and camp in what could be the busiest and most crowded national park in the United States when it opens.

This claim isn't fantasy; it's real. The rural, mostly unblemished natural beauty of the Poconos is going to become the playground for a megalopolis—the sprawling conglomeration of big and crowded cities with a population of 50 million in a 250-mile radius. Metropolitan New York is 90 minutes away, Philadelphia maybe an hour more. Expressways now being planned will quicken the trip.

If the experts are right Pocono summers will attract at least 20 million persons—those going directly to the park and to the resorts around it.

Drop Charge Against Man in Trooper Death

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — A manslaughter charge against James L. Stubbart, 21, of Independence, Mo., in the death of a state trooper was dismissed Wednesday on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Trooper Charles W. Perkins died Oct. 27 of injuries suffered nine days earlier when his patrol car crashed while he was pursuing Stubbart, who allegedly left a gas station here without paying for $4 worth of gasoline.

While Perkins was hospitalized, Stubbart pleaded guilty to three traffic charges and a charge of petty larceny. He was sentenced to serve 65 days in the Franklin County jail.

When Perkins died, a warrant was issued charging Stubbart with second-degree manslaughter.

At Wednesday night's preliminary hearing, Justice of the Peace Karl Griebisch of Harrietstown held there was insufficient evidence to continue the manslaughter charge.

Stubbart was ordered returned to jail to complete his sentence.

through the historic Delaware Water Gap to connect with the Kittatinny Mountains in New Jersey on the east and the Catskills to the north.

Some of the most spectacular waterfalls in the East are in the Poconos, making them superb tourist attractions.

For decades the Poconos' main attraction was the summer tourist. It is filled with numerous tiny lakes, thousands of cabins, many motels and lodges, fabulous golf courses, intricate hiking trails, and scores of private camps for boys and girls. Late in the Poconos have catered to the skier with more and more slopes being developed for the city dweller taking a weekend winter breather.

In New Jersey, where the Kittatinny faded into farmland, there is presently an area of year-round and summer dwellers with little industry. The Catskills, an hour's drive away, are a much lusher resort area, catering to more affluent urbanites from New York, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Compounds Problem

Ironically, it is the rural nature of the whole region and the independent composition of the local governments that compounds the Pocono problems.

Few towns have zoning ordinances, which facilitates quick land grabs by speculators — a growing practice today — and unplanned, garish developments by commercial interests.

That's why a war of sorts is being fought now in the region. Residents are determined to retain the charm that has made it so attractive. They know that with unplanned growth commercial strips spring up at highway interchanges, and their blazing neon signs and hamburger stands destroy the neighborhood. Peter De Gelleke, superintendent of a park which exists mainly on paper, says: "There is an urgent need for leadership and vision. The federal government is greatly concerned with the impact and resultant uneasiness we have created in this region. We are not permitted to say what should be done outside the park area, but we are very concerned about what will happen."

Also concerned is a nonprofit, quasi-governmental group called Tocks Island Regional Advisory Council. TIRAC is composed of representatives of seven affected counties: Monroe, Pike and Northampton in Pennsylvania; Sussex and Warren in New Jersey; and Orange and Sullivan in New York.

"Our job isn't easy," says

Frank Dressler, TIRAC's executive director. "One of our toughest problems is breaking down the traditional rural suspicion of planning."

To Swell Three-Fold

When the dam is built—primarily designed for flood control and to store water when Metropolitan New York and Philadelphia have their dry spells—it will swell the Delaware to three times its present width.

The reservoir will cover land now occupied by some 2,000 homes. Two little villages will be inundated — Bushkill and Dingman's Ferry.

About 27 miles of the two-lane curving U. S. 209, now the main drag through the Poconos, will be under water. It will be relocated three miles to the west, partly inside the park, and will be turned into a four-lane limited access expressway.

Totally, the Army Engineers are going to acquire about 75,000 acres, of which 48,000 will be park—30,000 in Jersey and the rest in Pennsylvania. Whether more land will be sought in New York, past Port Jervis to the Neversink River, is up to the federal government.

The land purchases, when finally completed by 1972 (if money is appropriated), likely will exceed $100 million.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Nov. 9, the 313th day of 1967. There are 52 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1918, Kaiser Wilhelm abdicated and the German Republic was proclaimed.

On this date:

In 1872, a fire swept much of Boston, destroying hundreds of buildings.

In 1923, 14 Nazis were wounded as federal troops broke up a march of Adolf Hitler's Storm Troopers in Munich, Germany.

In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt created the Civil Works Administration to provide jobs for more than four million unemployed Americans.

In 1938, bands of Nazis roamed the streets of Germany, burning and destroying Jewish synagogues, homes and stores.

In 1942, American forces surrounded the Algerian city of Oran during World War II.

In 1965, a massive power failure plunged a wide area in the northeastern United States and Canada into darkness and confusion.

Ten years ago, The Pentagon let it be known that it would permit a race between the Army and Navy to be the first to launch a U.S. satellite.

Five years ago: New York City was in the midst of a newspaper blackout, caused by a labor dispute.

One year ago: Prime Minister Indira Gandhi took over India's Home Ministry after bloody rioting over the slaughtering of cows.

Auto Club Offers Tips To Motorists

With winter on the way, the Automobile Club of New York cautions motorists about starting a car in a closed garage. In a confined area, the carbon monoxide fumes from an idling engine can be dangerous. Always open the garage doors before starting the engine of your car.

"It takes a lot more time and distance to stop a car on ice or snow than it does on dry pavement. So, keep more distance than usual between you and the vehicle ahead this winter and pump your brakes lightly when trying to stop on slippery surfaces," advises the Automobile Club of New York.

"You have to see danger to avoid it. That's why all-around visibility is essential to safe driving," the Automobile Club of New York says in urging motorists to make sure their windshields are clear of snow and ice and their windshield wipers and defrosters are in good working condition.

Staring dulls a motorist's awareness, notes the Automobile Club of New York. "Rest the eyes by keeping them in motion; vary the focus to avoid a fixed stare on any single object."

SS Office Closed Friday

The Kingston Social Security Office will be closed Friday, November 10, in observance of Veterans Day.

Although Veterans Day falls on Saturday Federal employees are granted a holiday on the day before when a legal holiday falls on a Saturday.

Regular office hours are from Monday through Friday 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and on Thursday evening until 7 p. m., except on holidays.

Production Moves

LONDON (AP) — Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan says British industrial production is on the move again after 15 months of national economic stagnation.

"There is current improvement taking place at the present time in production, in consumption, investment and in savings," Callaghan told the House of Commons Tuesday night. "And this is taking place against a background of steady prices."

Restricted Area

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — A joint Australian-American space research station and a seven-square-mile buffer zone around it will become a prohibited area Thursday to safeguard the security of research projects. Defense Minister Allen Fairhall announced today.

The ban on the area near Alice Springs, in central Australia, is similar to one covering the joint Australian-British weapons research centers at Woomera and Salisbury, in south Australia.

BEEF WITH APPLES, GERMAN STYLE

German Style Beef With Red Apples

This savory combination of apples with leftover cooked beef makes a fine luncheon dish, or is just right for family supper. Vary it by serving on saffron rice or noodles.

BEEF WITH APPLES

- 4 red apples
 - 1/2 cup butter or bacon drippings
 - 1 1/2 cups leftover beef gravy (or canned)
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
 - 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/2 cup golden raisins
 - 6 large slices leftover cooked beef (boiled or roasted)
 - 4 cups hot cooked rice
- Core apples; do not peel; cut crosswise in thick slices. Fry in butter or bacon drippings until lightly browned. Combine gravy, sugar, lemon juice and cinnamon; add to apples; simmer until apples are tender. Stir in raisins. Add beef slices; simmer until meat is heated through. Serve on rice. Makes 6 servings.

Tiny Tips

Good to Last Drop

If you want to use every last bit of toothpaste in the tube, hold the tube under hot water; then squeeze.

Clean Stuffed Toys

Clean the children's fuzzy stuffed toys with dry corn starch. Just rub it in, let it stand, and brush it out.

Marinate Steaks

Try marinating your next steak in French dressing for a little while before you broil it.

Garlic and Lamb

To give a rolled shoulder of lamb extra zest before roasting, insert small slivers of garlic in the meat. You can do this by making tiny cuts in the lamb, using a small sharp knife, and then adding the garlic.

For the Children

A roll of shelf paper makes wonderful drawing paper for your children. They can make their pictures as large as they like.

Oriental Gourmet Touch With Shrimp and Bananas

Shrimp and bananas! Sounds like a strange combination, doesn't it? But those are the ingredients of a famous Far Eastern dish, Shrimp Singapore. The recipe for this exotic delicacy has been adapted from the Oriental directions by the International Shrimp Council, which suggests the following menu:

- Vegetable Soup
- Shrimp Singapore
- Rice
- Chutney
- Fruit Compote
- Almond Cookies
- Tea

SHRIMP SINGAPORE

- 1 lb. shrimp, fresh or frozen, or 2 (8 oz. or 10 oz.) packages frozen peeled and deveined shrimp
 - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - 1 teaspoon curry powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - Dash cayenne pepper
 - 1 cup chicken stock*
 - 2 bananas
 - Hot fluffy rice
- Clean shrimp if necessary. Cook shrimp in boiling water two or three minutes, never longer. Melt butter or margarine in skillet or saucepan. Remove from heat and stir in flour, curry powder, salt and pepper. Gradually add chicken stock, stirring until smooth. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Peel bananas, cut in half crosswise; then in thirds lengthwise. Add sauce. Cover pan and cook slowly, stirring frequently, about 5 minutes, or until bananas are tender. Add shrimp and cook only enough to heat shrimp. Serve with hot fluffy rice. Makes 3 servings.

*Chicken stock may be made by dissolving 1 chicken bouillon cube in 1 cup boiling water.

Peppers Will Give Top Dinner

Stuffed Green Peppers
2 tablespoons fat or oil
1 pound ground chuck beef
1/3 cup chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 can (1-lb. 12 oz.) pork and beans in tomato sauce
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon sage
6 green peppers
1 can tomato soup
1/2 can water

Heat oil in skillet. Add beef, onion and salt. Brown lightly, stirring to keep in separate particles. Stir in beans, Worcestershire and sage. Wash peppers, cut off tops and remove seeds leaving a clean shell. Place peppers in boiling salted water 3 minutes. Drain and stuff with the bean-beef filling. Place in casserole. Mix soup with water and pour over casserole. Bake covered in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 1 hour. Remove cover last 15 minutes to brown. Serves 6.

WHAT WOULD WE DO without a can opener? It's just as much a way of life with the homemaker as the career girl. Handy at your fingertips are hundreds of canned and packaged goods any clever cook can use to turn out a delicious meal in no time at all. For instance stuffed peppers or tomatoes. Here the basis is nutritious canned beans.

Beef Cornwheels—Lots of Protein

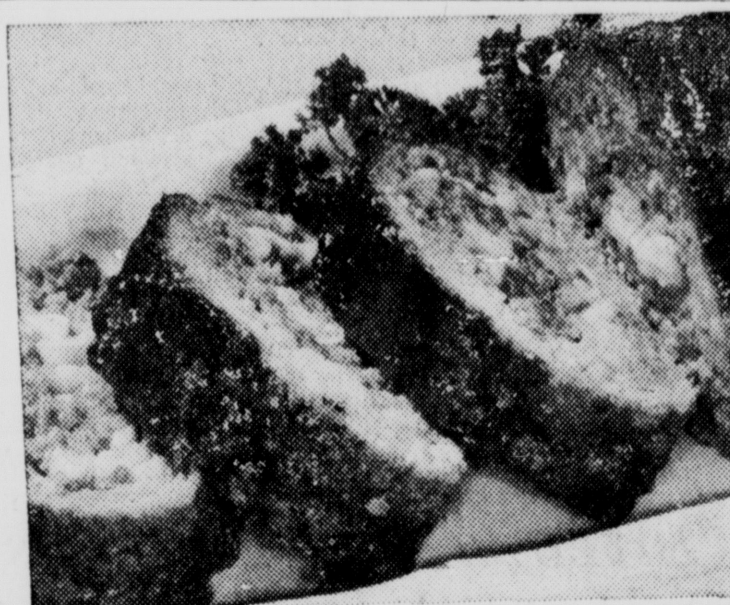

To serve meals with eating pleasure and good nutrition despite slowly rising food prices, try reliable new recipes and new combinations of ingredients. It can't always be steak, roasts and chops, remember.

Variations on the beef theme are in order. This recipe, for example, combines the protein of ground beef with the protein of cheese and milk. The family will enjoy it. So will your hard-pressed budget.

BEEF CORNWHEELS

- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon thyme
- 1/2 cup cracker crumbs
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
- 1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
- 2 teaspoons chopped pimento
- 1/4 cup catchup

Combine ground beef, salt, pepper, thyme, cracker crumbs, onion and milk. Roll or pat out on waxed paper into a 12-inch square. Combine corn, cheese and pimento. Spread over meat mixture. Roll as a jelly roll, sealing edges. Place on a rack in an open roasting pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Brush catchup over loaf and continue baking 30 minutes. Six servings.

BEEF CORNWHEELS—a low-cost dinner dish.

PORK CHOP-VEGETABLE COMBO
6 pork ribs chops, cut 1/2- to 3/4-inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 package (9 ounces) frozen French green beans
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups coarsely grated carrots
1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
3/4 cup water
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed mushroom soup
1/2 cup crushed bitesize shredded wheat
2 teaspoons melted butter or margarine
1/8 teaspoon thyme

Brown chops in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season. Combine green beans, carrots, celery and water in saucepan. Bring to a boil. Add mushroom soup. Place vegetable mixture in a 12x9-inch baking dish. Arrange chops on top. Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Combine crushed shredded wheat, butter or margarine and thyme. Remove cover, sprinkle with crushed mixture and continue baking 15 to 30 minutes or until meat is tender. Six servings.

Other Tasty Tricks With Canned Beans

Cook chopped onions in white wine or apple cider till liquid is almost absorbed. Mix with beans and serve with lamb chops.

Heat a can of beans with 1/2 cup diced cheese till cheese melts. Serve on toast. Top with slices of crisp bacon.

Simmer chopped onion with canned baked beans in tomato sauce. Season with garlic powder, rosemary and ginger and lace with brandy. A fine company surprise.

Brown a minced carrot and a chopped onion in bacon fat. Add 1/2 cup red wine, simmer to reduce one-half and combine with large can baked beans. Add 2 tablespoons each butter and minced parsley. Excellent with spareribs.

DISCUSSING PLANS for bazaar, tea and roast beef dinner, sponsored by Women's Society of Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church, corner Fair and Pearl Streets, are (L-R) Mrs. John Rosebrook, publicity chairman; Mrs.

William Willt, co-chairman of food booth; Mrs. John MacKinnon, tea chairman; Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Sr., general chairman. The event will be held Wednesday Nov. 15. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

WSCS Plans Bazaar, Dinner

The Women's Society of Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church, Fair and Pearl Streets, will sponsor a day long Christmas bazaar incorporating a tea and a roast beef dinner on November 15.

The public may purchase items at the various booths throughout the day from 11 a. m. to 9 p. m. Homemade baked goods, Christmas decorations, Christmas corsages, centerpieces, aprons, toys, novelties, treasures and antiques will be on sale at nominal prices.

A tea will be held from noon to 5 p. m. in the Wesley Room; and sandwiches, cookies, tea and coffee will be available to the public for a small fee.

From 5 p. m. to 7 p. m. a family style roast beef dinner will be served in the church dining room. Tickets will be available at the door.

General chairman for the bazaar is Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Sr., Mrs. Charles Tarsia is co-chairman. Chairmen for the various booths are: Christmas booth, Mrs. Paul Jones; antiques booth, Mrs. Ruth Harper; food booth, Mrs. William Willt and Mrs. Joseph Koskie; children's booth, Mrs. George Berry; domestic booth, Mrs. Howard Finger and Mrs. Robert Hudler.

Mrs. John MacKinnon and Mrs. Robert Moseley will be in charge of the tea. Mrs. John Johnston is chairman of the roast beef dinner and Mrs. Alexander McKittrick is poster chairman. Public is invited to attend.

'Creativity On Paper' at UCCC

"Creativity on Paper" is the current art exhibit in the John Burroughs Science Building at the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College. The exhibit is open to the public and will continue until November 22. It can be viewed from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Mondays through Thursdays and from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Fridays.

The exhibition, which shows paper as an inherent part of the graphic idea, consists of 136 juried works from the sixth annual "Creativity on Paper" exhibition sponsored by Art Direction Magazine.

Displayed are the best in American graphics today showing outstanding advertising, editorial, art, photography and design. Included are examples of advertising design as well as a dramatic demonstration of the growing contribution designers are making in the field of visual communication.

The exhibition designs were judged on how well paper was used as a prime design factor in carrying out the mood or message of the piece. The outstanding jury of designers who make the selections include Harry Jacobs, director of creative services at Cargill Wilson and Acree, an advertising agency; Sheldon Cotler, art director of Time-Life Books; Lee Epstein, executive art director of Doyle Dane's Sales Promotion and former promotion art director at Seventeen Magazine; and Jacqueline Casey, graphic designer at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The next exhibit will be an exhibition of the works of artist Doris Lee, which will be shown at UCCC from November 26 to December 15. Miss Lee will be at the College Sunday, Nov. 26, for a Meet-the-Artist reception.

Youth Aliyah Campaign Inaugerated

The Kingston Chapter of Hadassah will inaugurate its annual campaign on behalf of Youth Aliyah, international rescue and rehabilitation agency, this week.

Mrs. Arthur Motzkin and Mrs.

Robert E. Davis, chairmen for the local group, announced that a letter will go out this week to those who annually have contributed to the campaign. Contributions may be sent to Mrs.

Harry Feldman, Youth Aliyah treasurer, 110 Wall Street Kingston.

A one-day solicitation drive is planned for Thursday morning, Nov. 16. Workers will meet for breakfast at 8:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Arthur London, 300 Pearl Street, and then go out for a door-to-door canvassing of Hadassah members.

All those who contribute to the drive will be Hadassah's guests at a luncheon set for Tuesday, Nov. 21, at Temple Emanuel. An entertaining program is being planned, with the Mmes. Arnold Goldschlag and Stanley Wyman in charge.

Through Youth Aliyah, Hadassah has already helped resettle and rehabilitate in Israel more than 130,000 Jewish youth from 80 lands. Principal agency in the U. S. for support of Youth Aliyah, Hadassah provides almost half of the Youth Aliyah budget.

The agency was created in 1934 by daring German-Jewish leaders, in an attempt to save a remnant of Judaism from Hitler, working with Hadassah's founder, Henrietta Szold, who became Youth Aliyah director.

The movement has since graduated thousands of skilled youngsters who have become a potent force in the life of Israel. Ten thousand wards are now in training in Youth Aliyah villages, agricultural settlements, schools and centers. A special rural vocational center specializes in training for those who come to Israel with their families.

Thousands of Youth Aliyah graduates served in the summer war, ranking from Gen David Elazar, commander of the Syrian front, to privates.

At the recent Hadassah national convention, Yitzhak Artzi, world head of Youth Aliyah, reported plans to set up mobile units for vocational training that will serve Israeli and Arab youngsters. He said that if a political basis can be found to make cooperation possible between Israel and the Arab states.

"Youth Aliyah and her friends could help the victims of indifference and political cruelty, who, unlike the Jewish child, could not depend on finding that warm heart, that understanding and solidarity that the Jewish child has had the good fortune compensate for this lack."

to find among Jewish mothers of the world."

Youth Aliyah's challenge has changed through the years; its first mission was to rescue those who could be smuggled from Hitler's Europe. Later many were resettled from Eastern Europe; immigration from these countries has all but ceased. Now youngsters are migrating from North Africa and the Arab nations. A special concern is the care of those children whose fathers were killed in the recent war.

The chairmen pointed out that $600 is needed to care for and educate a child for one year. Last year, the Kingston Chapter's quota was to take care of four children, but the campaign fell short of the needed amount; Youth Aliyah was thus unable to accept one child. It is hoped that this year's drive will more than child has had the good fortune

Onteora PTA Holds Back to School Night

The Onteora High School PTA has announced plans for its annual "Open House" on Thursday, Nov. 16 at 7:30 in the Central School. This is a "Back to School" night for parents at which time they will meet with the teachers and participate in their child's daily schedule of learning. Due to the schedule, it is important to be prompt.

Each parent is advised to obtain from his child a copy of his schedule prior to the "Open House" program as copies will not be available at the school due to the time element.

In each class, the teacher will outline what material has to be covered for the year and how it is achieved by each pupil. The teacher will explain just how the parent can assist the student in his studies with-out "doing the work" himself. If any personal conference is desired, the parent may make a future appointment for an individual discussion period at that time.

Mrs. Jerry Wemple, in planning "Open House" with the Onteora administration, faculty and students, is responding to the many requests of parents who have expressed an eagerness to learn more about the methods of teaching the various subjects and the value and relationship of each subject in preparing the student for the step beyond high school.

Mrs. Alvin Moscovitz, PTA president, points out, "that the child needs to feel the support and interest of his parents in his school work, plus the parents' knowledge of his work. There should be no chasm between home and school, since each is a vital factor in the child's life and for each to be fully effective they must meet and work together. 'Open House' offers this introduction and opportunity."

After classes and conferences have been completed, about 9 p. m., all are invited to refreshments served in the cafeteria.

Directly outside of the cafeteria, visitors will note that the PTA will be having a bake sale. Chairman for the bake sale from the various areas are as follows: Phoenicia—Mrs. G. Janitz; Mrs. Fran O'Meara; Olive—Mrs. Leona Werner; Mrs. Betty Lane; Woodstock—Mrs. Grace Cieri; West Hurley—Mrs. C. Brown.

Attend Conference In San Francisco

Three Ulster County women will represent the area in San Francisco this week at the 1967 Conference of the National Association for the Education of Young Children. The Conference, to be held at the Sheraton Palace Hotel, November 8 through 11, will emphasize the importance of the quality of the person who works with young children through its theme, "Young Children and You."

Those attending are Dr. Josephine Palmer, professor of Early Childhood Education, State University College New Paltz; Mrs. Elsie Dibble, Phoenicia; Mrs. James McGoughlin, Olivebridge, all members of the Mid-Hudson Chapter of Association for Young Children.

Recognized experts in the field of early childhood education, day care, psychoanalysis, sociology, medicine, government, and other related fields are presenting papers and holding seminars during the four days of the Conference. Dr. Mary B. Lane, Professor of Education, San Francisco State College, is the chairman of the Conference.

The Conference closes with a Saturday luncheon at which Miss Charity Bailey, Heathcote School, Scarsdale, and television performer with children, will speak on "The Creative We Have Within Us."

Local members of the Association are holding Open House in the nursery schools, parent cooperatives, Pre-K centers, Children's Centers, and Head Start School, in the San Francisco area for their visiting colleagues.

Additionally, the International Child Art Center has arranged an exhibit of the work of young children gathered from schools around the country; after the Conference this exhibit will be exchanged with similar exhibits of children's work throughout the world.

The Mothers' Club of Troop 12 and Post 12 Boy Scouts of America will hold a rummage sale on Friday at the Old Dutch Church between the hours of 1 1/2 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Harry Feldman, Youth Aliyah treasurer, 110 Wall Street Kingston.

A one-day solicitation drive is planned for Thursday morning, Nov. 16. Workers will meet for breakfast at 8:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Arthur London, 300 Pearl Street, and then go out for a door-to-door canvassing of Hadassah members.

All those who contribute to the drive will be Hadassah's guests at a luncheon set for Tuesday, Nov. 21, at Temple Emanuel. An entertaining program is being planned, with the Mmes. Arnold Goldschlag and Stanley Wyman in charge.

Through Youth Aliyah, Hadassah has already helped resettle and rehabilitate in Israel more than 130,000 Jewish youth from 80 lands. Principal agency in the U. S. for support of Youth Aliyah, Hadassah provides almost half of the Youth Aliyah budget. The agency was created in 1934 by daring German-Jewish leaders, in an attempt to save a remnant of Judaism from Hitler, working with Hadassah's founder, Henrietta Szold, who became Youth Aliyah director. The movement has since graduated thousands of skilled youngsters who have become a potent force in the life of Israel. Ten thousand wards are now in training in Youth Aliyah villages, agricultural settlements, schools and centers. A special rural vocational center specializes in training for those who come to Israel with their families. Thousands of Youth Aliyah graduates served in the summer war, ranking from Gen David Elazar, commander of the Syrian front, to privates. At the recent Hadassah national convention, Yitzhak Artzi, world head of Youth Aliyah, reported plans to set up mobile units for vocational training that will serve Israel and Arab youngsters. He said that if a political basis can be found to make cooperation possible between Israel and the Arab states, "Youth Aliyah and her friends could help the victims of indifference and political cruelty, could not depend on finding that warm heart, that understanding and solidarity that the Jewish people has had the good fortune

Youth Aliyah's challenge has changed through the years; its first mission was to rescue those who could be smuggled from Hitler's Europe. Later many were resettled from Eastern Europe; immigration from these countries has all but ceased. Now youngsters are migrating from North Africa and the Arab nations. A special concern is the care of those children whose fathers were killed in the recent war.

The chairman pointed out that $600 is needed to care for and educate a child for one year. Last year, the Kingston Chapter's quota was to take care of four children, but the campaign fell short of the needed amount; Youth Aliyah was thus unable to accept one child. It is hoped that this year's drive will more than compensate for this lack.

Sweet Adelines Will Give Show Saturday

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

Sweet Adelines will give its first musical Saturday night in the George Washington School and it will be successful if the citizenry of Ulster County decide to support the Colonial City Chapter.

The girls, approximately 25 of them, have been working hard during rehearsals these past weeks under the able direction of Mrs. Dixie Westervelt, and they hope the coffers will be filled in order that they may purchase more music and new costumes thus enabling them to compete next May in a New York, Massachusetts and Canadian contest.

Doctor's Mailbag

Complete Abstinence Best for 'Alcoholic'

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—My niece drinks a lot. Is there any drug that is safe that she could take to stop drinking?

A—Disulfiram can be given for this purpose but only under medical supervision. It is dangerous to give it without the full knowledge and consent of the patient.

Q—My father-in-law, 79, drinks a half-gallon of wine a day. He appears to be in good health. Will the wine hurt his liver? If so, how can we get him to cut down his wine intake or give it up?

A—Wine is a great comfort to some elderly persons and, although in time it will damage the liver, this is a chance many are willing to take when they feel that their productive life is behind them. The only way to get anyone to cut his intake of alcohol is for the person himself to be convinced that it is detrimental to his health or family relationships and to want very much to stop drinking.

Q—What effect will three or four shots of liquor (and sometimes much more) have on a man. Will it affect his co-ordination?

A—Allowing at least an hour between each drink, it will have very little immediate effect but over a period of 15 or 20 years it may cause cirrhosis of the liver. Taken at a faster rate it will cause intoxication with impairment of judgment and muscular co-ordination.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

The singers in the Colonial City Chapter of Sweet Adelines joined the organization in order to enjoy good fellowship, concertizing, and augment their musical education. But an organization cannot exist unless it receives public support. Saturday night is an opportunity for residents of Ulster County to say "Welcome" to the comparatively new group.

The Colonial City Chapter of Sweet Adelines received its charter a year ago and prior to that had been working together for some four years. They have made very successful appearances throughout the county and in addition to their barber-shop singing have included popular ballads as well in their repertoire.

Rehearsals are held every Tuesday night at 8 in the St. James Methodist Church in Kingston. Barbara Bondar is heading up the group as president assisted by Carole Smith, vice president, Bonnie Langston, recording secretary, Nancy Bishopp, corresponding secretary, and Evelyn Roberts as treasurer.

Mrs. Bondar has announced that for Saturday night's evening of fun and songs, the Colonial City Chapter will present two well known singing groups, The Key Tones and The Unlikely Hoods.

Championship

The Key Tones won the regional championship in April of 1962 and have appeared in many Barbershop shows in the northeast. Several weeks ago, they competed at the 20th International Convention held in New York City and were thrilled to be singing on the stage of Carnegie Hall.

The Key Tones, in addition to their singing accomplishments, organized a new Sweet Adelines chapter in Guilfordland, N. Y. Doris Weise, lead in the quartet, is director of this chapter and the chorus won first place in Regional Competition this past March.

The Key Tones' appearance in "That Perfect Doll" will add enjoyment to an evening of music, dancing and fun.

Note of Comedy

The Unlikely Hoods is a quartet dedicated to the proposition that a "stitch in time saves nine." And this group makes every effort to keep you in stitches for the duration of their performance. The quartet is also dedicated to make you laugh, giggle, gaffaw, chuckle, snicker and snort.

The Unlikely Hoods are members of the Poughkeepsie Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Inc.

Singing is a hobby with the Unlikely Hoods and, with a little bit of luck, their performance may unmistakably demonstrate that it is not their profession. But the group has spirit and a pitch pipe, and their gallivanting and cavorting and assorted roguery are designed to entertain as well as dumbfound you.

Unlike many quartets that sing serious Barbershop harmony, the Unlikely Hoods, with a repertoire limited only in number, like to look at life from the lighter side. Their baritone, for example, weighs only 58 pounds!

Contrary to the gangster connotation implied in their name,

By The Reading Laboratory

(Excerpted from the World Publishing Company Book, "Study Faster and Retain More." Illustrations by Roy Doty)

All libraries subscribe to at least a few of the thousands of magazines and newspapers that are published. Current issues are kept on racks or tables for you to read. Back issues are bound, or perhaps, put on microfilm to be used in research.

Discovering which back issues of periodicals are available will not be difficult. As the librarian binds them and puts them on the shelves, she adds a card to her periodical card catalogue. There are also standard guides to periodicals which tell you where and when articles on a given subject have appeared.

You might ask, "How can I use these magazines and newspapers to supplement my classwork?" Obviously, you should read current newspapers and magazines to keep up with what is happening in the world. Your history teacher will insist on this. But teachers of other subjects like science, who might not expect you to be aware of recent developments, will be impressed if you are able to show them that you know what's going on. If you are interested in literature, you will enjoy reading literary magazines and book reviews.

If you are worried about being able to manage a paper topic, using periodicals as a source is a good idea. Unlike books, which often deal with many aspects of a general subject, arti-

We mean records (and occasionally tapes). See what records your library has, and if they may be taken home. Some will be just entertaining, but others will be directly with your schoolwork. For example, you might want to listen to — The poems of Robert Frost, or a play by Shakespeare, to obtain a sense of their rhythm, and better understand their meaning.

— Music from the Romantic period, to compare with what you know of the literature or art of that period.

— Record speeches by historical figures.

— Foreign languages correctly spoken.

A final word, Remember that the library is your library. Everything in it is meant to be used, and you are free to come and go as you wish. There is no admission charge.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My five-year-old son seems to always wear a hole through the knees of his play pants before they are very old.

When this happens, I take off the back pockets and sew them over the holes in the knees.

I have been doing this for several years now and it sure saves buying knee patches.

Ruth

Dear Heloise:

Those dated kitchen calendar towels can be used!! I had one with a painted rooster on it that matched my kitchen. I turned the end up (wrong side) covering the calendar, stitched up the sides and three or four rows down like a shoe bag.

This gave me a place to store note paper, pencils or clippings, etc. And now I can still keep my colorful rooster on the wall.

Pauline Schmidt

Dear Heloise:

To send coins through the mail and have them seem even lighter than they are and not make bumps in the letter, try this:

Tape them to the corrugated side of an empty light bulb carton, fold over to the inside, tape edges, and cut to fit your envelope.

Mini-Sized Bomber Sinks Royals in NBA

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Cincinnati Royals were shot down by a small caliber Bullet.

Guard Johnny Egan—listed in the National Basketball Association guide as 5-foot-11, making him the league's smallest player—gunned in 26 points Wednesday night and helped the Baltimore Bullets snap a six-game losing streak with a 122-100 victory over the Royals.

St. Louis, hotter than a pistol in the Western Division, won its 13th game in 14 starts, 111-96 over Seattle; Detroit edged New York 110-108 and Philadelphia downed San Diego 129-114 in other scheduled NBA games.

Egan sparked the Bullets to a 15-0 burst in the final three minutes of the third quarter as they built up an 87-71 lead at the end of the period. He then scored 17 of his points in the final quarter as the Bullets coasted home.

Gus Johnson added 24 points and Earl Monroe 22 for the Bullets. Happy Hairston scored 28 and Jerry Lucas 20 for the Royals.

Dick Snyder pumped in 21 points, Zelmo Beatty 20 and Len Wilkens 18 for St. Louis, which broke a 16-16 tie midway in the first period and had no trouble from there on. Walt Hazard lopped the SuperSonics with 20. Bob Rule of Seattle and the Hawks' Gene Tormohlen were ejected for fighting near the end of the first half.

Detroit surged from a five-point deficit, 84-79, after three quarters to an 11-point lead, 110-99, with 1:34 left and then held on to beat the Knickerbockers. Dave Bing led Detroit with 24 points. New York's Willis Reed led all scorers with 28.

Philadelphia was paced over San Diego by Billy Cunningham's 33 points, including 10 points in the last quarter after the Rockets had rallied to within 104-102 with eight minutes left. John Block led San Diego with 24 points.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Tommy Richardson, former president of the International and Eastern baseball leagues, lost Tuesday in his bid to be elected to Lycoming County's office of register and recorder. He got 14,683 votes on the Democratic ticket to 18,371 for Republican Mary G. Mosser.

ROAD BLOCK: St. Louis Hawks' Joe Caldwell (27) drives hard for the basket, but he is closely guarded by Seattle Super Sonics' Tommy Kron (11) in Hawks-Sonics game in St. Louis. Caldwell passed the ball to teammate Len Wilkens who made a basket. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Koy Making This the Year of Comeback

NEW YORK (NEA)—It is a weekday and Ernie Koy sits on a stool, leaning back against his locker at Yankee Stadium. He wears a golf shirt, casual slacks and cowboy boots and softly hums a tune to himself. Probably it is "What a Difference a Year Makes."

In two seasons with the New York Giants, Koy saw his career soar like a skyrocket, then suddenly fizzle and all but disappear over the hill. In this, his third year in the NFL, he's making a comeback at the age of 25.

After finishing a brilliant senior year at the University of Texas, Koy came to the Giants in the 11th round of the 1965 draft.

As a member of the "Baby Bulls," which also included Tucker Frederickson, Steve Thurlow and Chuck Mercein, Koy was a success, posting a 5-yard rushing average his rookie year. He also did the punting.

But last season was a different ball game.

Injured By Mate

A teammate's knee gave Koy a perforated ear drum after his helmet had fallen off during scrimmage. Then his thigh started to give him trouble and so did the Army, which considered his a top draft choice.

By the end of the year, Koy had netted a meager 146 yards. The Giants had won one game. The barbers in Greenwich Village had a better season.

In February, Koy went into the Army to serve six months active duty. He marched and jogged and ran and marched some more... without carrying a football.

He reported late to summer camp, feeling healthy and concentrating only on making a place for himself on the team.

Switch to Fullback

Coach Allie Sherman switched him to fullback where he has remained throughout the season. And the Giants are once again contenders in their division.

Koy leads the club in rushing and currently ranks fifth among all NFL runners. Against the Redskins, he ground out 160 yards (14 more than his total yardage all last year).

"My leg hasn't bothered me this year," says Ernie, "because I think all that walking and slow jogging helped it while I was in the Army. I felt real healthy when I reported to training camp."

He looked healthy, too. Koy is a handsome 230-pound specimen who once was fast enough to run 79 yards against Alabama in the Orange Bowl. His speed returned this season so that he successfully maneuvered around the flanks of the Green Bay Packers in a recent game, outrunning all-pros Willie Davis and Dave Robinson.

Playing fullback should run in the family, because his dad, Ernie Koy Sr., was a famous fullback at the University of Texas before him (and later played major league baseball as an outfielder with the old Brooklyn Dodgers). Young brother Ted is a running back for the Longhorns now.

More Blocking

"I've been blocking more in this position," says Ernie.

"but that's part of the game. When I see Tucker throw a good one for me, it makes me want to do my best when I have a blocking assignment."

Frederickson also made a comeback this season after missing all of '66 with a knee operation. The other "Baby Bulls"—Thurlow and Mercein—are gone.

Why have the Giants been able to improve so much over last season?

"Well, of course, quarterback Fran Tarkenton is the big reason," says Ernie. "but we've had several players who were injured last year come back and do a good job."

You can almost see him blush as he looks down at the points of his cowboy boots.

Trip Donnie's For Clincher

DeMicco Motors captured the YMCA A division Fall Basketball League championship with a 94-75 win over Donnie Van's at the YMCA court.

The B division race ended in a tie as Flair stopped Tommy Maines, 102-52. Flair will meet Pete's Chevron in a playoff game Friday at 7 o'clock.

Andy Murphy rimmed 32 points for Donnie Van's but they weren't enough to offset the balance of DeMicco's. Joe Uhl and Bill Boines had 22 each for the winners and Leon Hanna added 21.

Uhl suffered a minor injury during the third period and was forced to leave the game. The losers played without Ken and Bruce Gilligan, sidelined with injuries.

Gary Flowers paced Flair to its triumph with 33 points. His teammates were in double figures. Flair led, 45-21, at half-time and was never threatened.

The all-star teams of the A and B divisions will meet the championship clubs on Saturday in the concluding games of the Fall League.

Name Garrett Player of Week

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
Mike Garrett's spontaneous feet don't hurt much any more but now the New York Jets' defensive line isn't feeling very good.

Garrett shredded the Jets' front four for 192 yards in 23 carries last Sunday as Kansas City routed New York 42-18. The performance made Garrett The Associated Press' choice as American Football League Offensive Player of the Week.

"I felt better spiritually and physically than I have all year," said Garrett, after his slants had run the Jets ragged. The 1965 Heisman Trophy winner has been troubled by sore toes and banged up ankles this season.

"They still hurt when I stub my toe," Garrett went on, "but I think my feet feel great again." They were great against the Jets with a variety of slices and cuts gaining yardage in huge chunks.

His baffling moves had the Jets lunging and grabbing but rarely stopping him. "Some of it is artistic," said Garrett of his moves, "some of it is spontaneous."

Then he thought a moment. "Most of it," he smiled, "is spontaneous."

Garrett's running moved into second place among AFL rushers behind Boston's Jim Nance, who had another big day in the Patriots' 18-7 victory over Houston.

The power running fullback chugged for 108 yards in 26 carries, bringing his season's total to 822, 151 more than Garrett. Nance's running ended a string of two subpar performances against New York and Oakland in which he managed barely over 50 yards gained in each game.

NEW YORK — Juan Ramos, 148½, Puerto Rico, outpointed Gray Gavin, 149, Brooklyn, N.Y., 8.

First Expansion Victories Recall Big Moments in NFL

How does it feel when your expansion team wins its first regular season game in the National Football League. Let's take a look.

NORM VAN BROCKLIN — (Sept. 17, 1961) — Minnesota's first-ever NFL game, a 37-13 victory over Chicago with rookie Fran Tarkenton passing for four touchdowns and scoring another.

"You'd have to say Francis did the job... (chuckle)... for this day at least. He's got to be our No. 1 quarterback. The team has confidence in him. The team? Well, I rate our material as good as the Bears. The game is played mostly up here (tapping his head). Our kids really gave it to 'em."

TOM LANDRY — (Sept. 17, 1961) — same day as Van Brocklin's first victory, Dallas beats Pittsburgh 27-24 at the Cotton Bowl on a 27-yard field goal by Allen Green at the final gun after Cowboys had gone winless—11 losses and tie—in 1960, first season in league.

"After all this, that final minute was the longest I've ever sweated in my life. It seemed like an hour. We won by hustling. I had very little to do with the long pass (the winning goal was set up by a 41-yard pass from Eddie LeBaron to Billy Howton). Howton said: 'Let's throw it up and I said o.k., let's.'"

NORM HECKER — (Nov. 20, 1966) — Atlanta Falcons beat the New York Giants 27-16 at Yankee Stadium as ex-Giant Ernie Wheelwright rushes for 51 yards and catches two TD passes from Randy Johnson, snapping nine-game losing streak.

"From the beginning, we thought we could win some games this year. This past week we were confident we could beat the Giants. All week I drilled into the team our game plan, which was simple. I told them we had to take that opening kickoff and score and keep the pressure on them. If we kicked off, we had to stop them and then score. This was the first time we forced an opponent to play our game—and our game was a conservative offense and ball control."

AND NOW TOM FEARS (coach of the 1967 expansion team, the New Orleans Saints, who won in their eighth game, on Philadelphia at Tulane Stadium on Nov. 5, 1967).

"This was a long time coming, maybe it was overdue. Every one of our last four games we've either had the lead into the third quarter or had a good chance to win and let it get away."

"When they started coming back, I thought—here we go again—but (Gary) Cuozzo's TD pass to (Walt) Roberts gave us breathing room. We've needed to hold the ball more on offense to give the defense some rest. We did it this time and the guys were able to stop them when it counted."

The Saints lead in no major statistical categories but they've been a factor in seven of their eight games and had threatened to win for a month—in a 27-21 loss to New York where the winning Giant drive was kept alive by a penalty for 12 Saints on the field; in a 14-10 loss to Dallas when they fumbled at the Dallas 6 with a minute to play; in a 27-13 loss to San Francisco after leading 13-10 well into the second half and in a 14-10 loss to Pittsburgh after leading 10-0 into the fourth quarter.

"This is a dedicated, hard working bunch," says Fears. "I'm delighted for them."

San Diego State Top Small Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Dakota State's 41-7 victory over Morningside in its season finale coupled with Wayneburg's unexpected 7-0 setback by Fairmont, W.Va. has enabled the Bison from Fargo, N.D. to replace the Yellow Jackets in second place in The Associated Press' small-college football poll today.

San Diego State, idle last week, maintained its solid lead in the latest voting by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday.

The Aztecs collected six votes for first-place and 143 points on a basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc. San Diego State, 7-0, has an over-all winning streak of 23 games.

North Dakota State, completing its regular campaign with a 9-0 mark, advanced one position. The Bison drew 127 points, including 30 for three first-place votes. ND State will play in the Pecan Bowl Dec. 16 in Abilene, Tex.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. San Diego State (6) 143
2. North Dakota St. (3) 127
3. Eastern Kentucky (2) 190
4. New Mex. Highlands (1) 75
5. Wayneburg 65

Greener Pastures For Jim Caldwell

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Caldwell's rookie season in the American Basketball Association is off to a much better start than his short-lived venture in the National Basketball Association.

In his first game with New Jersey of the ABA after being cut by the NBA New York Knicks, Caldwell scored 14 points and pulled down 15 rebounds in the Americans' 120-97 victory over Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

The 6-foot-10 center, who signed Monday, got 12 of his rebounds in the first half as New Jersey took a 41-38 lead. Tony Jackson was the high scorer with 33 points for the Americans. Chico Vaughn had 26 for the Pipers.

In other games, Indiana beat New Orleans 109-101, Minnesota topped Kentucky 106-92, Denver whipped Oakland 118-97 and Anaheim edged Houston 104-100.

Bob Netolicky topped Indiana with 25 points while James Jones had 26 for New Orleans. The Buccaneers moved within three points late in the game, but the Pacers pulled away in the final minute.

Mel Daniels scored 25 points for Minnesota and also hauled in 22 rebounds as the Muskies took an early lead and held onto it without trouble. Darrell Corrier scored 20 points for the Colonels.

Six quick points by rookie Julian Hammond broke open a

Hammond finished with 23 points, the same as Wayne Hightower although Lefty Thomas was high with 26. LaVern Tart led Oakland with 31.

Les Selvaige and Ben Warley sank two free throws each in the last 25 seconds to give Anaheim its squeaker over Houston. Larry Bunce was high for the winners with 24 points. Wilburt Frazier topped Houston with 31.

Mini-Sized Bomber Sinks Royals in NBA

The Cincinnati Royals were shot down by a small caliber Bullet.

Guard Johnny Egan—listed in the National Basketball Association guide as 5-foot-11, making him the league's smallest player—gunned in 26 points Wednesday night and helped the Baltimore Bullets snap a six-game losing streak with a 122-100 victory over the Royals.

St. Louis, hotter than a pistol in the Western Division, won its 13th game in 14 starts, 111-96 over Seattle; Detroit edged New York 110-108 and Philadelphia downed San Diego 129-114 in other scheduled NBA games.

Egan sparked the Bullets to a 15-0 burst in the final three minutes of the third quarter as they built up an 87-71 lead at the end of the period. He then scored 17 of his points in the final quarter as the Bullets coasted home.

Gus Johnson added 24 points and Earl Monroe 22 for the Bullets. Happy Hairston scored 28 and Jerry Lucas 20 for the Royals.

Dick Snyder pumped in 21 points, Zelmo Beaty 20 and Len Wilkens 18 for St. Louis, which broke a 16-16 tie midway in the first period and had no trouble from there on. Walt Hazard topped the Superpunks with 20.

Bob Rule of Seattle and the Hawks' Gene Tormohlen were ejected for fighting near the end of the first half.

Detroit surged from a five-point deficit, 84-79, after three quarters to an 11-point lead, 110-99, with 1:34 left and then held on to beat the Knickerbockers. Dave Bing led Detroit with 24 points. New York's Willis Reed led all scorers with 28.

Philadelphia was paced over San Diego by Billy Cunningham's 33 points, including 10 points in the last quarter after the Rockets had rallied to within 104-102 with eight minutes left. John Block led San Diego with 24 points.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—Tommy Richardson, former president of the International and Eastern baseball leagues, died Tuesday in his bid to be elected to Lycoming County's office of register and recorder. He got 14,683 votes on the Democratic ticket to 18,371 for Republican Mary G. Mosser.

NEW YORK (NEA)—It is a weekday and Ernie Koy sits on a stool, leaning back against his locker at Yankee Stadium. He wears a golf shirt, casual slacks and cowboy boots and softly hums a tune to himself. Probably it is "What a Difference a Year Makes."

In two seasons with the New York Giants, Koy saw his career soar like a skyrocket, then suddenly fizzle and all but disappear over the hill. In this, his third year in the NFL, he's making a comeback at the age of 25.

After finishing a brilliant senior year at the University of Texas, Koy came to the Giants in the 11th round of the 1965 draft.

As a member of the "Baby Bulls," which also included Tucker Frederickson, Steve Thurlow and Chuck Mercein, Koy was a success, posting a 5-yard rushing average his rookie year. He also did the punting.

But last season was a different ball game.

Injured By Mate

Name Garrett Player of Week

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Mike Garrett's spontaneous feet don't hurt much any more but now the New York Jets' defensive line isn't feeling very good.

Garrett shredded the Jets' front four for 192 yards in 23 carries last Sunday as Kansas City routed New York 42-18. The performance made Garrett The Associated Press' choice as American Football League Offensive Player of the Week.

"I felt better spiritually and physically than I have all year," said Garrett, after his slants had run the Jets ragged. The 1965 Heisman Trophy winner has been troubled by sore toes and banged up ankles this season.

"They still hurt when I stub my toe," Garrett went on, "but I think my feet feel great again." They were great against the Jets with a variety of slices and cuts gaining yardage in huge chunks.

His baffling moves had the Jets lunging and grabbing but rarely stopping him. "Some of it is artistic," said Garrett of his moves, "some of it is spontaneous."

Then he thought a moment. "Most of it," he smiled, "is spontaneous."

Garrett's running moved into second place among AFL rushers behind Boston's Jim Nance, who had another big day in the Patriots' 18-7 victory over Houston.

The power running fullback chugged for 108 yards in 26 carries, bringing his season's total to 822, 151 more than Garrett.

Nance's running ended a string of two subpar performances against New York and Oakland in which he managed barely over 50 yards gained in each game.

The 6-foot-10 center, who signed Monday, got 12 of his rebounds in the first half as New Jersey took a 41-38 lead.

Tony Jackson was the high scorer with 33 points for the Americans. Chico Vaughn had 26 for the Pipers.

In other games, Indiana beat New Orleans 109-101, Minnesota topped Kentucky 106-92, Denver whipped Oakland 118-97 and Anaheim edged Houston 104-100.

Bob Netolicky topped Indiana with 25 points while James Jones had 25 for New Orleans. The Buccaneers moved within three points late in the game, but the Pacers pulled away in the final minute.

Mel Daniels scored 25 points for Minnesota and also hauled in 22 rebounds as the Muskies took an early lead and held onto it without trouble. Darrell Corrier scored 20 points for the Colonels.

Six quick points by rookie Julian Hammond broke open a close game and Denver pulled away for its win over Oakland before 6,026, Denver's largest turnout of the season.

Hammond finished with 23 points, the same as Wayne Hightower although Lefty Thomas was high with 26. LaVern Tart led Oakland with 31.

Les Selva and Ben Warley sank two free throws each in the last 25 seconds to give Anaheim its squeaker over Houston. Larry Bunce was high for the winners with 24 points. Wilburt Frazier topped Houston with 31.

Peg Super Bowl for Three Million Gross

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tickets went up for grabs today for the football's Super Bowl game with virtually certain prospects that it will be the first game in history to gross in excess of $3 million.

Inaugurated last January in the Los Angeles Coliseum, the playoff between National and American Football League champions was transferred to Miami's Orange Bowl and will be played Jan. 14.

The initial game was a disappointment, financially and artistically. Only 63,036 fans attended and the NFL's Green Bay Packers routed the Kansas City Chiefs 35-10.

An expected sellout of the 75,546-seat Orange Bowl would bring in $796,822. Television and radio revenue, up this year from $2 million to $2.5 million, would make the total gross $3,296,822.

This would top by more than one-half million the $2,760,260 grossed at Los Angeles.

In a release to a news conference here, football Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced that public ticket sales would be handled by the Orange Bowl committee and that the 13,000 holders of season tickets for the Miami Dolphin games would be given priorities in ticket purchases.

The 52,450 seats between the goal lines were priced at $12. Another 14,423 behind the goal lines will be $8 and end zone seats $6. Lower priced tickets will be placed on public sale at the Orange Bowl starting Nov. 27.

Approximately 55,000 tickets will be available to the public, 34,000 by mail order and 21,000 at the windows. The two competing teams will be allocated 5,000 tickets each and the other pro clubs will receive additional priorities.

Players and coaches of the winning team will receive $15,000 each. Losing players and coaches will get $7,500. Of the remaining net receipts, 50 per cent will go to the player benefit plans of the two leagues, five per cent to each competing club, 10 per cent to each league office, and 20 per cent to the commissioner's office.

The game, to be televised and broadcast by the Columbia Broadcasting System, will be blacked out within a 75-mile radius of Miami.

The Green Bay Packers defeated the Kansas City Chiefs 30-10 in the first AFL-NFL playoff. Tickets for that game were priced at $12, $10 and $6 and the gross ticket sale was $707,560.

At 49 players per club, the amount paid out in this manner would be $1,102,500. The remainder of the net receipts will be distributed 50 per cent to the player benefit plans of the two leagues, five per cent to each competing club, 10 per cent to each league office and 20 per cent to Rozelle's office.

Rozelle said orders for tickets should be addressed to World Championship Games, Box 748, Miami, Fla.

QUOTE: "In Gordie Taylor we have perhaps the best back in the league this year at Rondout Valley."

Coach John (Chick) Meehan of the Ganders can be labeled a prophet after the amazing performances of Taylor.

Gordie closed his scholastic grid season with three touchdowns Monday at Rondout beat Liberty, 20-15, to gain the school's first undisputed championship.

THE 1,000-YARD CLUB IN FOOTBALL is exclusive, eligible for everyone but entered by only a few. In eight games, Taylor gained 1,216 yards. In four contests he rushed for 200, 223, 214 and 241 yards. He had 101 against Liberty. In the other three games he was "limited" to 68, 82 and 67 yards.

Add this total yardage to the passes he caught, the runbacks of punts and several extra points and you can see why he ranks with the all-time great backs of the Ulster County League.

The Rondout championship is a credit to the coaching ability of Meehan. He did have Taylor to score the points but the Gander defense was also a big factor in the title. The veteran Rondout mentor is one of the best defense coaches around.

AFTER SEVEN GRUELLING YEARS of playing professional football, it doesn't seem possible the career of Monty Stickle may be over. The former Poughkeepsian underwent surgery this week and had a metal plate inserted in his arm after he had it shattered Sunday against the Los Angeles Rams.

Though never a Mike Ditka or John Mackey type performer, Stickle was a starting tight end for the 49ers during his entire pro career. His pass catching ability was average but you can ask those who played against him—there was never a doubt that Monty was one of the most savage blockers in the league.

We saw Stickle go through the scholastic, collegiate and pro ranks. We find it hard to believe that his career is now behind him.

Though Monty will miss the rest of this season, it is our belief that his great competitive spirit will prevail. We don't think Stickle will hang up the cleats yet.

HARTWICK COLLEGE SOCCER COACH Al Miller will have plenty of support this weekend when the Oneonta school meets Newark College of Engineering Saturday in New Jersey. The New Paltz State booters will root for Hartwick to complete a perfect season. Miller guided the Hawks through their greatest success in soccer prior to joining the staff at Hartwick this year. . . More than 600 students and friends of Ed Donohue will honor the ex-Niagara University basketball coach at a testimonial banquet on Nov. 15. Donohue was relieved of his freshman basketball and varsity baseball coaching duties after a dispute with school officials over recruiting. The students and members of the upstate press corps feel the former Lourdes coach was the victim of a bad deal. The testimonial is proof of their feelings. . . Ron Gabrielle, Kingston High swimming coach, is back in action once again after being hospitalized as the result of a freak accident. His KHS swimming candidates begin practice next week. . . Speaking of swimming, is it rumor or fact that the local team has been offered use of an indoor pool within a few miles of the school? . . . We don't want to keep the fuels burning, but display of sportsmanship by hometown fans at last Friday's Kingston-Hudson game was the poorest we have ever seen. It was a disgrace, both to the community and to the school. It's a valid reason for Hudson school officials to drop night football. . . When was the last time you saw a high school quarterback throw three long touchdown passes the way Ontario's Mickey Bush did Monday at Marlboro? More remarkable is the fact he threw them to the same player—George Colon. It was quite a feat.

Maple Leafs' 6-1 Victory Bower's Birthday Present

It was Johnny Bower's ump-goals into the second period tenth birthday and he celebrated with Murray Oliver, Allan Stanley and Jim Pappin clicking. To Maple Leafs to the top of the National Hockey League's East Division.

Bower, who is 43 if you believe the NHL record book, 44 if you believe him or 45 if you believe others, kicked out 38 Oakland shots as the Maple Leafs defeated the Seals 6-1 Wednesday night.

Combined with Boston's 6-3 romp over New York, the victory lifted the Stanley Cup champion Leafs into first place, one point in front of the Rangers.

Elsewhere, slumping Stan Mikita scored two goals as Chicago tripped Montreal 3-2. Minnesota slugged St. Louis 5-1, and Pittsburgh battled Philadelphia to a 1-1 standoff.

Ron Ellis' unassisted goal with less than five minutes remaining in the first period, got the Maple Leafs started against Oakland.

Then Toronto packed three Ranger goals.

Arc de Triomphe International Spawning Race

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — More thoroughbreds have come directly from the Arc de Triomphe run each October in Paris to the winner's circle at the Washington, D.C., International than from any other stakes ever leading to the Laurel classic.

The 16th annual running of the 1 1/4-mile turf classic will be held Saturday.

Two horses — Worden II in 1953 and Diatome in 1965 — finished third in France's race and set them up for Laurel scores. Also, Behistoun, who ran fourth in the Arc last fall, came to the International for an upset victory. Now there is another Arc third finisher here for the International.

It's England's Ribocco, regarded as one of the finest prospects to come from Britain since Wilwyn took the first running of John Schapiro's global classic in 1952.

If a horse in the nine-starter field has a chance of defeating Mrs. Edith Bancroft's Damascus, the 4-to-5 favorite, to thereby give England a second International victory, it's Ribocco, who was crowded back to last in the Arc and then closed with a rush for his third placing.

Maxie Baughan Awaits Eagles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Linebacker Maxie Baughan of the Los Angeles Rams has special reasons for a big day against the Philadelphia Eagles here Sunday.

"I've been waiting for this chance ever since I joined the Rams two years ago," he says. "I spent six years with the Eagles. I feel like I did at Georgia Tech before our annual homecoming game."

"I don't suppose I'll play any harder—I always play as hard as I can—but I sure want to make a good showing."

Baughan doesn't go into details but it is a fact that he asked the Eagles to trade him. Coach George Allen landed him for the Rams.

Baughan has great respect for the Eagles' quarterback, Norm Snead. He has the size of the Rams' Roman Gabriel, can fight off the rush and statistically, he's the No. 2 quarterback in the National Football League. "We seem to catch a hot passer every week now," Maxie observed.

The San Francisco 49ers protested that Baughan jammed their signals in the game at San Francisco Sunday which Los Angeles won 17-7. Maxie said he'll continue to call the defensive audible signals at the line.

Reds' Shamsky Traded to Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets have been seeking a left-handed power hitter and they feel they got him Wednesday in a trade with Cincinnati for Art Shamsky, a first baseman-outfielder.

The 26-year-old Shamsky, who once hit four consecutive homers for the Reds, comes to the Mets in exchange for 31-year-old infielder Bob Johnson.

"We traded age for power," said Bing Devine, general manager of the Mets. "Johnson did a good job for us, but we have few left-handed hitters and we think Shamsky will help our bench."

Johnson hit .348 last season compared to Shamsky's .197, but the Mets believe Shamsky can hit the long ball for them. He hit 21 homers in 1966, the year he got his four consecutive homers against Pittsburgh.

It was Devine's 19th deal since he succeeded George Weiss as Mets' general manager a year ago.

Area Ski Slopes In Albany Show

Belleayre Mountain and Hunter Mountain will be among 35 Eastern ski slopes represented at the sixth annual Capital and Ski Show opening Friday at Washington Avenue Armory in Albany.

Most of the areas will have their ski pros on hand to demonstrate the latest techniques on the Schine 10-ton ski deck and offer any tips to the beginning skier. An especially designed ski theatre will offer color sound movies.

This year's show will feature the fabulous internationally known Stratton Mountain Boys Austrian entertainers who are known for their Tyrolean dances on skis and their home land songs.

Purdue's Keyes Is Top Scorer

NEW YORK (AP) — Leroy Keyes of Purdue leads the country's major college football players in scoring with 90 points on 15 touchdowns, statistics released today by the NCAA showed.

Keyes stands a good chance of becoming the first Big Ten player to win the scoring crown since Tom Harmon did in 1939 and 1940. Butch Colson of East Carolina is second with 72 points and Lee Jones of Buffalo is third with 66.

Gerald Warren of North Carolina State leads the kick scorers with 58 points on 19 extra points and 13 field goals. Vic Washington of Wyoming leads in punt returns with 527 yards. Joe Casas of New Mexico leads in kickoff returns with 557 yards and Steve Haterius of West Texas State leads in pass interceptions with 11.

Palmer-Nicklaus World Golf Choices

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Eighty of the world's best golfers open play today in the 15th World Cup tournament with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer of the United States big favorites to repeat their 1966 team victory.

While the Americans are overwhelming favorites in the field of 40 national teams for the team title, they expect to get tough competition for individual honors from half a dozen top professionals.

There is no big chunk of prize money in this tournament — only $3,000 for the individual champion—but many of the golfers feel national prestige is at stake in the 72-hole tournament on the par 72, 7,250-yard Club de Golf Mexico course.

Top golfers who may give Nicklaus, the leading pro money winner this year, and Palmer competition for individual honors are Gary Player of South Africa, defending individual champion George Knudson of Canada, Bruce Crampton of Australia, Boz Charles of New Zealand, Juan "Chi Chi" Rodriguez of Puerto Rico and Dave Thomas of Wales.

The course, stretched out to make the longest ever used in World Cup play for the largest number of entries ever, is a narrow, demanding layout an hour from downtown Mexico City.

Palmer, who had his only practice on the course Wednesday during the pro-am when he carded a 76, said he is passing up the Cajun Classic at Lafayette, La., which mean Nicklaus will be the 1967 leading money winner on the PGA tour. His victory at the Sahara Open gave him $188,998 in the official winnings. Palmer has won a bit more than $182,000.

Graham Protests Mercein Signing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington Redskins' Coach Otto Graham said Wednesday he has filed a formal protest over the signing of taxi squad fullback Chuck Mercein by the Green Bay Packers.

Graham accused Packers' Coach Vince Lombardi of breaking his word not to sign Mercein if the Redskins had plans to use him. The Washington coach said Mercein might have been activated this week.

"Lombardi did not wait to see about our plans for Mercein. He went ahead and did it. He did not keep his word," Graham charged Wednesday.

NFL: Cleveland at Green Bay

More important for the Browns than it is for the Packers because Green Bay has a comfortable bulge in Central Division, while Cleveland's tied for Century lead with St. Louis. But it's vital for Packers to show more offense and work up winning momentum. They could be hurting for backfield help with Pitts and maybe Grabowski out. Starr's still not as sharp as he should be.

Cleveland 24, Green Bay 20.
AFL: Buffalo at New York

Jets faced problem of re-establishing themselves as winners, too, after K.C. debacle. Bills have been horrible to date, but they still have good mathematical chance to spur them on. And this is time of year the Jets habitually slump. New York needs a stronger running game. Buffalo needs one strong game to find itself.

More remarkable is the fact he threw them to the same player—George Colon. It was quite a feat.

Maple Leafs' 6-1 Victory Bower's Birthday Present

It was Johnny Bower's ump-goals into the second period tenth birthday and he celebrated with Murray Oliver, Allan Stangely and Jim Pappin clicking to Maple Leafs to the top of the National Hockey League's East Division.

Bower, who is 43 if you believe the NHL record book, 44 if you believe him or 45 if you believe others, kicked out 38 Oakland shots as the Maple Leafs defeated the Seals 6-1 Wednesday night.

Combined with Boston's 6-3 romp over New York, the victory lifted the Stanley Cup champion Leafs into first place, one point in front of the Rangers.

Elsewhere, slumping Stan Mikita scored two goals as Chicago tripped Montreal 3-2, Minnesota slugged St. Louis 5-1, and Pittsburgh battled Philadelphia to a 1-1 standoff.

Ron Ellis' unassisted goal first goal came while he was with less than five minutes left in the first period, got the second just six seconds into the Maple Leafs started against the third period.

Then Toronto packed three Ranger goals.

NFL: Cleveland at Green Bay

More important for the Browns than it is for the Packers because Green Bay has a comfortable bulge in Central Division, while Cleveland's tied for Century lead with St. Louis. But it's vital for Packers to show more offense and work up a winning momentum. They could be hurting for backfield help with Pitts and maybe Grabowski out. Starr's still not as sharp as he should be.

Cleveland 24, Green Bay 20.

AFL: Buffalo at New York

Jets faced problem of re-establishing themselves as winners, too, after K.C. debacle. Bills have been horrible to date, but they still have good mathematical chance to spur them on. And this is time of year the Jets habitually slump. New York needs a stronger running game. Buffalo needs one strong game to find itself.

Buffalo 28, New York 17

The initial game was a disappointment, financially and artistically. Only 63,036 fans attended and the NFL's Green Bay Packers routed the Kansas City Chiefs 35-10.

An expected sellout of the 75,546-seat Orange Bowl would bring in $796,822. Television and radio revenue, up this year from $2 million to $2.5 million, would make the total gross $3,296,822.

This would top by more than one-half million the $2,760,260 grossed at Los Angeles.

In a release to a news conference here, football Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced that public ticket sales would be handled by the Orange Bowl committee and that the 13,000 holders of season tickets for the Miami Dolphin games would be given priorities in ticket purchases.

Arc de Triomphe International Spawning Race

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — More thoroughbreds have come directly from the Arc de Triomphe run each October in Paris to the winner's circle at the Washington, D.C., International than from any other stakes ever leading to the Laurel classic.

Yet, never has an International winner been a winner in the Arc de Triomphe.

The 16th annual running of the 1 1/4-mile turf classic will be held Saturday.

Two horses — Worden II in 1953 and Diatome in 1965 — finished third in France's race and it set them up for Laurel scores. Also, Behistoun, who ran fourth in the Arc last fall, came to the International for an upset victory. Now there is another Arc third finisher here for the International.

It's England's Ribocco, regarded as one of the finest prospects to come from Britain since Wilwyn took the first running of John Schapiro's global classic in 1952.

If a horse in the nine-starter field has a chance of defeating Mrs. Edith Bancroft's Damascus, the 4-to-5 favorite, to thereby give England a second International victory, it's Ribocco, who was crowded back to last in the Arc and then closed with a rush for his third placing.

Maxie Baughan Awaits Eagles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Linebacker Maxie Baughan of the Los Angeles Rams has special reasons for a big day against the Philadelphia Eagles here Sunday.

"I've been waiting for this chance ever since I joined the Rams two years ago," he says. "I spent six years with the Eagles. I feel like I did at Georgia Tech before our annual homecoming game."

"I don't suppose I'll play any harder—I always play as hard as I can—but I sure want to make a good showing."

Baughan doesn't go into details but it is a fact that he asked the Eagles to trade him. Coach George Allen landed him for the Rams.

Baughan has great respect for the Eagles' quarterback, Norm Snead. He has the size of the Rams' Roman Gabriel, can fight off the rush and statistically, he's the No. 2 quarterback in the National Football League. "We seem to catch a hot pass every week now," Maxie observed.

The San Francisco 49ers protested that Baughan jammed their signals in the game at San Francisco Sunday which Los Angeles won 17-7. Maxie said he'll continue to call the defensive audible signals at the line.

Reds' Shamsky Traded to Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets have been seeking a left-handed power hitter and they feel they got him Wednesday in a trade with Cincinnati for Art Shamsky, a first baseman-outfielder.

The 26-year-old Shamsky, who once hit four consecutive homers for the Reds, comes to the Mets in exchange for 31-year-old infielder Bob Johnson.

"We traded age for power," said Bing Devine, general manager of the Mets. "Johnson did a good job for us, but we have few left-handed hitters and we think Shamsky will help our bench."

Johnson hit 348 last season compared to Shamsky's 197 but the Mets believe Shamsky can hit the long ball for them. He hit 21 homers in 1966, the year he got his four consecutive homers against Pittsburgh.

It was Devine's 19th deal since he succeeded George Weiss as Mets' general manager a year ago.

Area Ski Slopes In Albany Show

Belleayre Mountain and Hunter Mountain will be among 35 Eastern ski slopes represented at the sixth annual Capital and Ski Show opening Friday at Washington Avenue Armory in Albany.

Most of the areas will have their ski pros on hand to demonstrate the latest techniques on the Schine 10-ton ski deck and offer any tips to the beginning skier. An especially designed ski theatre will offer color sound movies.

This year's show will feature the fabulous internationally known Stratton Mountain Boys Austrian entertainers who are known for their Tyrolean dances on skis and their home land songs.

The $2,450 seats between the goal lines were priced at $12. Another 14,423 behind the goal lines will be $8 and end zone seats $6. Lower priced tickets will be placed on public sale at the Orange Bowl starting Nov. 27.

Approximately 55,000 tickets will be available to the public, 34,000 by mail order and 21,000 at the windows. The two competing teams will be allocated 5,000 tickets each and the other pro clubs will receive additional priorities.

Players and coaches of the winning team will receive $15,000 each. Losing players and coaches will get $7,500. Of the remaining net receipts, 50 per cent will go to the player benefit plans of the two leagues, five per cent to each competing club, 10 per cent to each league office, and 20 per cent to the commissioner's office.

Farnsworth Has New Skiing Film

Jim Farnsworth will narrate all new film production, "Skiing Is" at the Hudson Valley Ski-O-Rama at Arlington Junior high school auditorium, Dutchess Turnpike, Wednesday, Nov. 15, at 8 p. m.

The scenes in the film run from Alta, Utah to the Eastern Slopes, by way of the Alps of France and Switzerland. The skiers are Jean-Claude Killy at Cannon Mountain; Art Furrer at Bolton Valley and Simon Biner at Zermatt. Also featured are Robert McNamara on the Matterhorn and Lowell Thomas at Alta.

Displays and demonstrations of ski equipment will be presented by Ski and Sport Shop of Poughkeepsie and Potter Brothers Sporting Goods' Poughkeepsie store at 26 New Market Street.

Purdue's Keyes Is Top Scorer

NEW YORK (AP) — Leroy Keyes of Purdue leads the country's major college football players in scoring with 90 points on 15 touchdowns, statistics released today by the NCAA showed.

Keyes stands a good chance of becoming the first Big Ten player to win the scoring crown since Tom Harmon did in 1939 and 1940. Butch Colson of East Carolina is second with 72 points and Lee Jones of Buffalo is third with 66.

Gerald Warren of North Carolina State leads the kick scorers with 58 points on 19 extra points and 13 field goals. Vic Washington of Wyoming leads in punt returns with 527 yards. Joe Casas of New Mexico leads in kickoff returns with 557 yards and Steve Haterius of West Texas State leads in pass interceptions with 11.

Texan Hanover Yonkers Winner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Texan Hanover, a 4-year-old son of Tar Heel, dashed to a two-length victory over Slick Yankee in the $5,000 pace at Yonkers Raceway Wednesday night.

The mile, clocked in a moderate 2:03 1-5, highlighted the evening's harness racing in New York State.

Texan Hanover, driven by Harold Dancer Jr., returned $5-60. Rendezvous Truder was third.

The game, to be televised and broadcast by the Columbia Broadcasting System, will be blacked out within a 75-mile radius of Miami.

The Green Bay Packers defeated the Kansas City Chiefs 30-10 in the first AFL-NFL playoff. Tickets for that game were priced at $12, $10 and $6 and the gross ticket sale was $707,560.

At 49 players per club, the amount paid out in this manner would be $1,102,500. The remainder of the net receipts will be distributed 50 per cent to the player benefit plans of the two leagues, five per cent to each competing club, 10 per cent to each league office and 20 per cent to Rozelle's office.

Rozelle said orders for tickets should be addressed to World Championship Games, Box 748, Miami, Fla.

Palmer-Nicklaus World Golf Choices

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Eighty of the world's best golfers open play today in the 15th World Cup tournament with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer of the United States big favorites to repeat their 1966 team victory.

While the Americans are overwhelming favorites in the field of 40 national teams for the team title, they expect to get tough competition for individual honors from half a dozen top professionals.

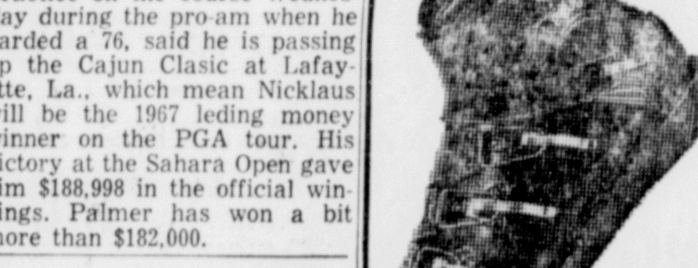

There is no big chunk of prize money in this tournament — only $3,000 for the individual champion—but many of the golfers feel national prestige is at stake in the 72-hole tournament on the par 72, 7,250-yard Club de Golf Mexico course.

Top golfers who may give Nicklaus, the leading pro money winner this year, and Palmer competition for individual honors are Gary Player of South Africa, defending individual champion George Knudson of Canada, Bruce Crampton of Australia, Bob Charles of New Zealand, Juan "Chi Chi" Rodriguez of Puerto Rico and Dave Thomas of Wales.

The course, stretched out to make the longest ever used in World Cup play for the largest number of entries ever, is a narrow, demanding layout an hour from downtown Mexico City.

Palmer, who had his only practice on the course Wednesday during the pro-am when he carded a 76, said he is passing up the Cajun Classic at Lafayette, La., which mean Nicklaus will be the 1967 leading money winner on the PGA tour. His victory at the Sahara Open gave him $188,998 in the official winnings. Palmer has won a bit more than $182,000.

Original Screenplay —
Axelrod Is HopefulHOLLYWOOD (AP) — The
comeback of the original screenplay is predicted and devoutly hoped for by George
Axelrod, an experienced practitioner of that now rare art form.For the outsider, it should be explained that films are derived from two sources; previously written material, such as plays, novels, television shows, comic strips, etc.; and original screen-plays, written expressly for the film medium.Axelrod is a veteran of both adaptations, "The Seven Year
Itch," "Bus Stop," "The Manchurian Candidate," and originals, "Phfft," "How to Murder
Your Wife." Right now he is producing and directing his own original screenplay of "The Female Mistake," starring Walter Matthau and Anne Jackson."Actually I could have done this first as a play, since it would fit comfortably into two sets," said Axelrod, a cherubic 45. "But by the time I had gone through the process of putting it on the stage, I would have been too tired of it to film the movie.""So I'm writing it on film instead. The camera is a marvelous typewriter; you can use

faces instead of words."

Axelrod hopes that other writers will follow his course and aim their works directly at the screen, instead of fashioning plays or novels first."The original screenplay was once a fine institution," he observed. "All the great screwball comedies of the 1930s were originals.""But after the war producers began to shy away from originals. Because of the greatly increased cost of making films, they wanted pre-sold properties—that is, novels and plays that had already been tested on the public. Also, the studios no longer had those vast reservoirs of writing talent to turn out originals."European film makers have not been so restricted. They have relied more on originals
than on adaptations; the results can be seen in the Motion Picture Academy's nominations for best original screenplay, which have been dominated by Europeans in recent years.Axelrod sees the tide turning with such recent originals as"Bonnie and Clyde" and "Thoroughly Modern Millie." They are still difficult to sell to the studios, he admitted, but that feat can be worked by tying up a star to go with the package, or by being a hyphenate. In Hollywood parlance a hyphenate is a multifunctional creator like Axelrod, writer-director-producer.WOODSTOCK

Original Screenplay — Axelrod Is Hopeful

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The
comeback of the original screenplay is predicted and devoutly hoped for by George
Axelrod, an experienced practitioner of that now rare art form.

For the outsider, it should be explained that films are derived from two sources: previously
written material, such as plays,
novels, television shows, comic
strips, etc., and original screen-plays, written expressly for the film medium.

Axelrod is a veteran of both adaptations. "The Seven Year
Itch," "Bus Stop," "The Man-
churian Candidate" and originals, "Phift," "How to Murder
Your Wife." Right now he is producing and directing his own
original screenplay of "The Female Mistake," starring Walter Matthau and Anne Jackson.

"Actually I could have done
this first as a play, since it would fit comfortably into two sets," said Axelrod, a cherubic 45. "But by the time I had gone through the process of putting it on the stage, I would have been too tired of it to film the movie.

"So I'm writing it on film instead. The camera is a marvelous typewriter; you can use

faces instead of words."

Axelrod hopes that other writers will follow his course and
aim their works directly at the screen, instead of fashioning plays or novels first.

"The original screenplay was once a fine institution," he observed. "All the great screwball
comedies of the 1930s were originals."

"But after the war producers began to shy away from originals. Because of the greatly increased cost of making films, they wanted pre-sold properties—that is, novels and plays that had already been tested on the public. Also, the studios no longer had those vast reservoirs of writing talent to turn out originals."

European film makers have not been so restricted. They have relied more on originals
than on adaptations; the results
can be seen in the Motion Picture Academy's nominations for best original screenplay, which have been dominated by Europeans in recent years.

Axelrod sees the tide turning with such recent originals as

"Bonnie and Clyde" and "Thoroughly Modern Millie." They are still difficult to sell to the studios, he admitted, but that feat can be worked by tying up
a star to go with the package, or
by being a hyphenate. In Hollywood parlance a hyphenate is a
multifunctional creator like Axelrod, writer-director-producer.

City Slicker Vultures Return to Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami's soaring condors of Peru and 20th century vultures — something like the swallows of Capistrano but more like the messy starlings of northern city halls — are back in town, once more forsaking the wilderness of the Everglades for gracious urban living.

The city-slicker vultures — with wing spreads up to six feet — decided 10 or 12 years ago that the Dade County courthouse, despite crowded conditions and the noise that goes with urban apartments, would make a good homestead.

Their less enlightened country cousins continued the tired, old migration to the Everglades.

Good Samaritan, Holdup Victim At Austerlitz

AUSTERLITZ, N.Y. (AP) — State Police are searching for a modern-day Belle Starr.

The new version of the Old West bad girl appeared Wednesday night when a young woman wearing dark clothing stepped onto Route 22 near this hamlet southeast of Albany and flagged down a motorist.

Ulster Approves Operating Funds

Budgets to provide funds for general purposes and for the town highway department for 1968 were approved Wednesday night by the Town Board of Ulster after a public hearing called for the purpose of discussing the preliminary budgets.

Supervisor Thaddeus Musiakiewicz presided at the hearing during which the proposed figures were reviewed and explained by town officials.

The general fund budget as proposed totals $150,664 with anticipated revenues listed at $140,395.96. The amount to be raised by taxation for general town purposes will be $10,268.04. Supervisor Musiakiewicz noted the tax rate on this item will be approximately $1.06 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The highway department appropriation for 1968 was estimated at $141,810. The tax rate on this item was estimated at approximately $14.60 per $1,000.

The appropriation for the special Whittier Sewer District was estimated at $9,600 with anticipated revenues listed at $5,500. The amount to be raised by taxation within this district will be $4,100. The tax rate for taxpayers in the district last year was $28.80 per

The appropriation for the Ulster Water District was estimated at $134,280 with anticipated revenues amounting to $80,000. The amount to be raised by taxation within the water district will be approximately $54,280.

The 1967 tax rate in the water district was $12.18 per $1,000 of assessed valuation and the anticipated rate for 1968 will be $8.55 per $1,000, a reduction of $3.63.

Supervisor Musiakiewicz explained that the budgets approved last night pertain only to the Town of Ulster operations, any county taxes will be separate and apart from the town rates.

Special appropriations for other districts including light and fire are stabilized and pertain only to those areas of the township. The fire companies in the town submit their individual estimates over which the town has no jurisdiction.

City Slicker Vultures Return to Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami's 20th century vultures — something like the swallows of Capistrano but more like the messy starlings of northern city halls — are back in town, once more forsaking the wilderness of the Everglades for gracious urban living.

Again they're soaring over bustling, neon-lit downtown Miami as though it were a game preserve.

The city-slicker vultures — with wings spread up to six feet — decided 10 or 12 years ago that the Dade County courthouse, despite crowded conditions and the noise that goes with urban apartments, would make a good home.

Their less enlightened country cousins continued the tired, old migration to the Everglades.

"It's unique, I don't know of any other city where vultures roost on a building," said Dr. Oscar Owre, ornithologist at the University of Miami. "They usually don't favor civilization."

Some are year-round tenants on top of the 28-story building, but conditions aren't really crowded until the snow flies in the north. Sometimes more than 50 are visible on top of the building.

"They're like the tourists," said J. Norman Peters, building superintendent, "some are here all year but the big flock comes to Florida in the winter."

Politicians have corny jokes to explain why the vultures chose the courthouse and the biologists have theories.

Temple Emanuel

A birthday family sabbath service will be conducted at Temple Emanuel, Friday, beginning 7:30 p. m. Children in the religious school with birthdays in October and November will be blessed by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn and will receive a small gift. The Oneg Shabat following services will be held in their honor.

Children are Michael Beller, Naomi Katz, Barry Motzkin, Elizabeth Neporent, David Popkin, Elizabeth Reamer, Carol Siller, Robert Abramsky, Mitchell Bell, Lori Braunstein, Lisa Feldman, Sara Freeman, Kenneth Friedman, Steve Goldberg, Lisa Goodheim, Wendy Jackaway, Barbara Jacobs, David Kantor, Monte Kramer, Carol Krystel, Kate LaRussa, Hilda Meisner, Seth Meyer, Richard Neporent, Lawrence Pizik, Warren Pizik, Robin Wissok, and Ben Wittner. The service will be conducted by this year's confirmation class assisted by Rabbi Eichhorn and Leonard Zimet. They are Margot Gold, Claudia Randel, Jane Miller, Hava Wolf and Deborah Reamer.

During memorial services the memories of the following persons will be invoked: Morris Block, Ida Gasol and Sarah Jacob.

The Temple Brotherhood will join a brunch Sunday, 10 a. m. for the men of Temple Emanuel and prospective members. The guest speaker will be Jim Tyrrell, radio announcer, who will speak on "How we can make this area a better place to live." Reservations may be made by contacting Albert Spiegel, Charles Jacobs or Edward Levine.

There will be no adult study class Tuesday evening. Next meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 28, at 8 p. m.

Kitty-Kat

NEW YORK (AP) — When three little girls found an abandoned kitten with a broken leg, they set up a lemonade and hot chocolate stand to earn money to take the kitten to a veterinarian. Then ASPCA officials, hearing about the project, came to the rescue. The kitten was treated without charge at their facilities in Manhattan.

Ulster Approves Operating Funds

Budgets to provide funds for general purposes and for the town highway department for 1968 were approved Wednesday night by the Town Board of Ulster after a public hearing called for the purpose of discussing the preliminary budgets.

Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz presided at the hearing during which the proposed figures were reviewed and explained by town officials.

The general fund budget as proposed totals $150,664 with anticipated revenues listed at $140,395.96. The amount to be raised by taxation for general town purposes will be $10,268.04. Supervisor Musialkiewicz noted the tax rate on this item will be approximately $1.06 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The highway department appropriation for 1968 was estimated at $141,810. The tax rate on this item was estimated at approximately $14.60 per $1,000.

The appropriation for the special Whittier Sewer District was estimated at $9,600 with anticipated revenues listed at $5,500. The amount to be raised by taxation within this district will be $4,100. The tax rate for taxpayers in the district last year was $28.80 per

The appropriation for the Ulster Water District was estimated at $134,280 with anticipated revenues amounting to $80,000. The amount to be raised by taxation within the water district will be approximately $54,280.

The 1967 tax rate in the water district was $12.18 per $1,000 of assessed valuation and the anticipated rate for 1968 will be $8.55 per $1,000, a reduction of $3.63.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz explained that the budgets approved last night pertain only to the Town of Ulster operations, any county taxes will be separate and apart from the town rates.

Special appropriations for other districts including light and fire are stabilized and pertain only to those areas of the township. The fire companies in the town submit their individual estimates over which the town has no jurisdiction.

Dear Abby

In-Law by Any Other-?

(© 1967 by Chicago Tribune, N. Y.
New Synd., Inc.)
DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "Just an in-law" got my goat. Why should in-laws be "hurt" over what they are (or are not) called? If the relationship is right, they will be called whatever the new son-in-law or daughter-in-law feels comfortable calling them. If they aren't called anything, that's all right.

Too. The most important thing is for everyone to feel at ease.

I don't think there is any problem unless a person makes one.

VINCENT
DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me how mother-in-law got to be such a dirty name?
I have friends with married children who detest being referred to as "my mother-in-law." Why? That's what they are.
I do not wish to be called "mother" by anyone other than my own children. It sounds so forced and artificial.
A young woman comes into the family as a stranger, really, and after having properly addressed me as "Mrs. Jones" during the time my son courted her, suddenly I am "mother!"
No thank you.
CALL ME GLADYS

DEAR ABBY: Would you believe that I have been married for 4 years and have avoided addressing my mother-in-law directly because I do not know what to call her?
If she would only say,
"Please, call me Hilda, or mother, or mom," I would be so relieved. Please print this as many of my friends have the same problem.
BEWILDERED

DEAR ABBY: My darling daughter-in-law didn't have to worry very long about what to call me. She (and everyone else) started calling me "grandma" 5 months after my son married her. I don't recommend this as a solution, but it did solve a problem.

GRANDMA
DEAR ABBY: Don't tell me about young wives who call their mothers-in-law "mother."
I have several friends who call their mothers-in-law
"mother" to their faces, but you should hear what they call them behind their backs. Respect? Hah!

AMUSED
DEAR ABBY: I think complete honesty is the answer to what to call the in-laws:
The night my daughter's beau showed up with the ring, he turned to my husband and me and said, "After Marie and I are married, what would you like me to call you?" I said, "Anything you like."
He replied, "I have a mother and father of my own, so if you don't mind, I'll call you 'Belle mere and Beau frede.'"
And that's the way it's been for many years.

HAPPY IN QUEBEC
DEAR ABBY: Tres bien. If you have "de gaulle."

Fine for spreading influence, increasing popularity. Today you get what you go after. Be selective. Choose quality.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20):
Opposite sex is attracted. Today you exude a kind of magnetism. You could sell almost anything. Your enthusiasm is contagious. Fine for meeting people, winning new friends.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Favorable news indicated in connection with ambitions, career. Prestige rises. You are able to make important contacts. Follow through on hunch. Intuition is honed to sharp edge.

CANCER (June 21-July 22):
Visits today provide excitement, stimulation. Be versatile enough to make necessary changes. Don't be bogged down with one thought, method. Key is flexibility.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You catch up on savings program, budget. Means you find out how to avoid waste. Fine for embarking upon program to conquer tendency toward extravagance. Begin to conserve.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22):
You feel expensive. You want to spread influence, to multiply experiences. Study LEO message. Be lenient without wasting. Draw line of balance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22):
What you do today has much bearing on future. Stress on work, partners, general relations with public. Key is diplomacy. Don't argue with family. Make domestic adjustment quietly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21):
Secrets today seem to dominate attention. Means people press you. In turn you are protective, reticent. Emphasis on dealings with opposite sex.

Don't tell all you know. Be discreet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Good fortune appears to strike home. You get what you need in way of backing, both moral and financial.
Pressure is on opposition. You ride home free. Go all out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan.
19): Not wise to run away from responsibilities. Temptation is to play rather than work.
Achieve balance. Social activity is emphasized. But greater enjoyment results when job is finished.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb.
18): Good news is connected with possessions, special hobby, collection or money. Your own creative resources are most important. Know this.
Keep it in focus.

PISCIS (Feb. 19-Mar. 20):
You may be called upon for surprise appearance, talk. Be ready. Maintain poise. Don't be upset by one who is envious.
Statz facis. Be frank. Highlight sincerity.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are independent, original, a person who tends to lead rather than follow. You are a pioneer, willing to strive for something new. Some claim you are egotistical. But in truth you respect yourself as well as others. Your life has changed in the past month due to added responsibilities, perhaps because of marriage.

GENERAL TENDENCIES:
Cycle high for PISCES,
ARIES. Special word to VIR-GO: communicate desires. One close to you wants to aid cause.

One advantage of Landy and similar conventions is that few people have learned how to defend against it. Actually the defense is simple if you and your partner have worked it out.
The Landy two club bid asks for major suits. If you, as partner of the no-trump bidder, double two clubs you simply say that you have a good hand, and are interested in going on to game or in doubling your opponents when they get into their major suit. A bid of two or three diamonds or three clubs is competitive and nonforcing, while a bid of two no-trump is a very mild invitation to go on to game. A bid of two hearts or spades shows a poor hand but a good suit and no defense against the other major suit, while a bid of three hearts or three spades is a strong invitation to game in that suit and is bid in spite of the fact that you know your opponent is likely to hold five trumps against you.

You may also ignore the two club call completely as Jeff Glick of Miami did some years ago when Alvin Landy was making one of his few appearances at the table. Jeff and Alvin were one of our great partnerships once upon a time, and Alvin handled the three no-trump contract superbly.

He won the heart opening, led a diamond to dummy's king and finessed against East's queen. He did this because he knew that West was long in the majors. Then he cashed his ace of diamonds, entered dummy with the ace of clubs; ran the rest of the diamonds, came back to his hand with the king of clubs, laid down the ace of hearts for his 10th trick and threw West in with a heart.
West had been forced to hang on to the ace and queen of spades and had to give Alvin one more overtrick.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

There were 1,534 motorcycle fatalities in 1965, one-third more than in 1964 and more than double the toll of 1960, reports The World Almanac. If this trend continues, deaths resulting from motorcycling would reach 5,000 a year by 1970. There were 1.4 million motorcycles in 1965. If the current rate of increase continues, five million would be in use by 1970.

Dear Abby

In-Law by Any Other-?

(© 1967 by Chicago Tribune, N. Y.
New Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "Just an In-law" got my goat. Why should in-laws be "hurt" over what they are (or are not) called? If the relationship is right, they will be called whatever the new son-in-law or daughter-in-law feels comfortable calling them. If they aren't called anything, that's all right, too. The most important thing is for everyone to feel at ease.

I don't think there is any problem unless a person makes one.

VINCENT

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me how mother-in-law got to be such a dirty name? I have friends with married children who detest being referred to as "my mother-in-law." Why? That's what they are.

I do not wish to be called "mother" by anyone other than my own children. It sounds so forced and artificial.

A young woman comes into the family as a stranger, really, and after having properly addressed me as "Mrs. Jones" during the time my son courted her, suddenly I am "mother"! No thank you.

CALL ME GLADYS

DEAR ABBY: Would you believe that I have been married for 4 years and have avoided addressing my mother-in-law directly because I do not know what to call her?

If she would only say, "Please, call me Hilda, or mother, or mom," I would be so relieved. Please print this as many of my friends have the same problem.

BEWILDERED

DEAR ABBY: My darling daughter-in-law didn't have to worry very long about what to call me. She (and everyone else) started calling me "grandma" 5 months after my son married her. I don't recommend this as a solution, but it did solve a problem.

GRANDMA

DEAR ABBY: Don't tell me about young wives who call their mothers-in-law "mother" out of respect.

I have several friends who call their mothers-in-law "mother" to their faces, but you should hear what they call them behind their backs. Respect? Hah!

AMUSED

DEAR ABBY: I think complete honesty is the answer to what to call the in-laws:

The night my daughter's beau showed up with the ring, he turned to my husband and me and said, "After Marie and I are married, would you like me to call you?" I said, "Anything you like."

He replied, "I have a mother and father of my own, so if you don't mind, I'll call you 'Belle mere and Beau frede'."

And that's the way it's been for many years.

HAPPY IN QUEBEC

DEAR ABBY: Tres bien. If you have "de gaulle."

'Androcles' on Tube Soon

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — A rare treat will come along on NBC Television Wednesday—a musical adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion." The music was written by Richard Rodgers.

OFFICE CAT

By Junius

The only pot of gold you'll find at the foot of the rainbow is the one you have placed there yourself.

Rich Man—There's no sense in teaching the boy to count over 100. He can hire accountants to do his bookkeeping.

Tutor—Yes, sir, but he'll want to play his own game of golf, won't he?

Johnny—Do you keep animal crackers?

Mrs. Jones—No, but we have some very nice dog biscuits.

Bill—My wife says if I don't chuck golf, she'll leave me. Phil—I say—hard luck!

Bill—Yes, I'll miss her.

Sgt. Smith—You've already had leave, Ferguson, to see your wife off on a journey—for your mother-in-law's funeral—for your little girl's measles—your boy's christening—what is it now?

Pvt. Ferguson—I'm going to get married, sir.

Exactness in little duties is a wonderful source of cheerfulness.

Ed—Do you think a woman should tell everything she knows?

Ted—Yes, but that's all.

The doctor examined the shins of his husky male patient with a puzzled look. They were badly dented and discolored.

Dr. Blank—I suppose you are an addict of hockey or soccer?

Mr. Jay—Neither, doc. All I play is bridge.

Young chap to friend—He just doesn't plan for the future at all. He's getting married next month and hasn't even found her a job.

Husband calling his wife to the telephone: John—Dear, somebody wants to listen to you.

cal adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion." The music was written by Richard Rodgers.

Arouses Suspicions

The 90-minute program sounds so delightful, in fact, that it arouses suspicions. After what happened to "My Fair Lady," the musical adaptation of Shaw's "Pygmalion," on the stage and motion pictures, how come television is getting first crack at a similar project?

Mark Merson, an independent packager and producer, said that it just happened to work out that way. He was looking, he said, for a classic to adapt for TV, and remembered the Shaw play which he saw when he was nine and in which Eva Le Gallienne and Ernest Truex starred.

He sought permission to use the play, written in 1913, from the late playwright's representatives, the Society of Authors, in England.

"They turned out to be a marvelous bunch of old ladies working in a headquarters on the outskirts of London, and they act like watchdogs on Shaw's work," Merson said.

"They liked the idea and sent me on to negotiate a deal with Shaw's executors. And they work with a literary critic—identity unknown—and part of the deal is script approval."

Merson then approached Richard Rodgers. The composer "read the play one night and the next day said he wanted to do it." At this point Merson took his idea to NBC and the network snapped it up.

Taped Last August

The show was taped last August, 18 months almost to a day from the time Merson started to work on it. The production cost close to $500,000 and stars Norman Wisdom, Ed Ames, Noel

Fulbright, Humphrey Clash Over U.S. Aims in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey reportedly clashed verbally over administration aims in Southeast Asia at a White House briefing on Wednesday.

Humphrey reported Wednesday to President Johnson, Cabinet, Security Council members and lawmakers of both parties on his Southeast Asia survey trip at a session in which attending Senate and House members were allowed one question each.

In the course of this round robin, Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is said to have contended the administration is taking conflicting positions on what it is trying to accomplish in Vietnam.

A persistent war policy critic, Fulbright reportedly cited the statements of U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg that the United States is fighting to insure the right of the South Vietnamese to political self-determination.

On the other hand, Fulbright reportedly said, Humphrey's recent statements have supported a thesis Johnson has laid down in recent utterances—that the real enemy is aggressive Asian communism, headquartered in Red China.

Fulbright has said a policy of containing Chinese Communism expansion implies permanent U.S. occupation of parts of Southeast Asia instead of relatively early withdrawal of American military forces after a negotiated end to the war.

After reciting this premise, the Arkansas senator was said to have asked Humphrey: "Just who is our enemy there?"

"You don't have to ask the GI whose leg has been cut off who the enemy is," Humphrey was quoted as replying.

Fulbright got no chance to pursue the issue further when the questioning round passed to another.

Fulbright would not comment on the exchange except to say Humphrey gave a report "intended to convey the impression that things are going well in Vietnam." Humphrey did not discuss the meeting with newsmen.

Kiwanis Rose Profit $1,410

A net profit of $1,410.17 from the annual Rose Sale for the Kingston Kiwanis Club was announced today by vice president John McCullough, chairman of the rose committee.

The proceeds from the annual sale of roses is placed in the Welfare Fund of the Kiwanis Club and utilized throughout the year for various projects sponsored by the civic organization.

Chrysler, UAW in Accord

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers union, after 34 consecutive hours of bargaining, have a tentative agreement today on a contract covering 95,000 of the company's 103,000 UAW members.

Despite the agreement, some workers were on walkout that hobbled Chrysler output. Negotiators were too weary Wednesday night to continue bargaining on contract provisions covering 8,000 salaried workers the UAW represents at Chrysler, but spokesman said they hoped to have these problems solved by the weekend. UAW President Walter P. Reuther called it "the best agreement we've ever had" — even bigger than the estimated 6 per cent gains the union got at Ford two weeks ago to end a 46-day strike.

Almost identical to the Ford pact, the Chrysler contract provides wage and fringe benefit gains of more than $1 an hour, with some wage gains alone amounting to 93 cents an hour over the three-year life of the pact.

The union also achieved at Chrysler the only major demand it failed to win at Ford — pay parity for Canadians. Ford's Canadian subsidiaries, who, by mid-1970, will be paid the same amount per job as their American counterparts. The Chrysler accord came less than four hours before a Wednesday midnight strike deadline, which the UAW immediately dissolved. But by then Chrysler plants employing 35,000 were out of action because of walkouts by workers who jumped the gun on the strike deadline.

The corporation's car production sagged by 64 per cent and truck output was completely stopped by the walkouts, which lingered on today.

Reuther said the union would try to get strikers back to work "as soon as possible."

The UAW has sought parity since 1939, but only recently exerted extreme pressure to win it. Chrysler said the disparity would be eliminated from the paychecks of its 12,000 Canadian UAW members in these steps: 10 per cent on July 1, 1968; 10 per cent Dec. 1, 1968; 20 per cent June 1, 1969; 25 per cent Dec. 1, 1969; 30 per cent June 1, 1970.

Dad Shoots Wife, Orphans Fourteen

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Three of Joel V. Turnbow's 14 children saw him kill their mother and then end his own life with a shot in the head Wednesday.

It was the grim climax to one of many quarrels between the unemployed trucker, 45, and his ex-wife Marie, 42, who had divorced him March 3.

Nine of their children still lived with the mother, and her death raised a question of where they will find a home. Before the day was over, however, there was talk of keeping them together.

He said Humphrey expressed confidence that the switch from military to civilian government will bring about a regime more responsible to the South Vietnamese people.

"He indicated that more can be expected in reform, rehabilitation and reconstruction," Mansfield said. "But the chief obstacles remain. The road ahead is long and rocky and as of the moment there appears to be no end in sight for the war."

They saw Mrs. Turnbow run outside the East Fort Worth home during an argument which developed an hour after the trucker arrived in the forenoon.

Turnbow caught his former wife in a neighbor's yard, threw her to the ground and shot her three times with a .22-caliber pistol, Nita told Detective W.T. Eary. Then Turnbow fired a bullet into his brain.

A medical examiner entered a verdict of murder and suicide. Nita said her mother tried to telephone for police but was unable to make the call because the lines had been cut.

"He always told mother, 'I'll kill you and myself if you get a divorce,'" related Dora Morgan, one of the couple's older daughters.

Mrs. Morgan said a family council will be held as soon as all can get together and they will decide what to do about her younger brothers and sisters.

Besides Nina, Tina and Cindy, those still living at home are Linda, 16; Robert, 14; Theresa, 12; Gary, 11; Valery, 8, and Mike, 6.

Fulbright, Humphrey Clash Over U.S. Aims in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey reportedly clashed verbally over administration aims in Southeast Asia at a White House briefing on Vietnam.

Humphrey reported Wednesday to President Johnson, Cabinet, Security Council members and lawmakers of both parties on his Southeast Asia survey trip at a session in which attending Senate and House members were allowed one question each.

In the course of this round robin, Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is said to have contended the administration is taking conflicting positions on what it is trying to accomplish in Vietnam.

A persistent war policy critic, Fulbright reportedly cited the statements of U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg that the United States is fighting to insure the right of the South Vietnamese to political self-determination.

On the other hand, Fulbright reportedly said, Humphrey's recent statements have supported a thesis Johnson has laid down in recent utterances—that the real enemy is aggressive Asian communism, headquartered in Red China.

Fulbright has said a policy of containing Chinese Communist expansion implies permanent U.S. occupation of parts of Southeast Asia instead of relatively early withdrawal of American military forces after a negotiated end to the war.

After reciting this premise, the Arkansas senator was said to have asked Humphrey: "Just who is our enemy there?"

"You don't have to ask the GI whose leg has been cut off who the enemy is," Humphrey was quoted as replying.

Fulbright got no chance to pursue the issue further when the questioning round passed to another.

Fulbright would not comment on the exchange except to say Humphrey gave a report "intended to convey the impression that things are going well in Vietnam." Humphrey did not discuss the meeting with newsmen.

Canadian parity was the only major difference between the Ford and Chrysler agreements. Ford's Canadian subsidiaries are not wholly owned, so Ford's U.S. bargainers could not pledge parity for employees of Ford of Canada.
